What's Ahead for the '80's

Facing a new decade, Bees are taking a closer look into the future.

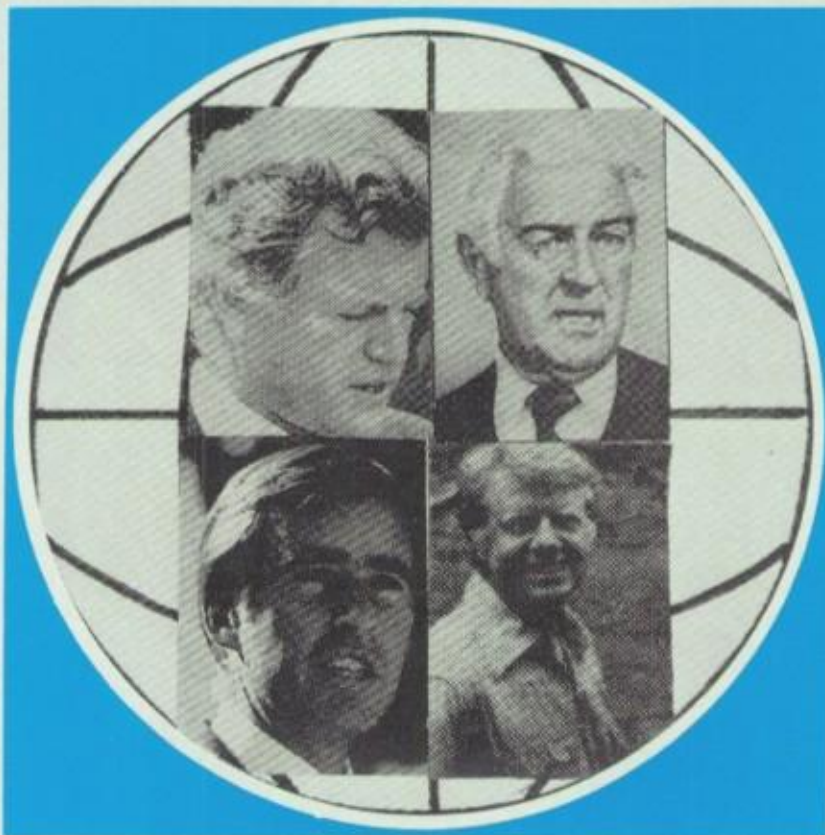

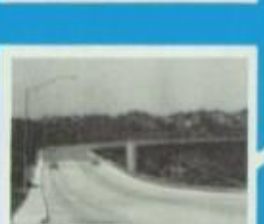

This generation will decide on issues of inflation, energy shortages, and changing life styles.

During four high school years students learn to deal with issues, taste of victory and defeat, and set new goals preparing for the future.

Whether deciding who to take to the Homecoming dance or what the energy solution is, students challenge the decade to establish a better tomorrow.

East Unwraps New Decade

Opening of school September 6, Bees unwrapped a new decade. After a week of frustration, Frosh and underclassmen were back in the swing of classes.

Even though the campus is small, all 1,029 students found a place to hang out.

Workers Face Job Market

Working students found the 4 to 9 p.m. jobs challenging. Dead tired, they met the sound of morning alarms for class with jobs waiting for these special breed of students.

Asked the advantages of jobs, the working Bees had interesting answers. 'Money and experience,' replied Mary Chapman.

'I meet many different people and make a lot of new friends. Of course, the money helps,' said Marilee Kittle.

Mistakes, Friends Makes Learning Challenging Fun

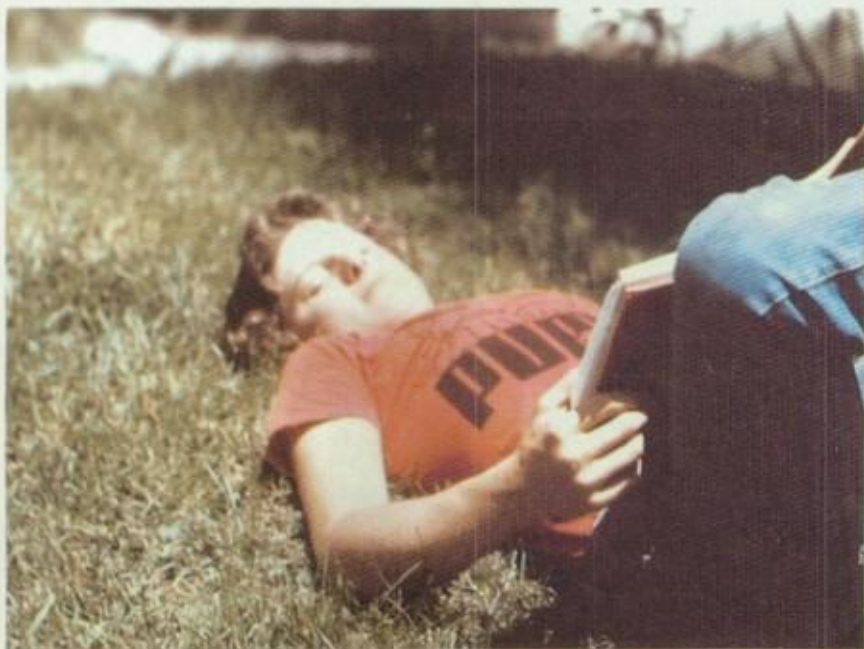

Being confronted with trig problems or just keeping up with the reading became class challenges.

Sulking over too much homework on game nights became old hash by second semester giving way to 'Aw come on! Let's do it in class tomorrow.' Most learned to budget their time without pleading.

Cramming before a test was a ritual. Waiting the last minute to do a theme or project often brought a promise to not get caught again as most were able to get their classes licked.

Above: Bruce Bennet and Bill Davis work on a math game. Left: Rick Shaffer soaks up some free sun before class.

How You Play Really Counts

'We are wild, we are crazy, we are the Class of 1980' say the seniors as Bees battle for victory.

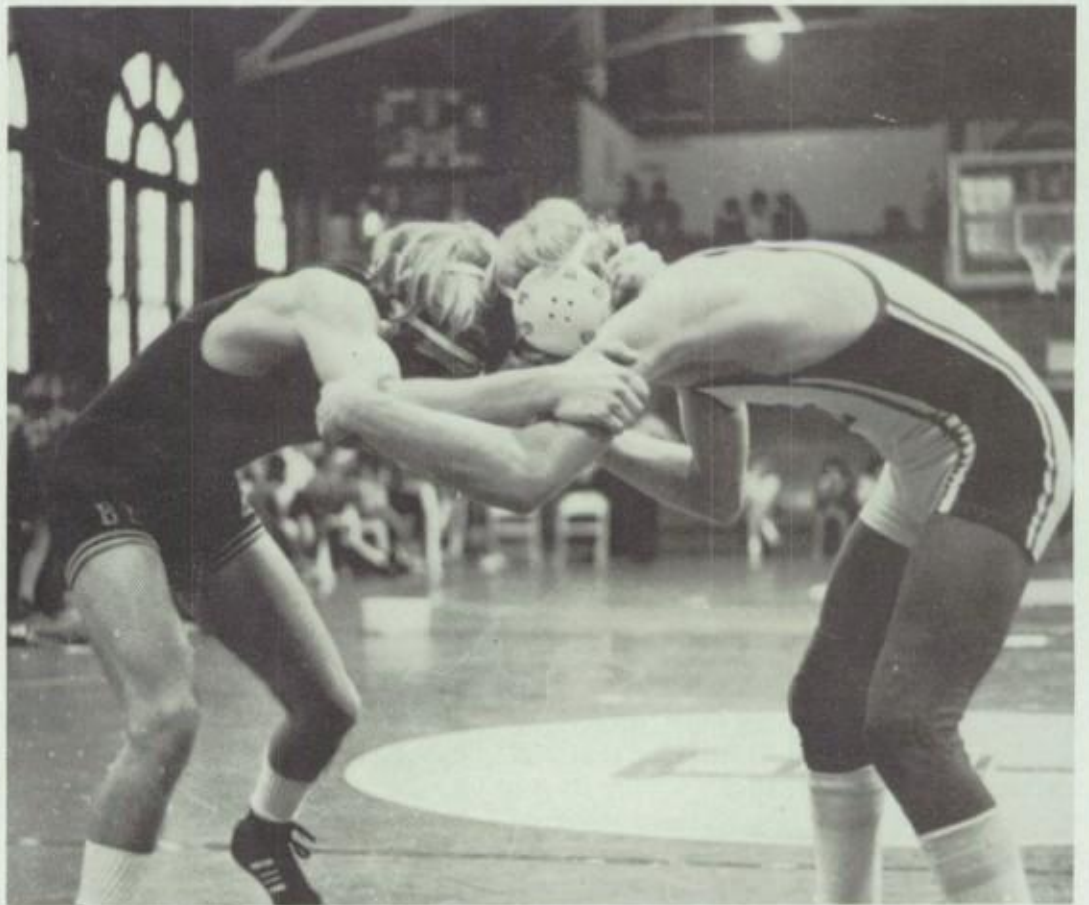

Fans came from all over town to help boost the teams from football in the fall to baseball in the spring, despite rain, mud, snow, and ice.

Coeds moved into the sports scene with big Bee wins in basketball, cross country, track and golf.

Backed by the cheerleaders, band, and students, all learned it was not how you win but how you play the game that counts.

Having Fun in the Sun

Spring and summer brought excitement to campus with the melting snow. Students knew school routine would soon shift to fun times in the sun.

Clubs began to hold parties and picnics despite soaring gas prices to a dollar a gallon.

Just driving around gave way to skateboards, festivals and eating spread like wild fire.

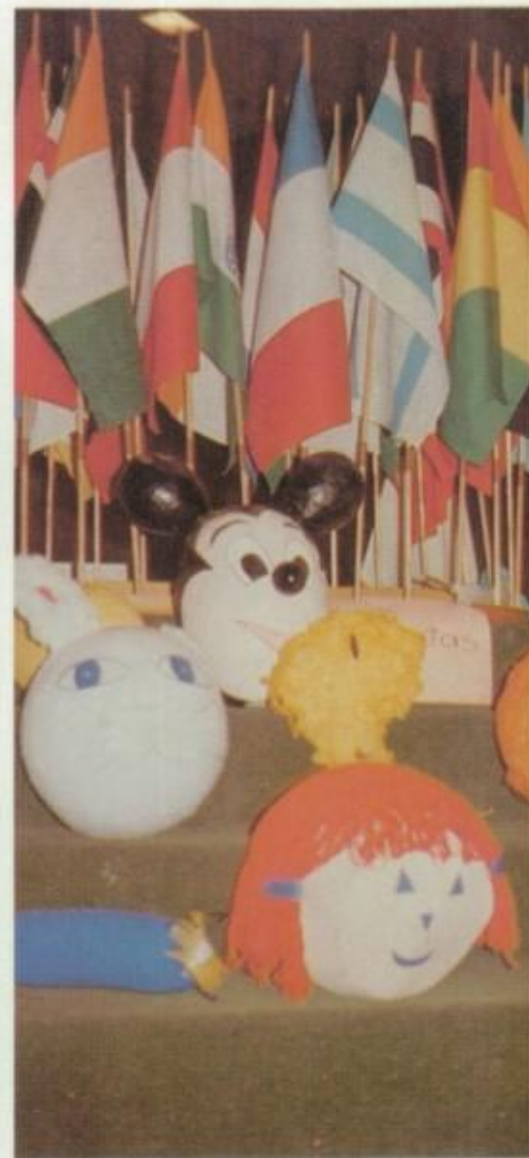

Opening of the new Third Street bridge gave Bees a closer route to McDonald's in record time.

Frisbee throwing and football frisbee, trips to the Wave-Tech pool sparked summer routines.

Cr-Cr-Crank — Vrrroom! Familiar sound of the lawn mowers pushed by Bee mowers earning a few extra bucks.

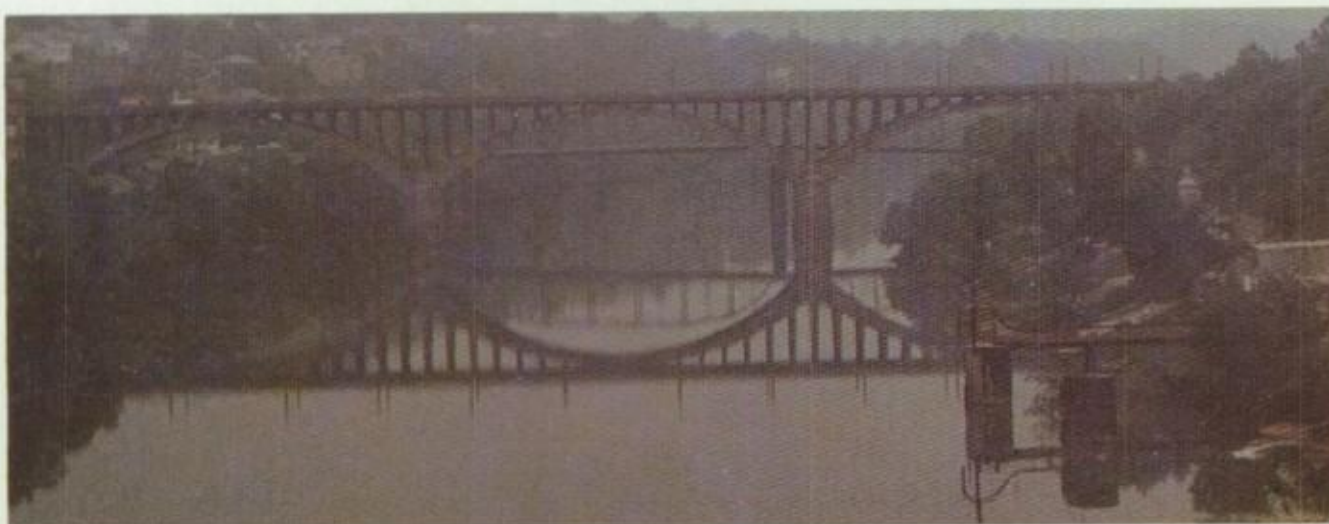

Mixing fun with work, most thought the summer weeks flew as September rolled around. 'Where did the summer go?' was heard from students and teachers alike.

'Let Good Times Roll'

Finding fun things to do away from campus, students grabbed the national sport of frisbee throwing.

Big American pastime hitting the Bee scene was playing the pinball machine. Kids swarmed to the machines trying to pop a game. (Beat the high score.)

'Flashing lights and weird sounds' attracted John Russell to the modern machine.

How Sweet It Was!

Looking back on events of the year, sweet memories were stored by most of dances, games, plays, trips, competition, and friends.

Queen Angel Dawson and her court reigned at a mud splattered Homecoming game which gave way to a spirited Saturday dance.

November arrived bringing East-West Week and the 59th meeting of the rivals. The game and the dance climaxed a week of whooping it up on campus.

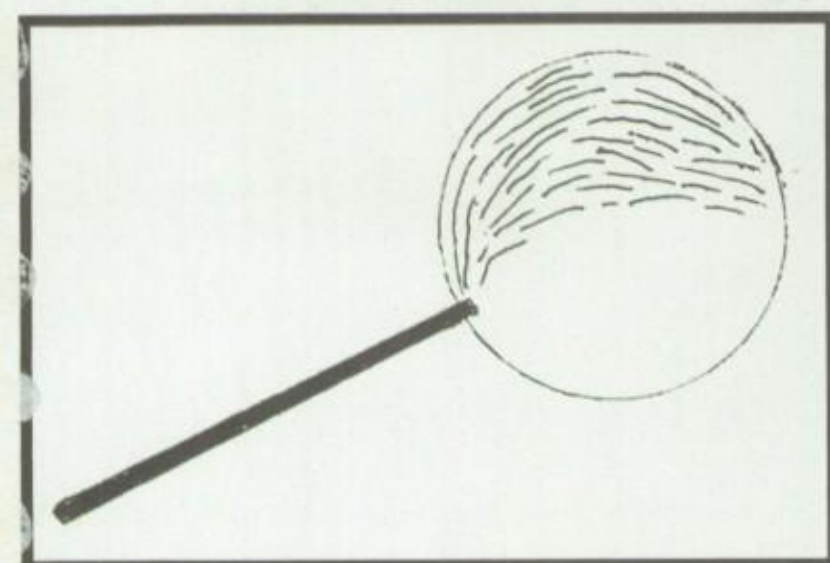

Class breaks came via the Air Force exhibit, thuses, and assemblies.

Vocal music and drama students presented a musical; DECA a fashion show, and the annual band show, all of which enriched the atmosphere.

Cheerleaders and the Busy Bee Band teamed up to build Bee spirit.

Recalling the moments, many tingles go up the spine to remind one of 'How Sweet It Was.'

School Opens to 1,029 Bees

Freshman Orientation was held the week prior to opening of school with about 299 new Frosh attending.

Student Council members greeted the students and gave them a campus tour of the buildings and their particular schedules.

On the First Day assembly program students were met by the strains of the 'Fight' song and new cheers. Honeybees danced their new routine and students were then sent to their homerooms for their schedules.

Class periods were short, but students had a chance to meet their classes and see their friends.

Dawson Reigns At Dance

'Fall Memories' set the theme for the 1979 Homecoming held October 13 at the East gym with Queen Angel Dawson and court reigning.

Attendants were seniors Sherr Pyles, and Cheryl Friend; juniors Micki Toothman and Lisa Farcin; sophomores Johna Broadwater and Debbie Meredith; and freshmen Lisa Arcure and Angie Hackett.

Escorting Queen Angel was student body president Mike Fiori. Court escorts were seniors Bill Fisher and Mike Murphy; juniors Scott Swiger and Steve Davis; sophomores Jeff Cunningham and Tyrone Asterino; and freshmen Andy Sorine and Brian Keefover.

Flower girl for the Coronation was Amber Dawson along with crown bearer Mike Viani.

Before a rain drenched Friday night football crowd, last year's homecoming queen Tracy Everson, escorted by Principal Keith Holt, crowned Queen Angel during half-time ceremonies.

Presentation of the court was held at the dance held the following Saturday night featuring the music of 'Touch'.

Bee Event Guides Week

Marking the 58th clash with the Polar Bears, cheerleaders organized the East-West Week activities around the 'Bee Event' theme.

Monday featured 'Berial' of the Bear while Tuesday was Wacko Bee Day. Homeroom bulletin board winners were chosen. Sophomore Class won the over-all theme while Junior Class took the Spirit Stick and second place in decorations.

Bees dressed to class colors Wednesday and Joe Nagy was chosen 'Mr. Irresistible.' Winning the dress award was Ronda Harvey.

'Day of the Sting' was Thursday as students dressed in 'Roaring Twenties' costumes. Friday was Gold-Blue Day and the big thuse.

Navy Band Visits Campus

During a special assembly November 14, students were entertained by the U.S. Navy Band, 'Country Current' featuring chief musician Jerry Gilmore as guitarist and lead vocalist.

'The Main Event' was the theme of the DECA Fashion Show presented to the student body in November featuring outfits from local merchants.

National Honor Society inducted 12 seniors before the Junior and Senior Classes during a third period assembly. Speaker was Judge Fred Fox.

The Air Force brought its mobil space and flight show to campus via a mobile film unit which had appeared in Washington, D.C. and throughout the country.

Miss East Reigns Feb. 9

'A Dream Goes on Forever' was the theme for the 1980 Miss East Dance held February 9 from 8-11 p.m. at the Fairmont Hotel Ballroom with 'Bad Ax' providing the music.

Escorts were Bob Ashcraft, Mark Lane, Glenn Boyles, and Brent Martin.

Remainder of the court consisted of 12 senior princesses and their escorts.

Decor for the dance used a red and white color scheme for Valentine's Day.

Murder on Center Stage

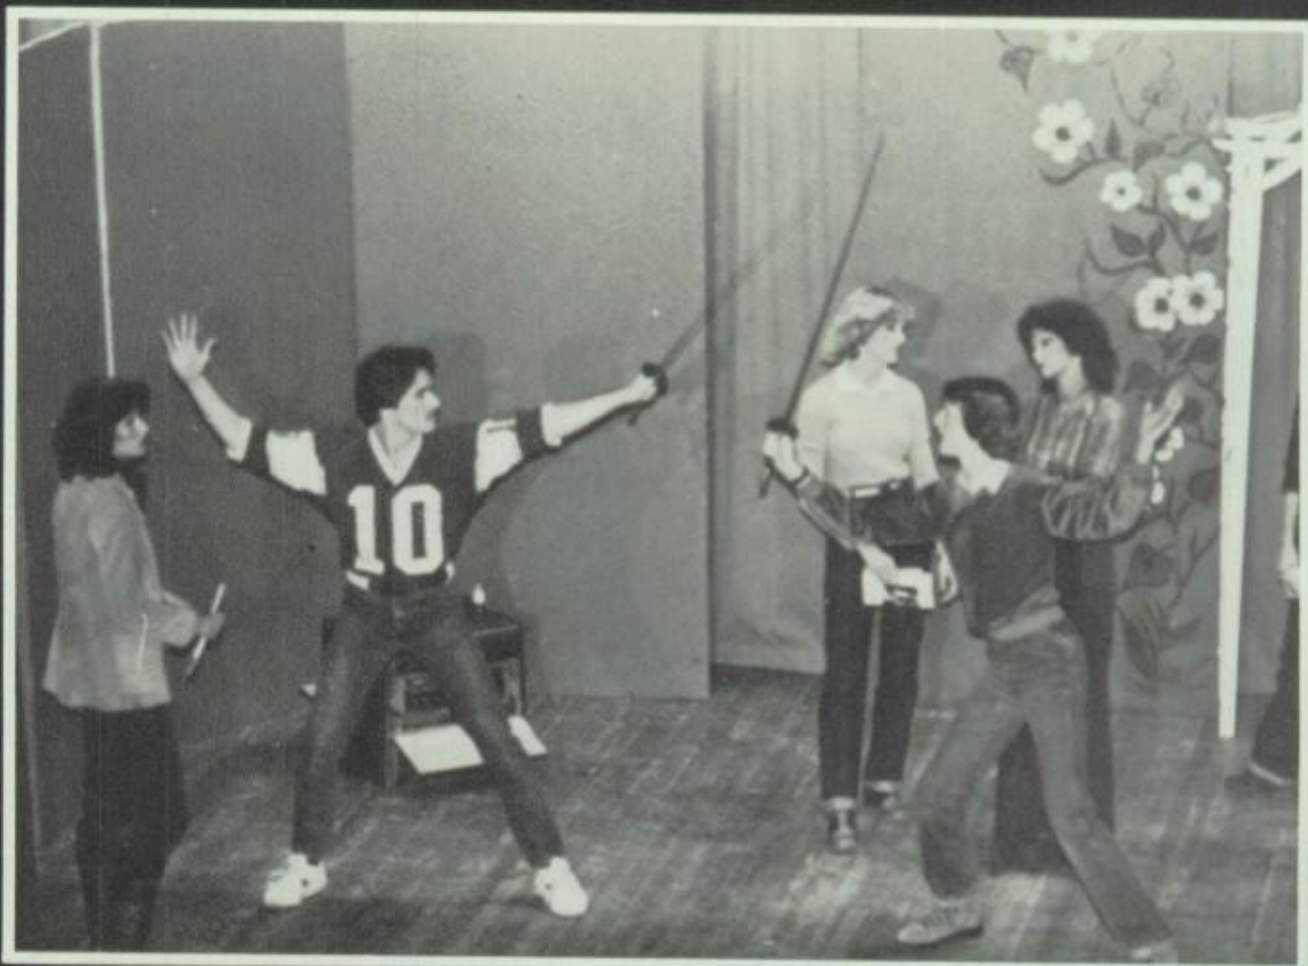

By Jerry Fwedt

Advanced Speech and Drama students presented 'Murder on Center Stage' in December with Kelly Constable and Johna Broadwater serving as assistant directors and John Cady and Beth Shanholtz as stage managers.

Cast members were Julie Poling as Jessica, Tressa Zannino as Helen, Ronda Harvey as Mrs. Shotwell, Nick Fantasia as Mr. Stanly, John Casuccio as Mike, and Berri Pratt as David.

Other cast included Darlene Davis, Lisa Byrne, Micki Toothman, Beth Vincent, Lisa Farcin, and Susan Reese.

House managers were Franny Zannino and Kandy Boyce. Brad Slusser, Mark Morris, David Hall, Jim Cline and Mike Fiori worked on lighting and special effects under the direction of Mrs. Lana Beveridge.

Are You Ready for the Eighties?

Going into a new decade, many neat items appeared on the scene like computer games which provide students hours of fun.

In contrast, students met '1984,' a novel by George Orwell that portrays the nightmare of politics completely controlling.

Students from Mrs. Betty Greaser's novel class commented on the book.

'It gives a very good look at Communism for those who are into politics. It is an informative book,' said Charlie Hahn.

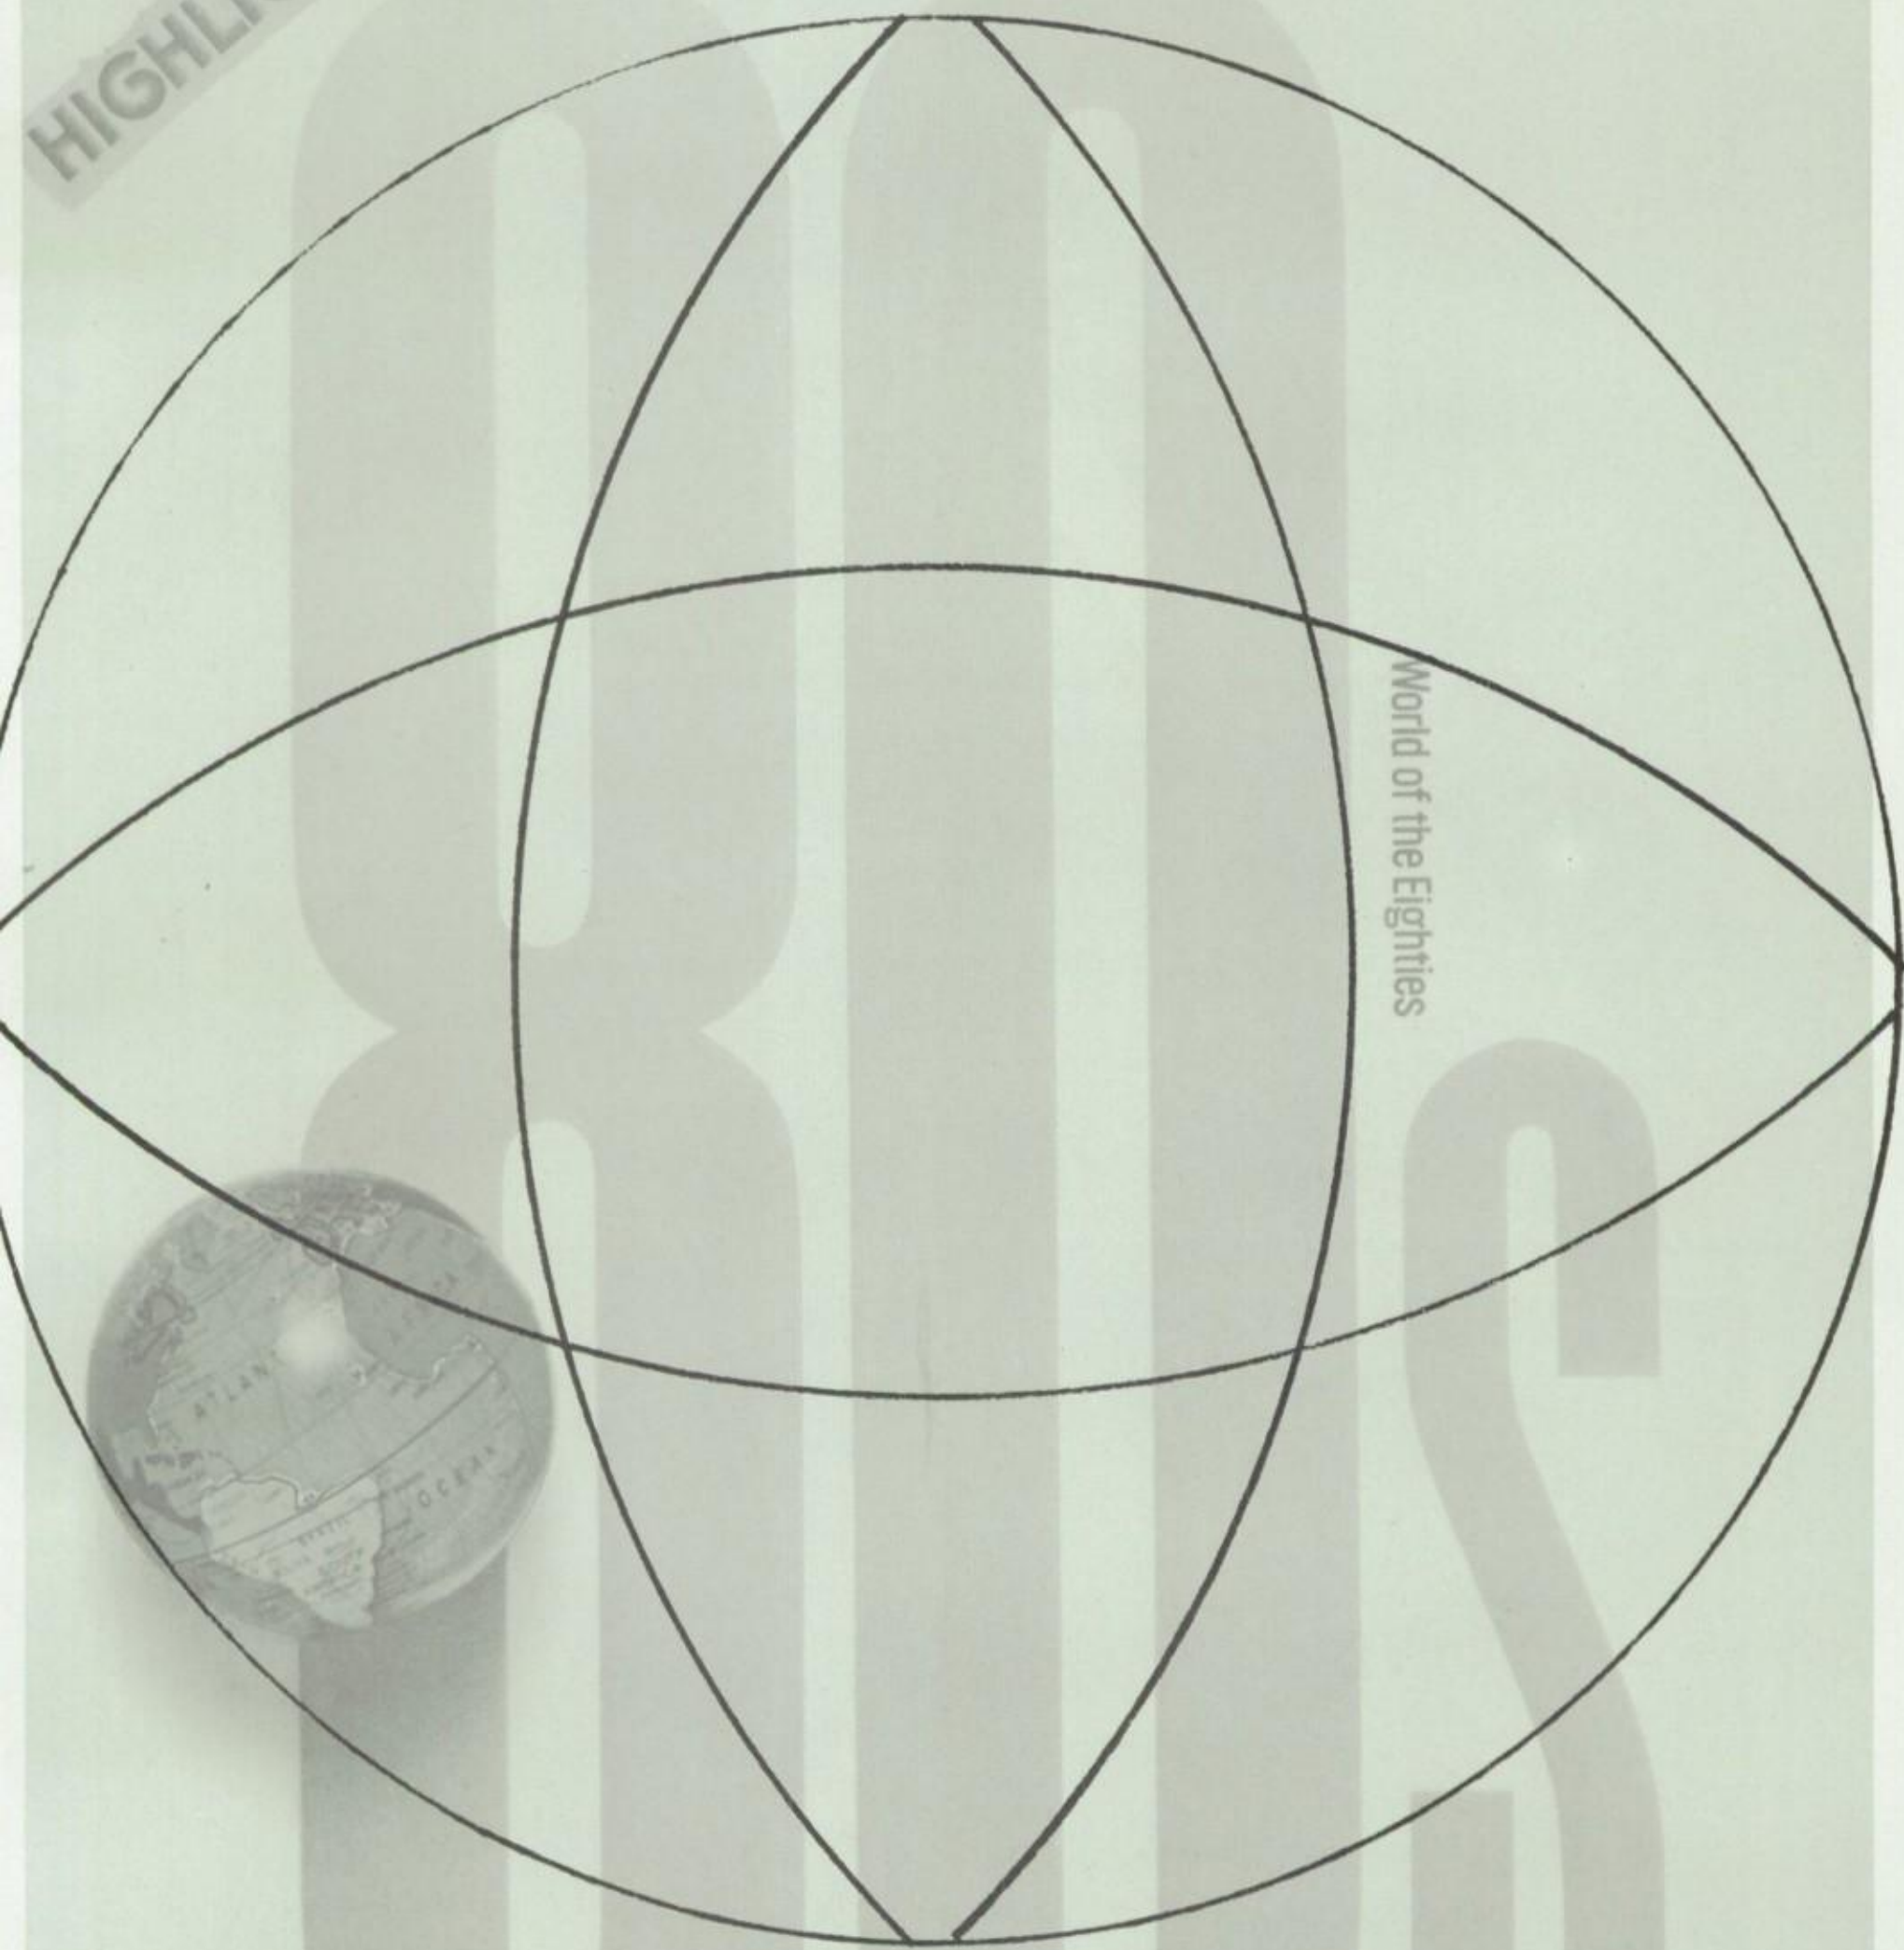

'1984' is full of suspense and keeps one off guard because the reader doesn't know what will happen next. It made me wonder what the future would be like,' commented Todd Gorman.

'I was fascinated by 1984. To think my future may end in a world of 'Thought crime' of party control was actually scary. The novel points out little things taken for granted that may become factors of life,' remarked Sharon Rogers.

HIGHLIGHTS

World of the Eighties

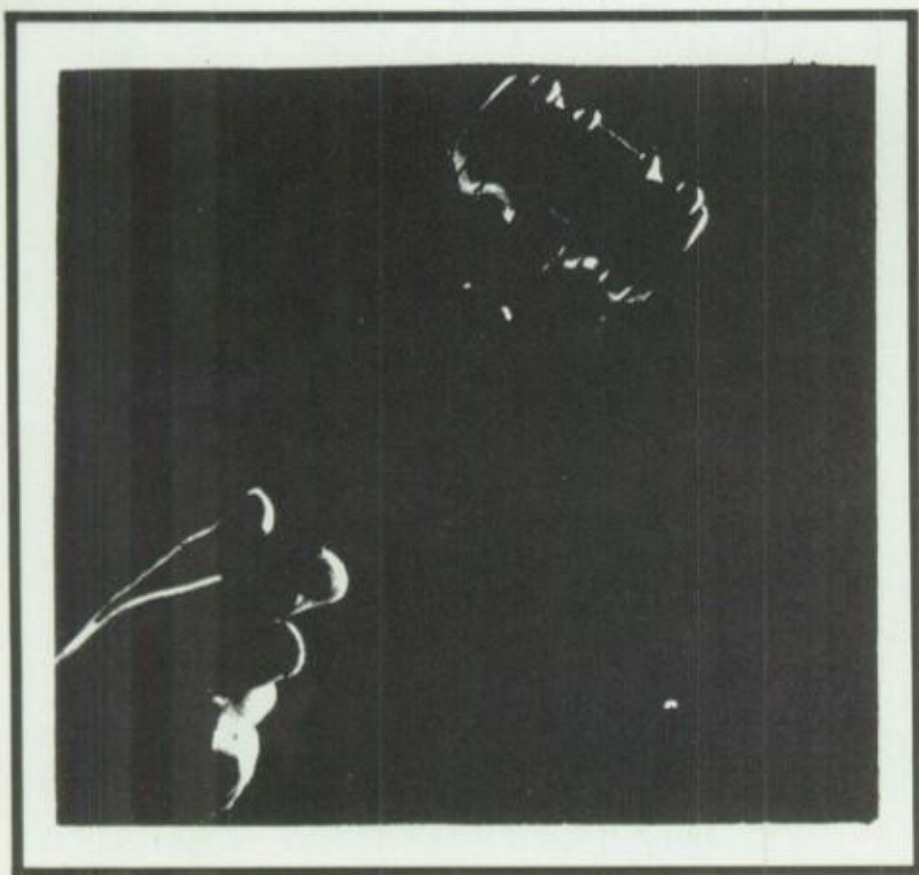

New Clubs Form

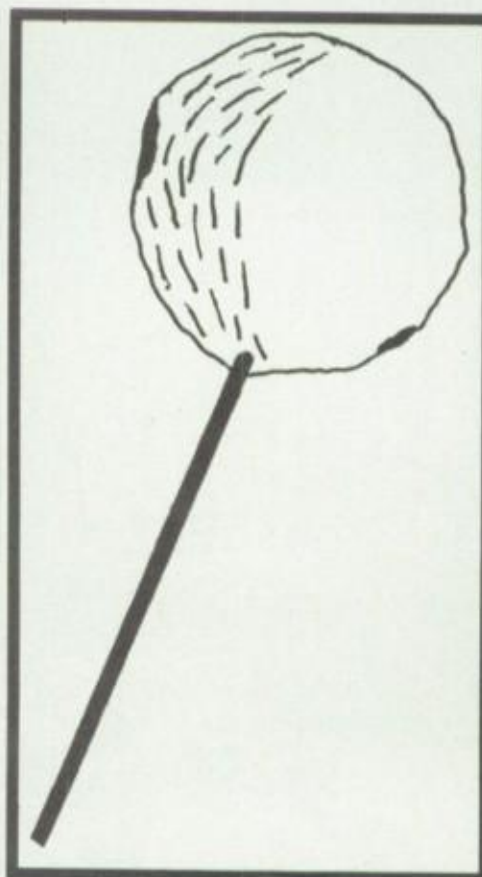

With the addition of new clubs, students could become more active in their areas of interest.

Prior to the opening of school, student council members planned freshmen orientation under president Mike Fiori's direction.

Although a few new clubs formed, apathy killed other organizations. Students found fun activities in subject areas via honorary groups and others found interests in clubs open to all with desire. Service groups provided community-school assistance for teens.

All offered a chance for leadership, social life, dedication, and plenty of hard work mixed with fun. After projects and service, members enjoyed club parties to mark holidays, inductions, and outings.

Fiori Heads Student Body

Opening the school activities was the Freshmen Orientation Day held to acquaint the entering class with campus.

President Mike Fiori and officers assisted with Parent-Teacher night serving as guides, organized Homecoming Week events, sold spirit links for East West Week, sponsored a food drive at Christmas, held a bake sale, and assisted with the local Crop Walk.

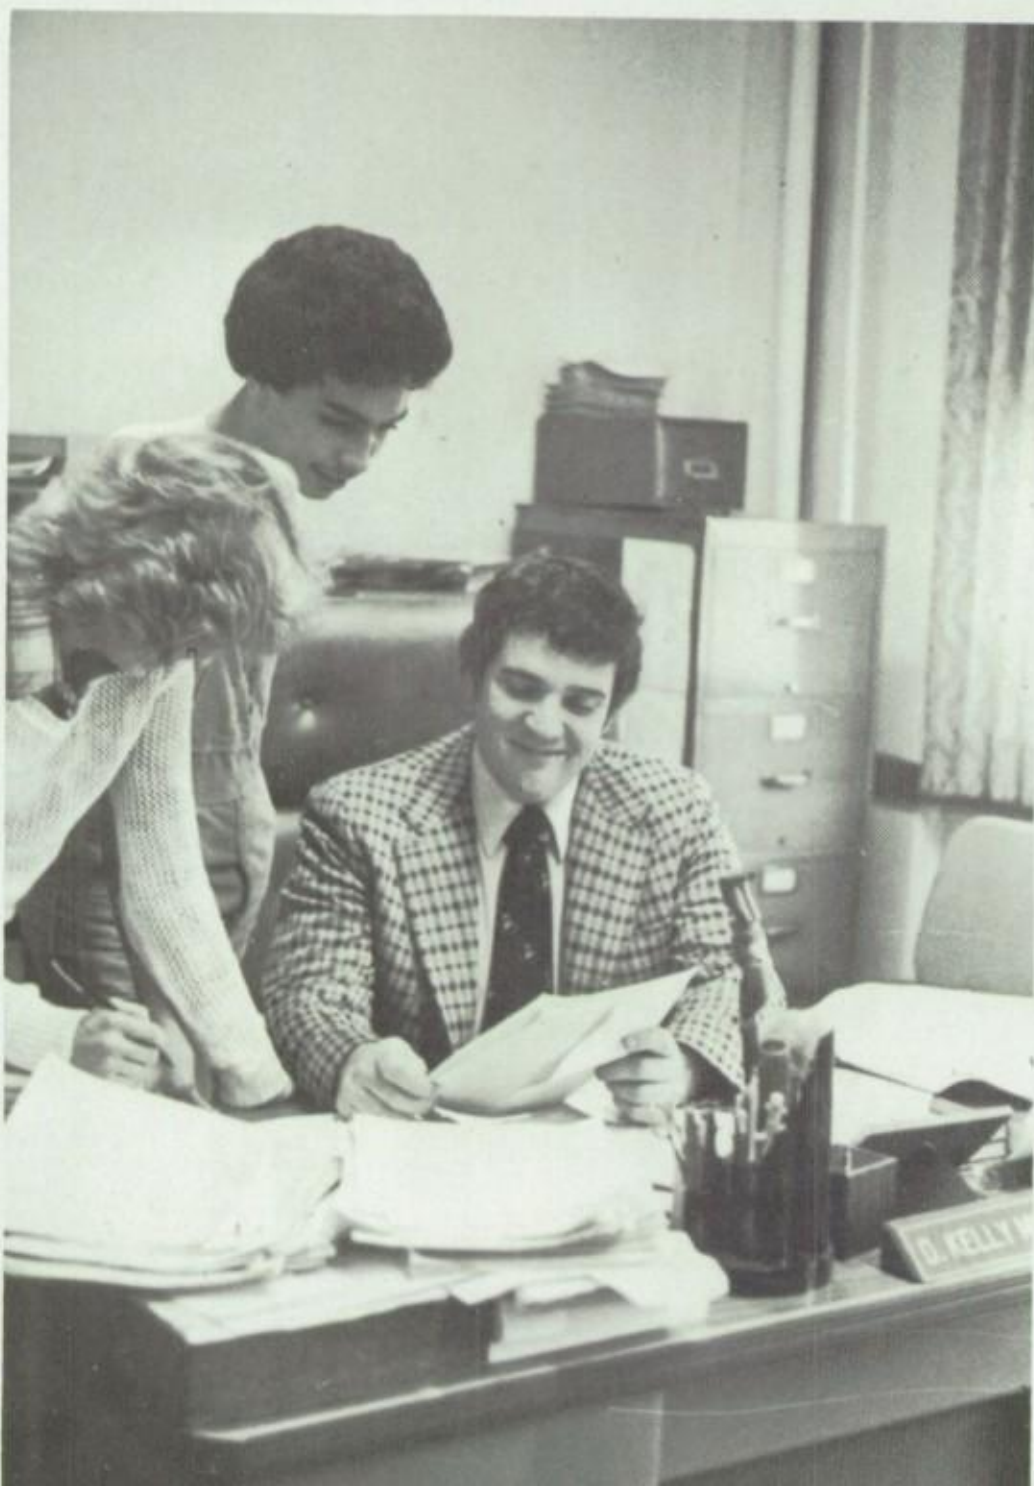

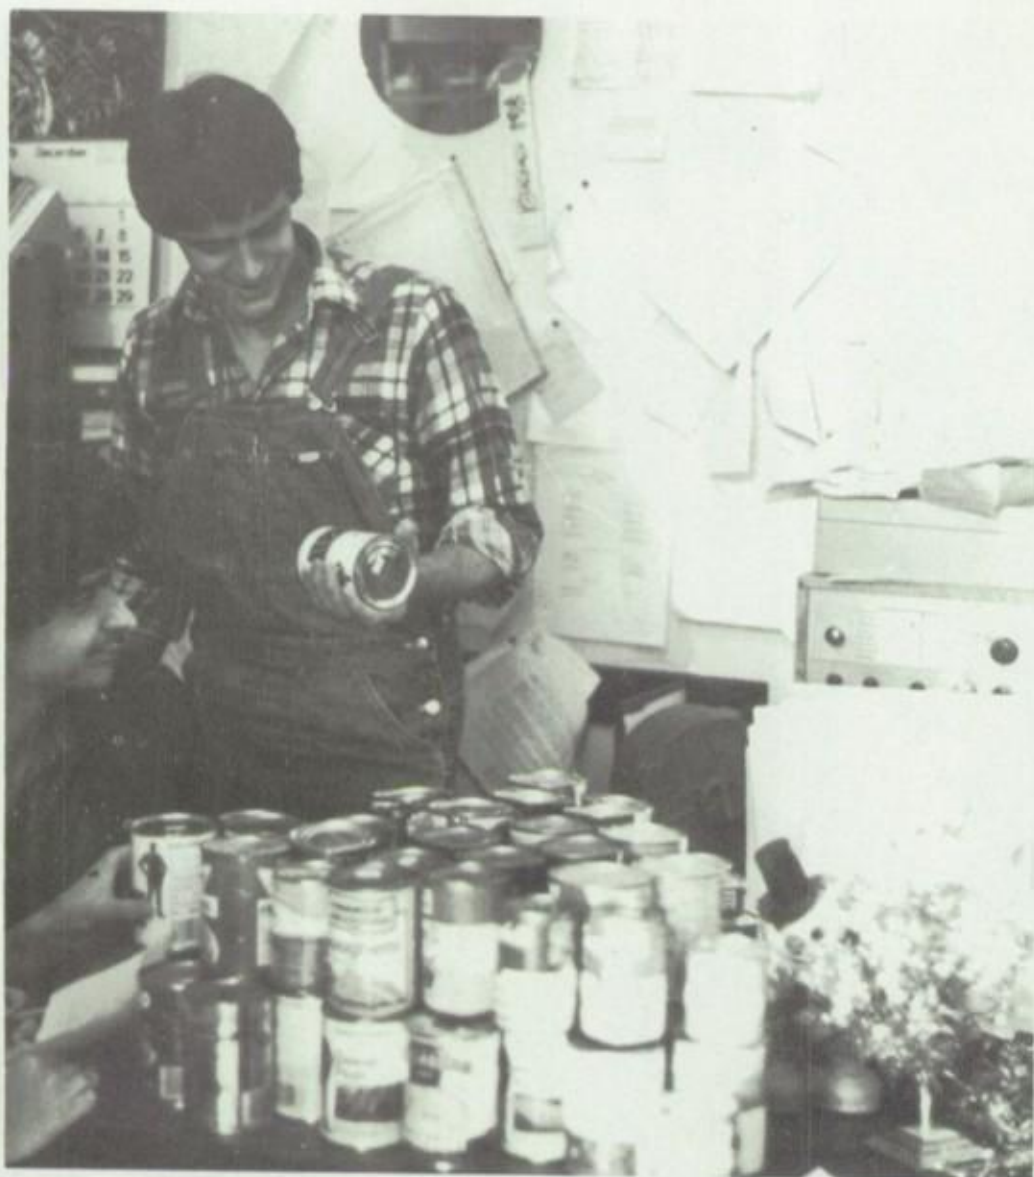

New to campus was the Class-of-the-Year activity to recognize the class most active in Student Council during the year.

Assisting president Mike Fiori were vice-president Scott Swiger, secretary Michelle Young, and treasurer Micki Toothman.

Una Vox Hears Judge Fox

Speaking to the fall induction of 12 seniors into the Una Vox Chapter of National Honor Society was Fairmont's Judge Fred Fox.

Senior members speaking on the four qualities of the Society were Mark Richardson, service; Mary Jane Holt, scholarship; Teresa Spine, leadership; and Terri Harold, character.

During the year students have helped tutor, made tapes for special education students, and held a sub sale.

President Mike Fiori was assisted by vice-president Mary Jane Holt, secretary Cindy Clayton, and treasurer Terri Harold. Advisor is Domenick Muto.

Planning a fall and spring induction, the Society held ceremonies before the student body and followed with a tea honoring the parents and inductees.

UNICEF Art Display Here

'Taking Time to Share' served as the theme for the Keywanette single service project which involved the girls with the UNICEF art exhibit, assisting at Fairmont Emergency Hospital with favors, and a magic show.

Noting the year of the child, projects were sponsoring the UNICEF art exhibit of around the world items for elementary students. On display for a month, the art helped students share interests from around the world.

Students assisted teachers with the opening of school, held Appreciation Week, sold student directories, helped with float in Veteran's Day parade, and held a St. Patrick's Day tea for the faculty.

Officers assisting president Teresa Spine were vice-president Sherre Pyles, secretary Penny Hamilton, recording secretary Cindy Clayton, treasurer Terri Harold, and historian Gail Rosenberger.

Board members were Mary Jane Holt, Diane Keefover, and Beth Webb. Advisor was Mrs. JoAnn Nuzum.

Float Places; League Bowls

'Trying to Light Up Their Lives' was the theme used by members of Key Club as they planned activities for single service.

Members sold cheese at Christmas and sponsored a light bulb sale to assist their single service project donated to Fairmont Emergency Hospital.

Members joined with the Keywanettes to hold a Magic Show at Halloween and to build a Veteran's Day Float.

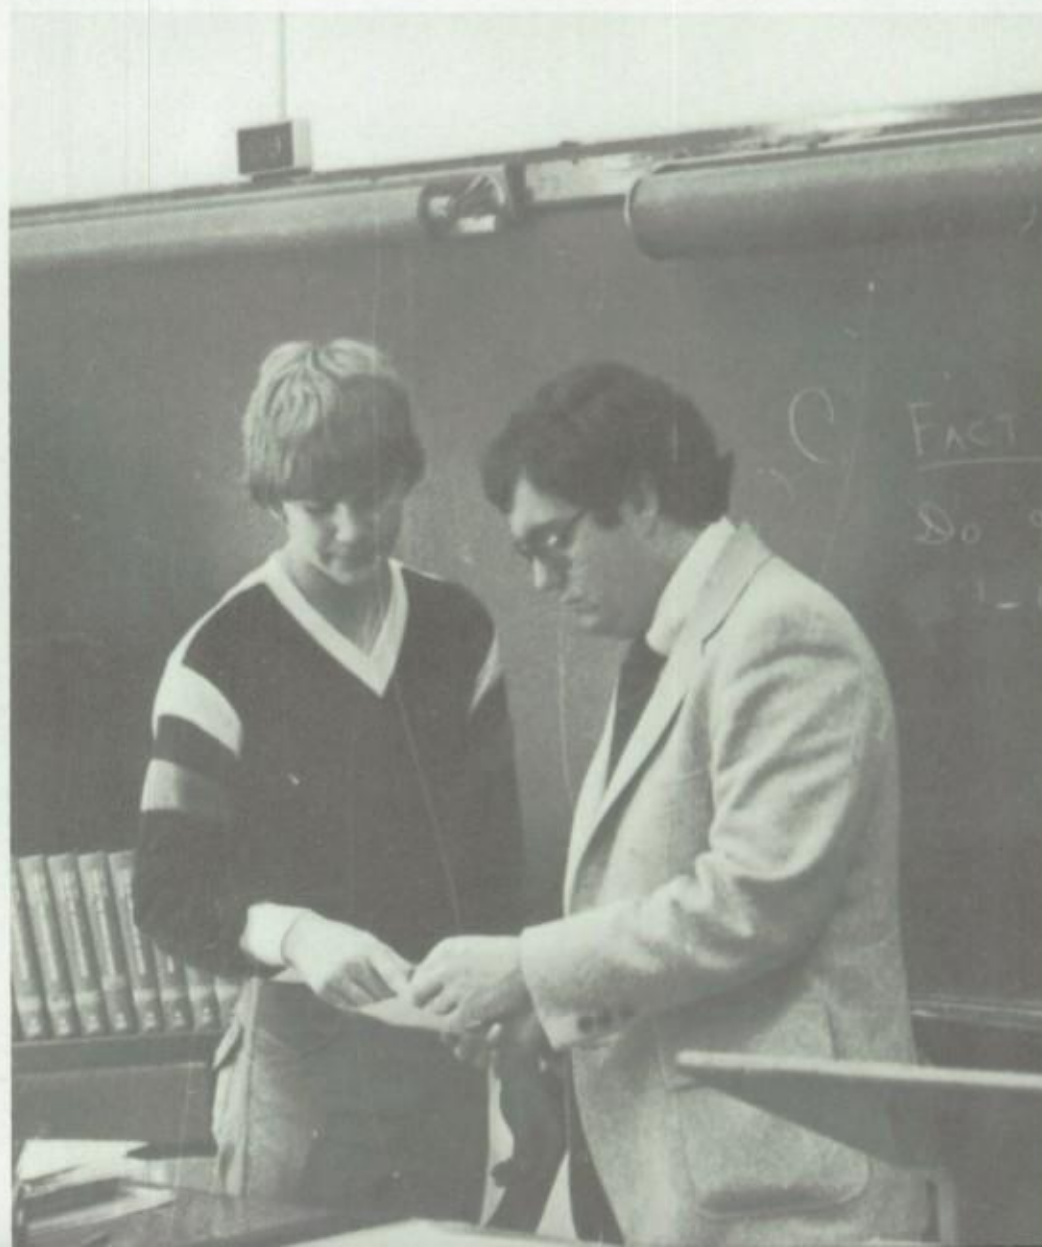

On campus, Key Club organized a bowling league of 16 teams for students at Valley Lanes each Friday and one night was given to the Heart Fund Drive.

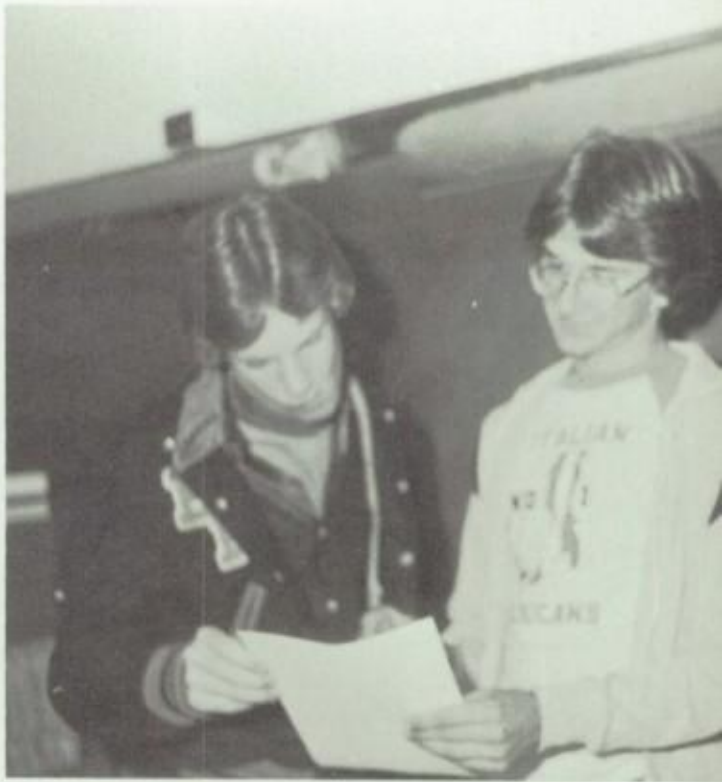

Members helped with the opening of the new chapter at North Marion High School and presented a model Kiwanis program in January.

Officers assisting president Bill Fisher were vice-president Brad Slusser, secretary Marc Bleigh, and treasurer Doug Wolford.

French Study Culture

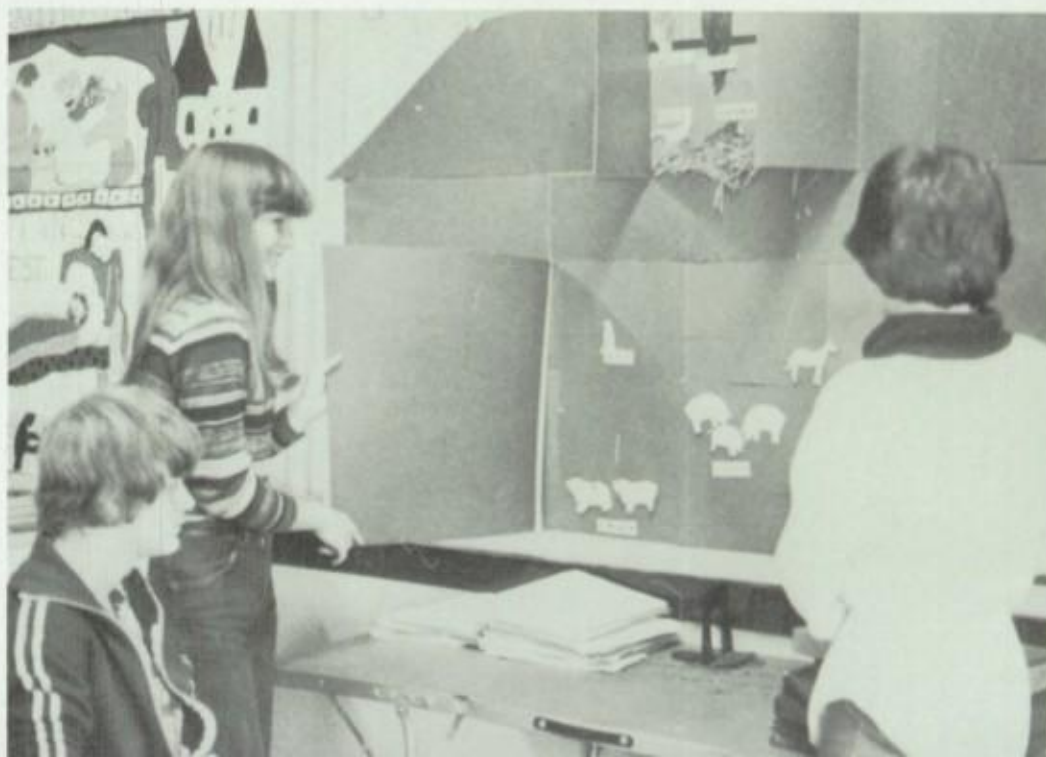

French classes offered students a chance to study language, people and culture while the French Club and French Honorary extended the class interests into social programs.

President Penny Hamilton and French Club officers held monthly meetings trying French food and games. Members held a Christmas party and were caroling for the students before the holidays.

Holding an induction second semester, president Becky Pickens and French Honorary officers Cindy Jones, Julie Mason, and Curt Horter recognized those members who had achieved 3.0 or better for three semesters. La Societe Honoraire de Francais is nationally affiliated with the American Association of French Teachers.

C. Bell Holds State Office

For the first time, East FBLA members held a state office and attended the national convention held in New Orleans during July.

Junior Colleen Bell was elected state reporter bringing to East the publishing of the state FBLA newspaper for two editions.

Students sold jewelry for a money project with top sales going to Jan Vitarelli. Other projects were assisting with local store's inventory, a sub sale, and participating in the Northern Region Conference held in March at Fairmont State College.

Students attended the state conference held in April at Marshall University.

Colleen Bell attended with Traci Kaufman the Southern Regional Conference in Atlanta November 1-5 along with advisor Miss Ruth Shumaker.

Cubs Enter Competition

Entering journalism competition, students sent writing selections to Quill and Scroll, West Virginia University, and Marshall University UHSP.

Seven new members were taken into membership after first semester. They earned their 100 inches and semester on staff of a publication.

Students held a Christmas party with gift exchange and held a spring dinner.

Membership in national requires a 'B' average, 100 printed inches, and a semester's service on staff. Students may also earn the 'Big Inch' for 10,000 published inches.

Officers were president John Moran, vice-president John Cady, secretary Tracy Jarvis, treasurer Dave King, and historian Sherri Kline.

Spanish Groups Hold Festival

Members of Spanish Club and Spanish Honorary assisted with a Foreign Language Festival at Middletown Mall March 23 through 29 to note the national week.

President Casey Floyd was assisted by vice-president Terri Harold, secretary Kim Miller, treasurer Beth Shanholtz, and historians Lisa Kline and Susan Shaver in activities held by Spanish Club. Members held a garage sale, bowling tournament, held Family Night, and sold candy.

Casey Floyd and John Moran applied for the student summer exchange program.

La Sociedad Honoraria Hispanica chapter Alfonsina Storni inducted 13 members second semester with president Casey Floyd and officers assisting.

Members held monthly tertulias, sold candy, and hosted a welcome party for Tatiana Rosas and Jorge Ortiz exchange students from South America.

Valero Runs at State Meet

Conservation Club president Glenna Valero ran for state office from East with winners to be announced at the conference at North Bend State Park May 17.

East members entered posters and as a club made bird feeders. Members helped collect for the Heart Fund Drive sponsored by the local Junior Women's Club.

Glenna Valero and Virgil Smith attended the Youth Environmental Conference held at Harpers' Ferry.

Officers assisting president Glenna Valero were vice-president Roger Carr, secretary-treasurer Sondra Blosser, and historian Virgil Smith.

DECA Show Has 80's Look

Opening the activities for DECA was the fashion show held in November using the theme 'Main Event' and featuring fashions for the 80's.

Students sponsored a 'Family Photo' day and conducted a survey on traffic for the East Fairmont Businessmen's Association.

Induction was held for juniors and students were treated to a photo with Santa and his elves for Christmas as a money project.

Students planned activities for the State Competition to be held in Huntington.

About 46 students attended a field trip to Monroeville Mall to study display and selling techniques. Others assisted with local store inventory.

Thespians Earn Hours; Plan New York Trip

Earning their hours for membership helping with the fall production of 'Murder on Center Stage,' Thespians of Troupe III helped local Jaycees with a haunted house at Middletown Mall, and put on a Christmas skit for elementary school students.

For the second year, members attended the Thespian workshop held in New York City over the Easter holiday. Students will see Broadway plays, visit Radio City Music Hall and see the N.Y. Ballet.

Students competed in the FSC Regional Drama Festival with winners moving into state competition.

Founded in 1929, East's Troupe III was one of the founding chapters in International Thespians.

Library, Science Groups Do Research

Library Club and Science Honorary groups offered students a chance to learn areas of research and guides to materials.

'Do It Dewey' was the theme for the W.Va. Student Library Association Conference held in April. 'America's Greatest Bargain — the Library' was the theme for the American Library Association's National Library Week held April 13-19.

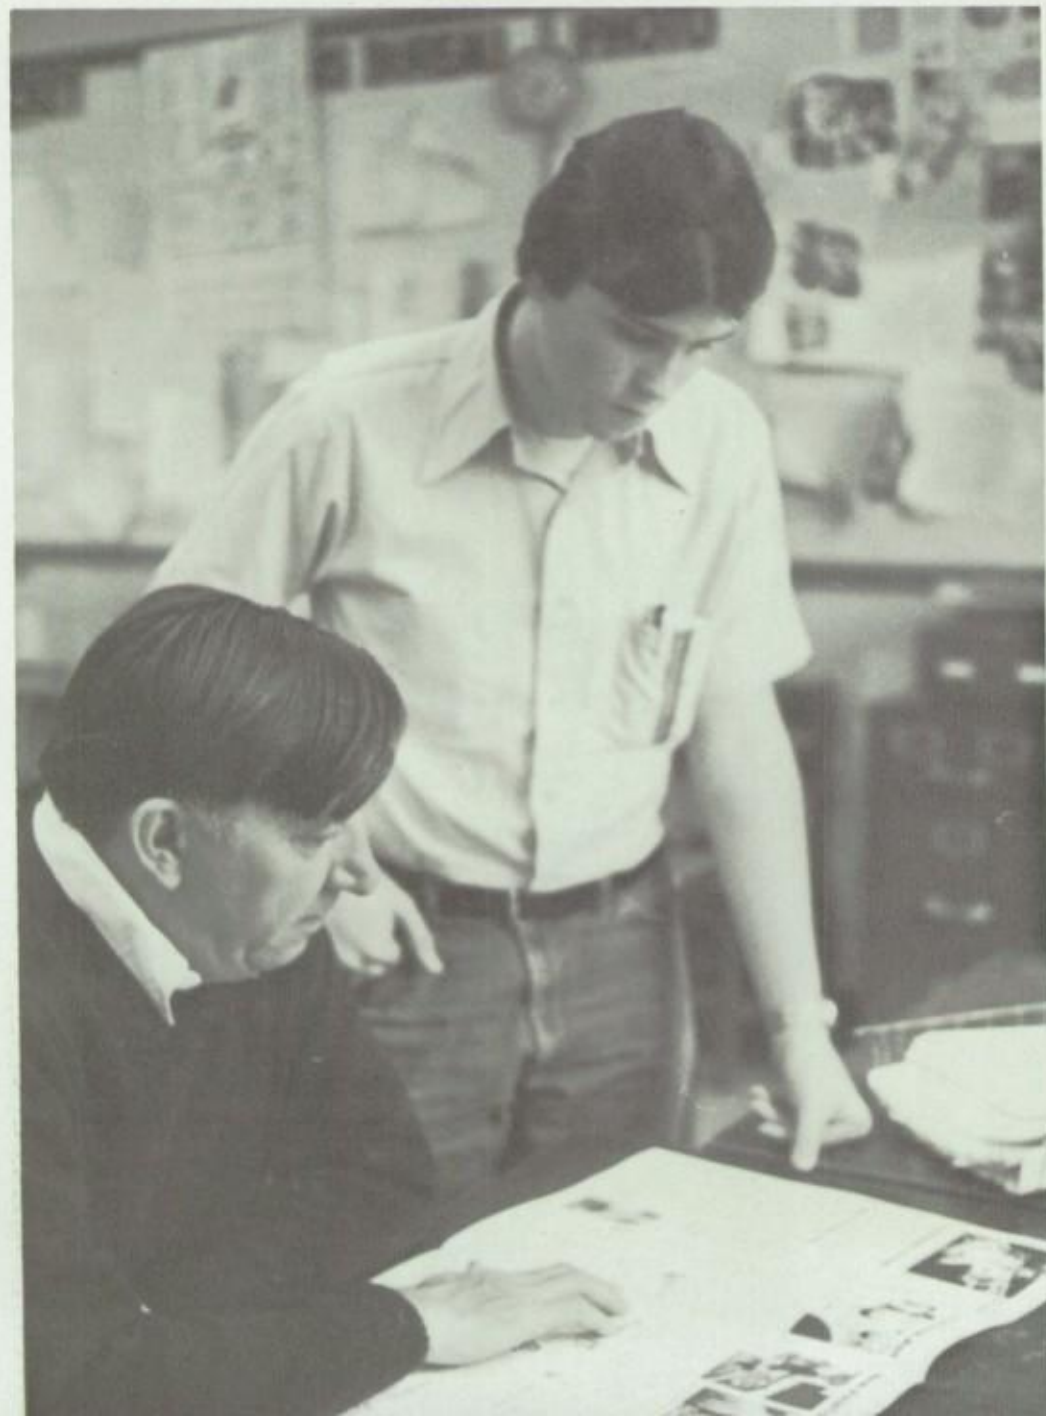

Working with president Tom Huffman, vice-president Kevin Amos, secretary Cynde Williams and historian Mona Vandergrift, students held a Christmas party and bowling trips.

Science Honorary members sponsored a Science Career Day on campus, and entered projects in the local Science Fair held at Fairmont State College. Fair entries might move on to the state competition held at Buckhannon and to the national fair at St. Paul.

Chess Club Sells Pens

Playing at noon, Chess Club members held a school tournament and attended the Fairmont Senior Tournament.

Taking two teams into the Fairmont Senior contest, East placed sixth in varsity play and seventh in junior varsity.

Sam Wood placed first in the school tournament with Greg Lee coming from behind to place second over Mark Richardson who took third.

Scott House, Mark Shamblen, and Dave Wilt finished respectively in the play-offs.

Members sold ball point pens to raise money to help sponsor students to tournaments and to hold a school tourney on campus.

Officers were president Greg Lee, vice-president Mark Shamblen and secretary-treasurer Glenna Valero.

Students Help Tutoring Math

Mu Alpha Theta students participated in California State Mathematics Competition, National Math test, and Math Field Day as well as tutoring students having difficulties on campus.

President Mary Jane Holt was assisted by vice-president Sharon Rogers, secretary Teresa Spine, and treasurer Gail Rosenberger on an alumni tea and spring induction.

Mark Richardson was selected as National Merit finalist for East.

Local Math Field Day events opened at North Marion High School March 1 with East defending its honors from last year's sweep of the events.

Society Studies Energy

Meeting before school at 7:30 a.m., members of the Drafting Society discussed topics of energy conservation, drafting competition, and career opportunities.

President Marc Bleigh was assisted by officers Randy Stanley and Kathy Bartlett. Advisor Charles Peteshel assisted the students with projects.

Students had bulletin board displays and entered drawings for competition.

Athletic Clubs Earn Letters

GAA and Lettermen were active on varsity teams to earn points for membership and letters for the sport.

GAA members needed 100 points earned at play day or with noon sports. Girls held a sub sale, skating and swimming parties under president Kim Reneman assisted by vice-president Linda Riffle, secretary Susan Watkins, and treasurer Penny Hamilton.

Working with Lettermen's Club activities were president Joe Riggi, vice-president John Reese, and secretary-treasurer Cindy Morgan.

Mascot Sports

New Outfit

More than a pretty face — it was a lot of energy and hours of practice behind the Big Bee cheerleading squads.

Beginning with summer camp where the girls won the spirit stick, award of excellence, four superior ribbons, and one excellent ribbon for their week's work at W. Va. Wesleyan, the squads moved into the football season to cheer many a night in the rain.

Girls had new uniforms with white circle skirts and tops with cowlnecks while the major change was a new Bee mascot outfit made of blue and gold fur. Costing about $400 the new mascot made quite a show at games and around campus. Everybody wanted to wear it — even Principal Keith Holt.

East-West Week events were sponsored using the 'Bee Event' theme as the girls sold badges, shakers, T-shirts, and held a victory dance.

Athletics Bite Into It

East athletes compiled many wins and losses throughout the season.

Football opened with Bee gridgers practicing twice a day in August. The hard work left them with a 3-7 record.

Fem basketball boasted the best season every for the Bees with a 12-9 season, winning the turkey classic and going to Regionals.

Bee grapplers working with Coach Bob Brookover sent five matmen to the State meets held at Huntington.

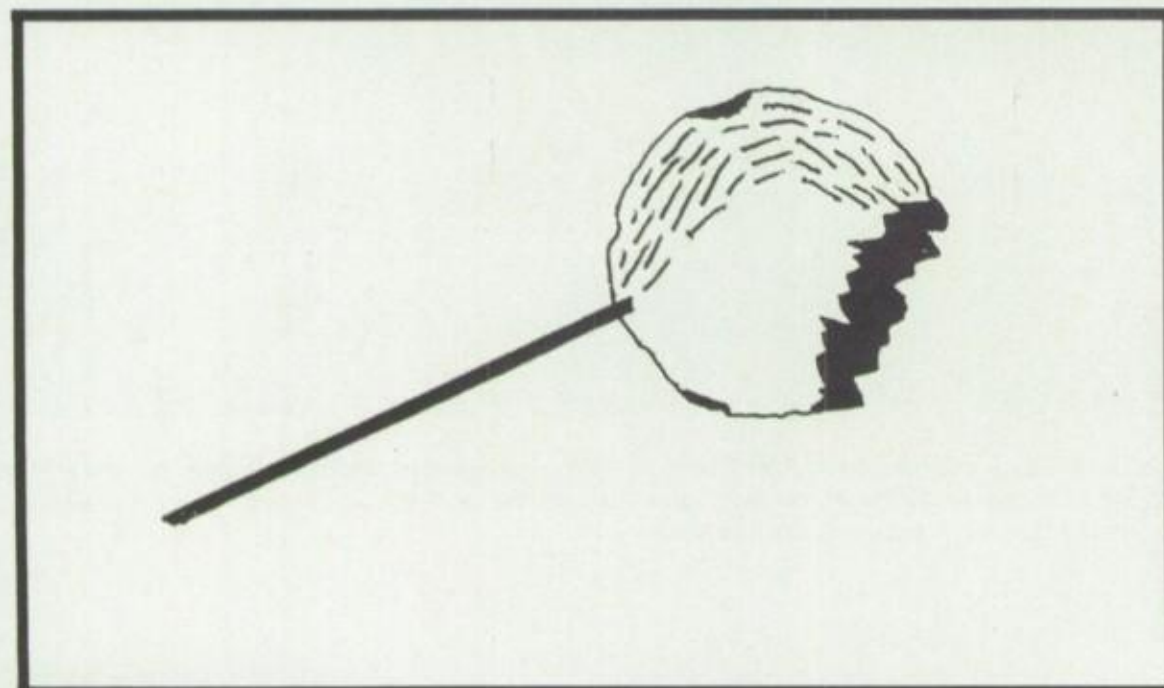

Surprise of the season was the turnover of coaching duties by James Cale who had been with the Bees basketball program for about 29 years and the arrival of Coach Bill Lawson who finished the season with the cagers.

Returning with state experience to the Bee tennis team is Marc Giorcelli who will lead the netters attack under the coaching of Bill Malone.

Hoping to improve their state two mile relay record of last season, the track team will make way for the 1980 season.

While school team sports filled many hours of practice for some, others were out doing their own individual sports and winning honors. Roberta Huskin moved up in the women's division to gain a Brown Belt in Karata.

Bees Close 3-7 Season

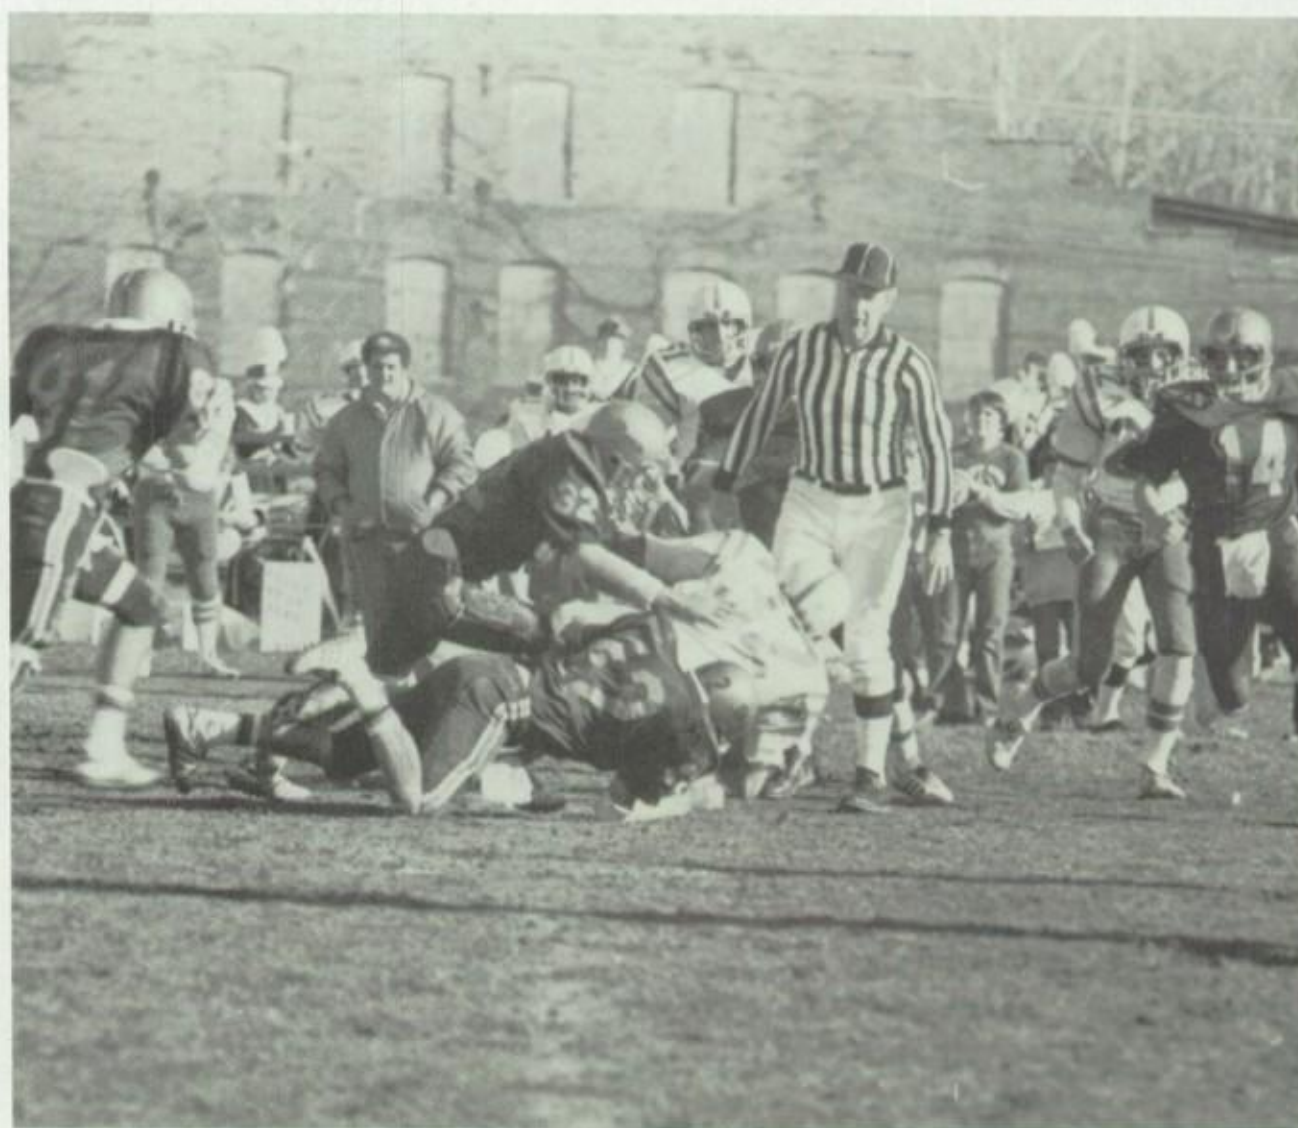

East gridders closed their season with a struggling 3-7 record under the coaching of Joe Ross.

Opening the season with a 7-6 win over the Mountaineers at Liberty, and a 21-0 blanking of the Philip Barbour Colts, the Bees set a good pace for the season. However, a three game losing streak failed the Bees hopes for a top season.

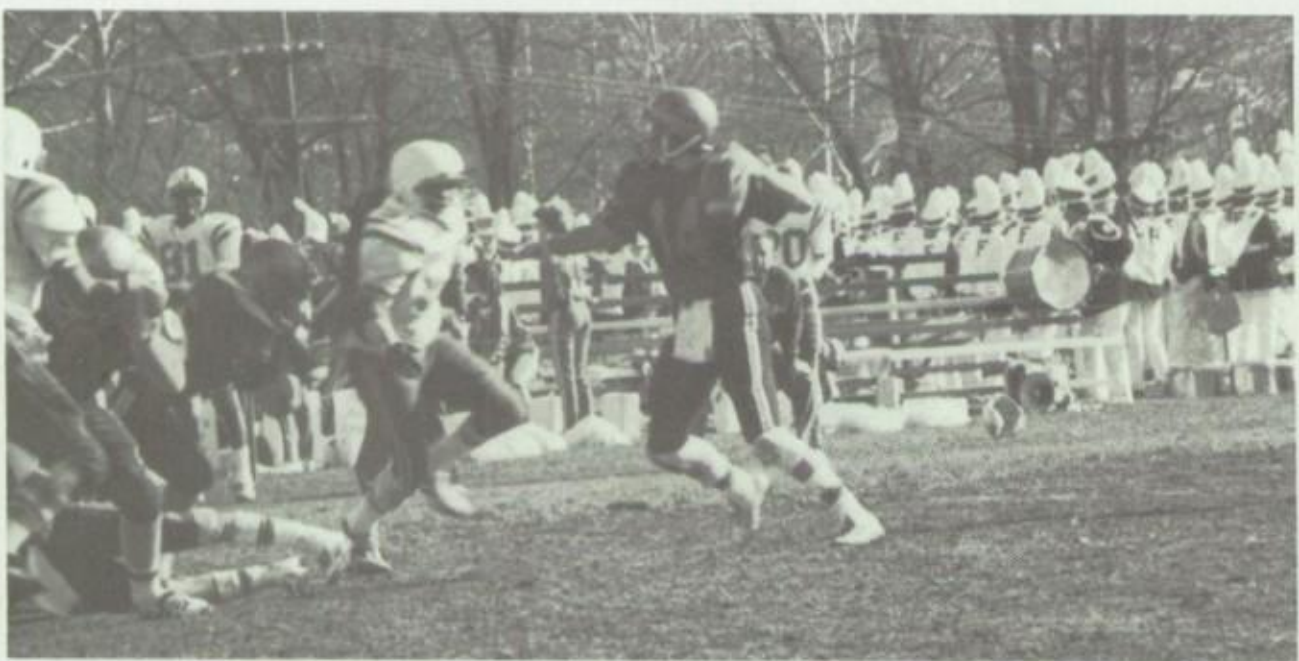

Bouncing back from their past three losses, Morgantown 20-6, Bridgeport 28-0, and North Marion 26-2, the Bees won an impressive 14-0 win over Lewis County in a rain soaked game.

In their Homecoming struggle, the varsity lost to Grafton on a wet, cold field with an overtime field goal claiming the win.

Moving into the final games, the Bees lost to Buckhannon 34-0, Elkins 21-8 and Fairmont Senior 41-20.

12 Seniors End Bee Play

Twelve senior gridders ended their play for the Bees under the watchful eye of Coach Joseph Ross. Out of these twelve seniors, nine starters were lost from the offensive and defensive line-ups.

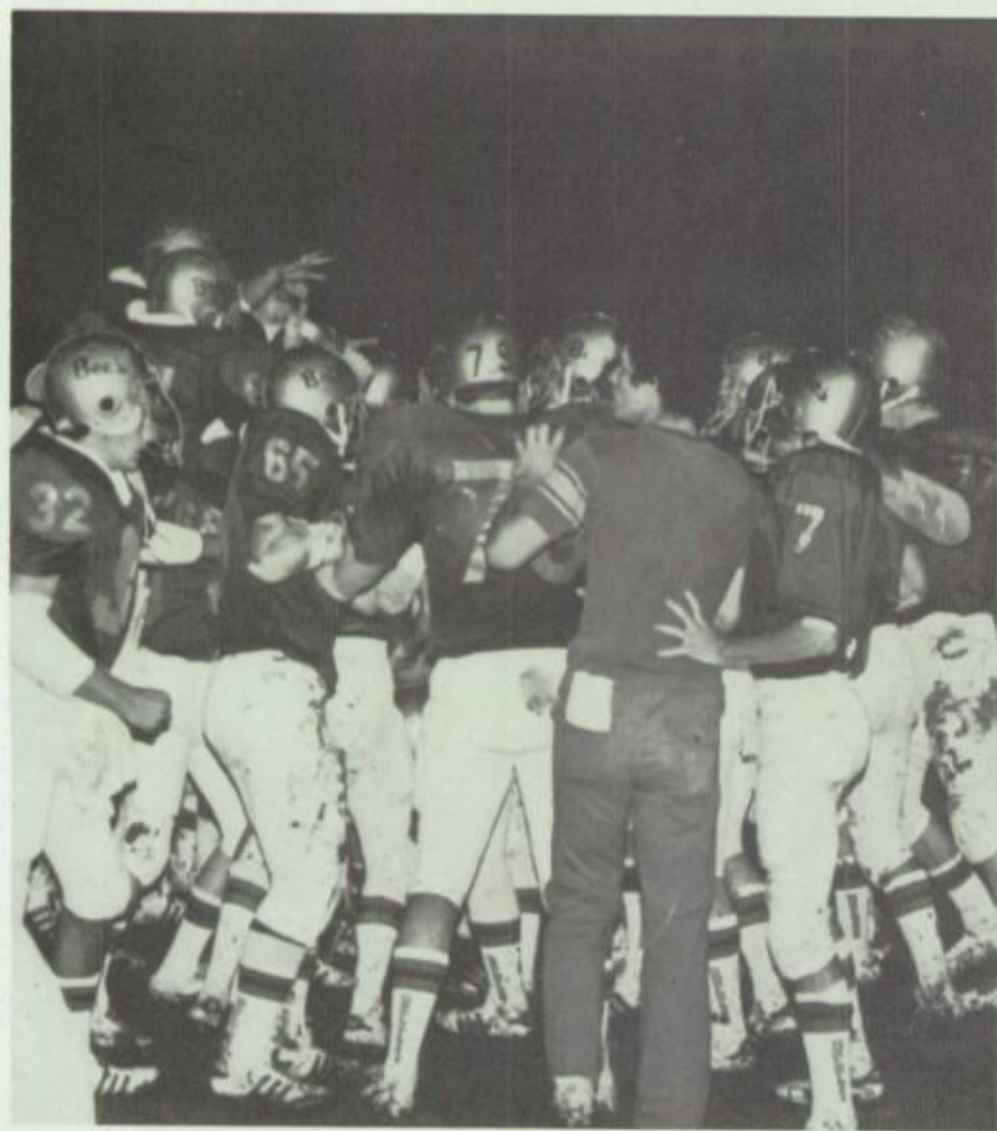

Closing their high school careers as Bee gridders were J.D. Falter, Skeeter Gouzd, Charles McDonald, Marty Morgan, Keith Pride, Joe Riggi, Richard Reeves, John Reese, Bruce Seccurro, Bryan Shaver, Harry Steele, and Craig Walker.

Suffering losses to Morgantown, Bridgeport, North Marion, Grafton, Buckhannon, Elkins, and Fairmont Senior, the Bees suffered from the factor of size during the season. Along with their wins over Liberty, Philip Barbour, and Lewis County, the Bees look forward to another year on the gridiron.

J V's Compile 2-4 Season

Recording a 2-4 season, Junior Varsity gridders had three games cancelled from their card.

Playing their first game at home against the Mohigans of Morgantown, the Bees took one of their two wins of the season 20-6.

Bees then went to the road for four straight away games and lost each at the hands of Bridgeport 26-8, North Marion 28-0, Fairmont Senior 24-12, and Grafton 22-6.

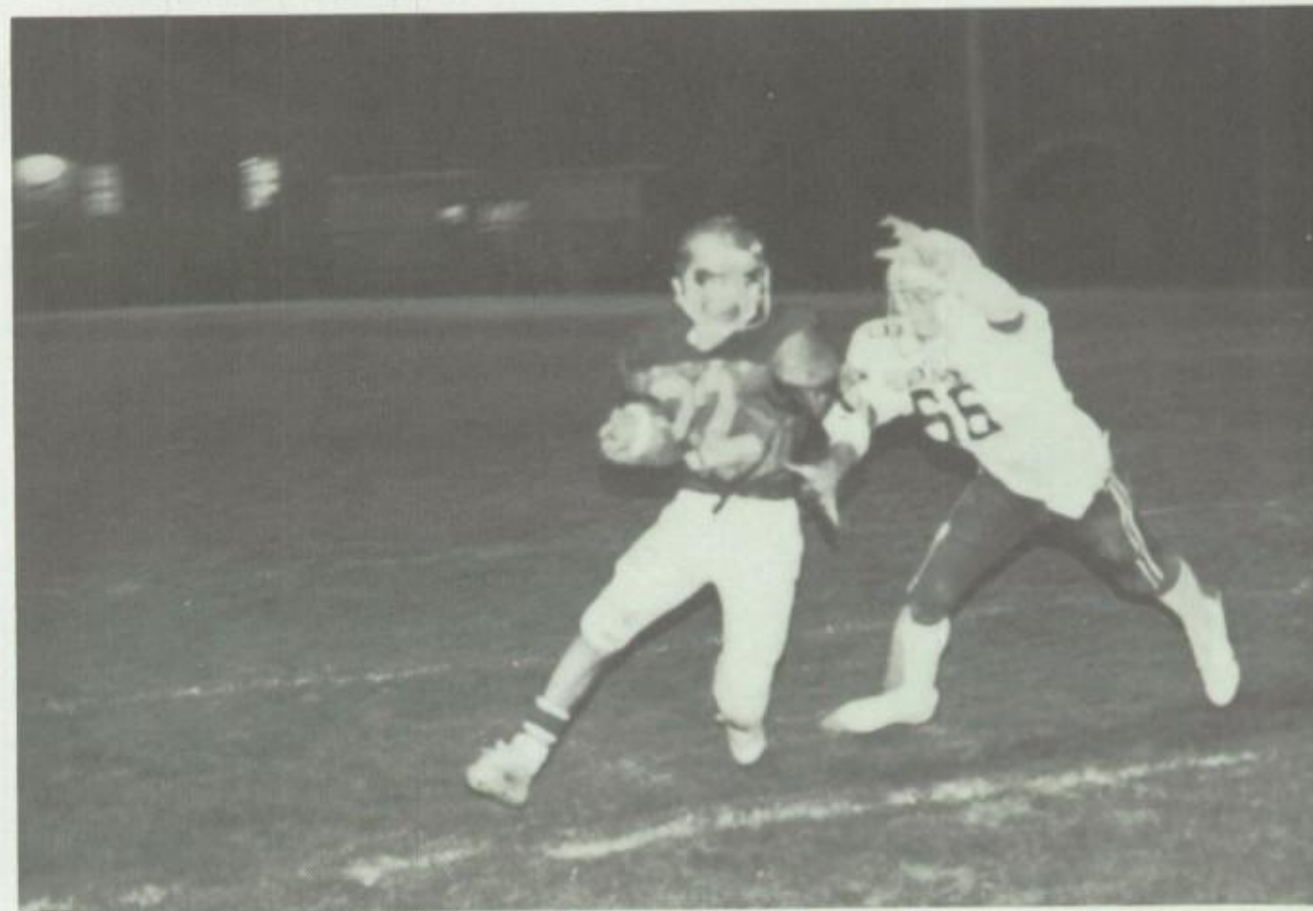

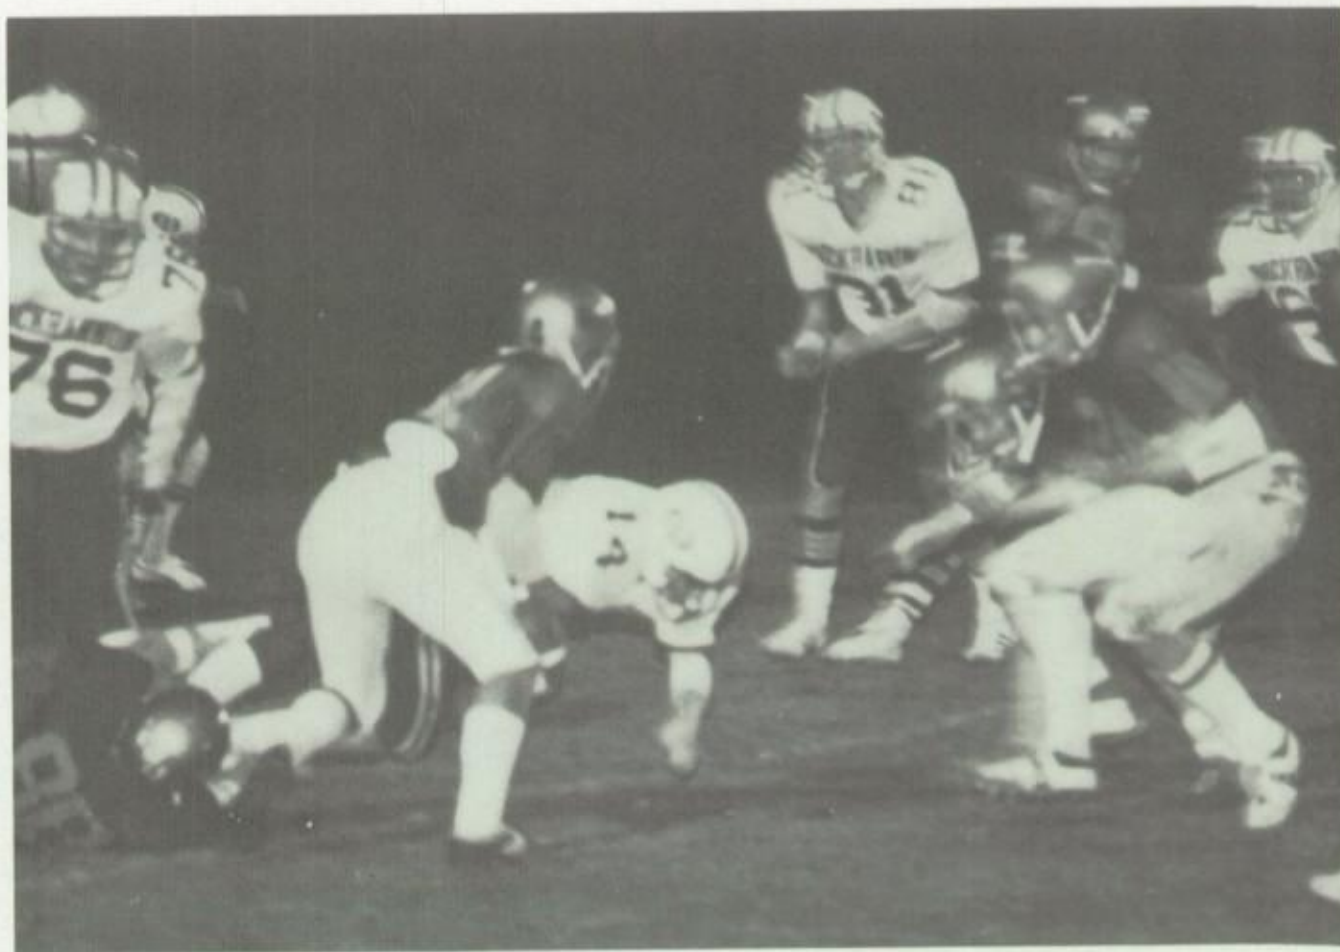

Returning home for the final game of the season, the JV's stopped Buckhannon 14-6.

Looking good at home with a 2-0 season, the Bees faced the road record of 0-4.

Leading offensive play were junior quarterbacks Mark White, and Russell Yann assisted by center Brad Morgan. Filling guard positions were Rick Webb and Dean Morrison. Tackles were Dave Davidson and Tom Rogers along with ends Bill Dickey and Bill Fleming.

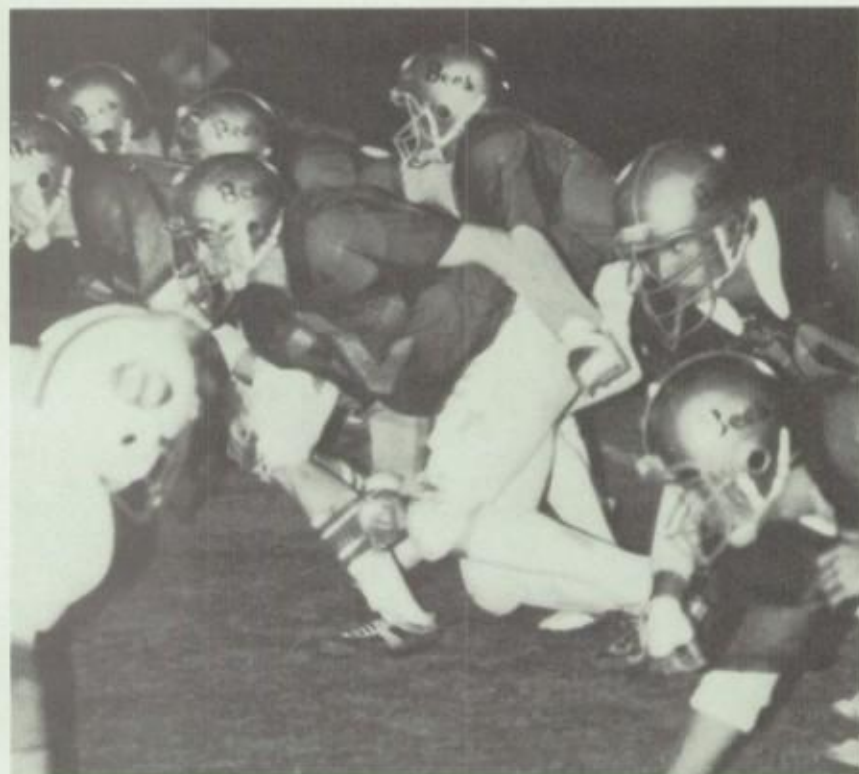

Defense standouts were sophomore end Joe Snider and defensive back Greg Baker.

Frosh Close 2-5 Season

Freshman gridders closed the season with a 2-5 record under new coach Gary Hawkins assisted by Mike Talkington and Matt DeVito.

Tastes of two on the road defeats were sweetened as the Frosh opened at home with a 24-0 crushing of Grafton. Touchdowns came from Dennis Durrett and Tim Moore caught a 63 yard pass from Andy Sorine.

Bees then dropped two games to North Marion 13-10 and the Polar Bears 24-12.

Finding the winning mark again the Frosh trounced Philip Barbour 22-6.

In the final game of the season, the Bees lost to the Huskies 42-12, bringing their record to 2-5.

Leading rushers for the Bees were Brian Keefover, Dennis Durrett, and Brian Walker, while the leading receiver was Tim Moore.

Offensive line was fairly steady for the Frosh and gained experience each week. Defensive standouts were Wallace Wallace, J. B. Tennant, and Andy Sorine.

Bees Close 9-12 Season

Closing the 1980 season with a 9-12 record, East Varsity roundballers were led in scoring by guards Marty Morgan and Rocko Zannino.

Opening the play at home, the Bees took an impressive victory from Liberty Mountaineers 81-72.

Facing defeat on the road for three games, the Bees fell to Grafton, Fairmont Senior, and Lincoln.

Morgantown then took the Bees on their home court 72-60. Bees then rallied and took four of the next five games beating Lewis County, 60-51 and 66-52, Philip Barbour, Grafton, and losing to Buckhannon 59-45.

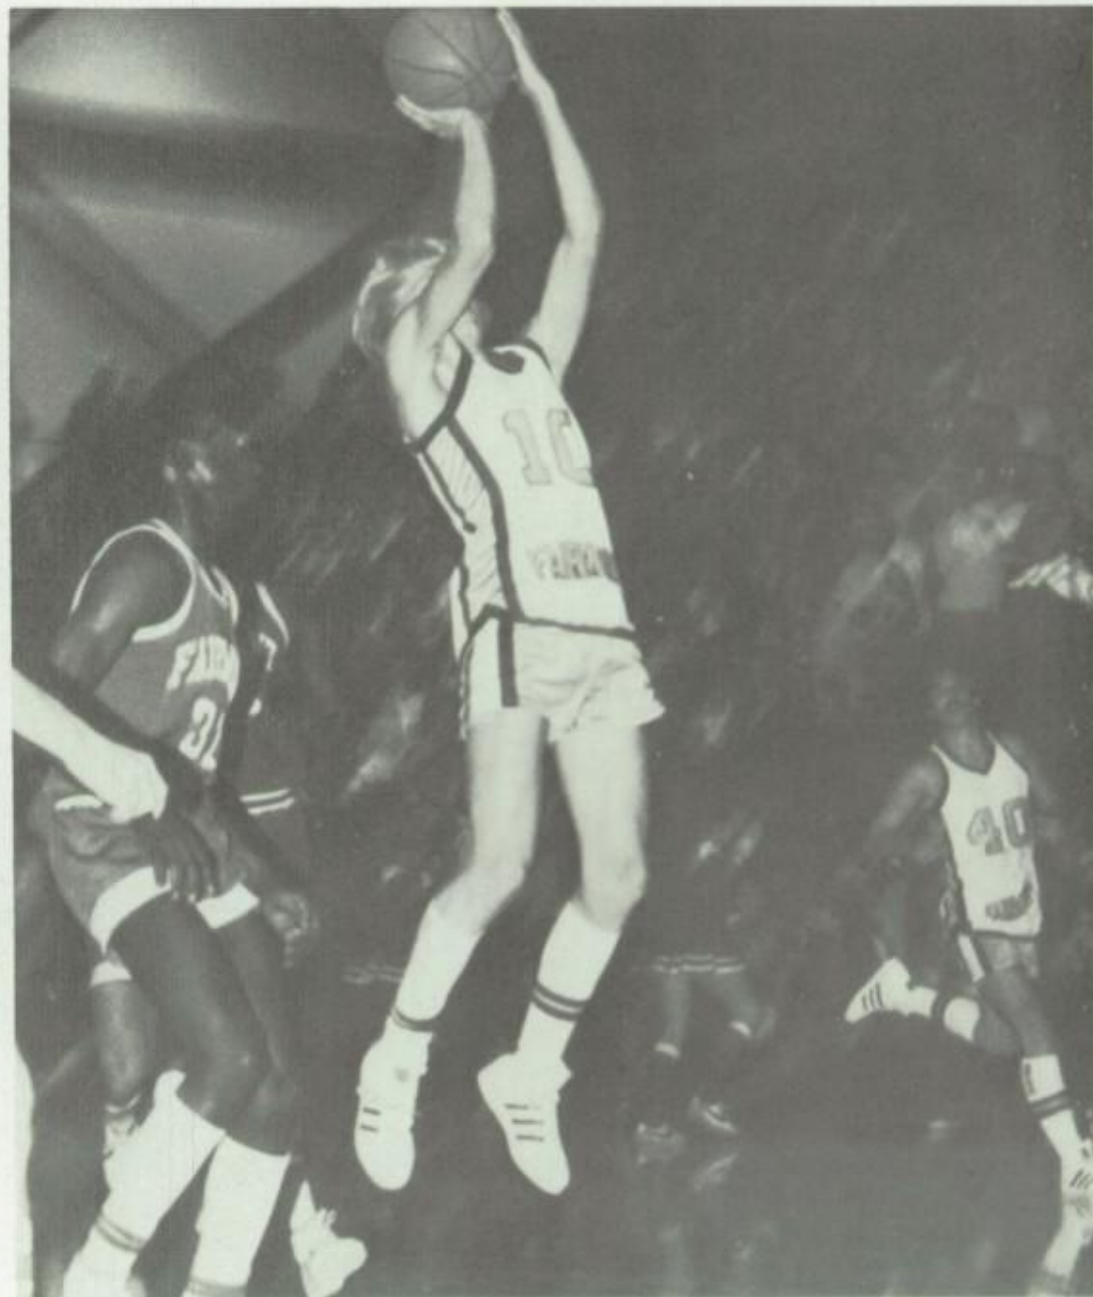

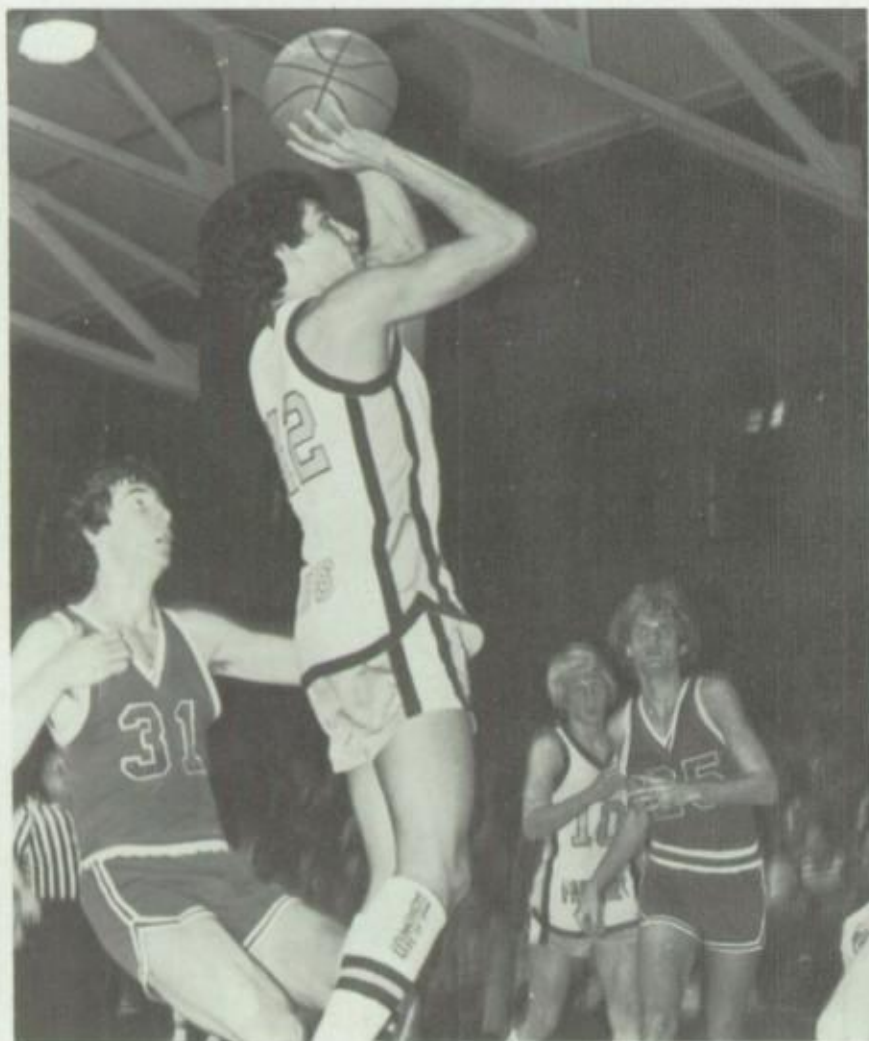

Morgantown, Fairmont Senior, and Bridgeport then came on to defeat the Big Bees, who had shown their best play against Lincoln at home 97-67.

Moving into the sectionals at Feaster Center, East met North Marion for the first time in basketball play, as the Huskies took the Bees 53-41.

Six seniors graduated from the line-up. They were center Rob Moran; forwards Joe Riggi, Dave Knapton, and Bruce Seccurro; guards Harry Steele and Marty Morgan.

Returning next season with experience will be five juniors and two sophomores.

As the varsity season closed under new coach Bill Lawson, Bees leading scorer Marty Morgan had 18 point average while Rocko Zannino was hitting for 14 points.

Varsity Posts Best Record

Posting a 13-10 overall record, East coeds experienced the best record ever for the girls program which was in its fourth year and also recorded the best county record to date.

Bee coed cause was led by the outstanding efforts of junior Vicki Woodring who maintained a scoring average of 21.04 points on the season. She scored 45 points alone against Liberty. Receiving Most Valuable Player award in the Turkey Classic and Marion County, Vickli was named to the Class AAA Sectional All-Tournament team and got honorable mention Class AAA All-State. She was the first girl from East to make the first team All-Big Ten.

Also receiving honors was sophomore Cindy Morgan who had an average of 9.4 points per game. She got honorable mention in Big Ten, and was named to Turkey Classic All-Tournament and Class AAA Sectional All-Tournament teams.

Freshman Heidi Everson averaged 9.4 points per game and was named to Big Ten second team, All-County and Turkey Classic teams.

Senior Jenny Linn who received honorable mention All-County and freshman Misty Cline who got honorable mention as forward on the All-County team, helped the Bees in their most successful year.

Named County Coach-of-the-Year was Bee Coed Coach Bill Malone.

JV's Set 6-13 Record

Junior Varsity roundballers summed up a rough 6-13 record for the season under the coaching of Joe Ross.

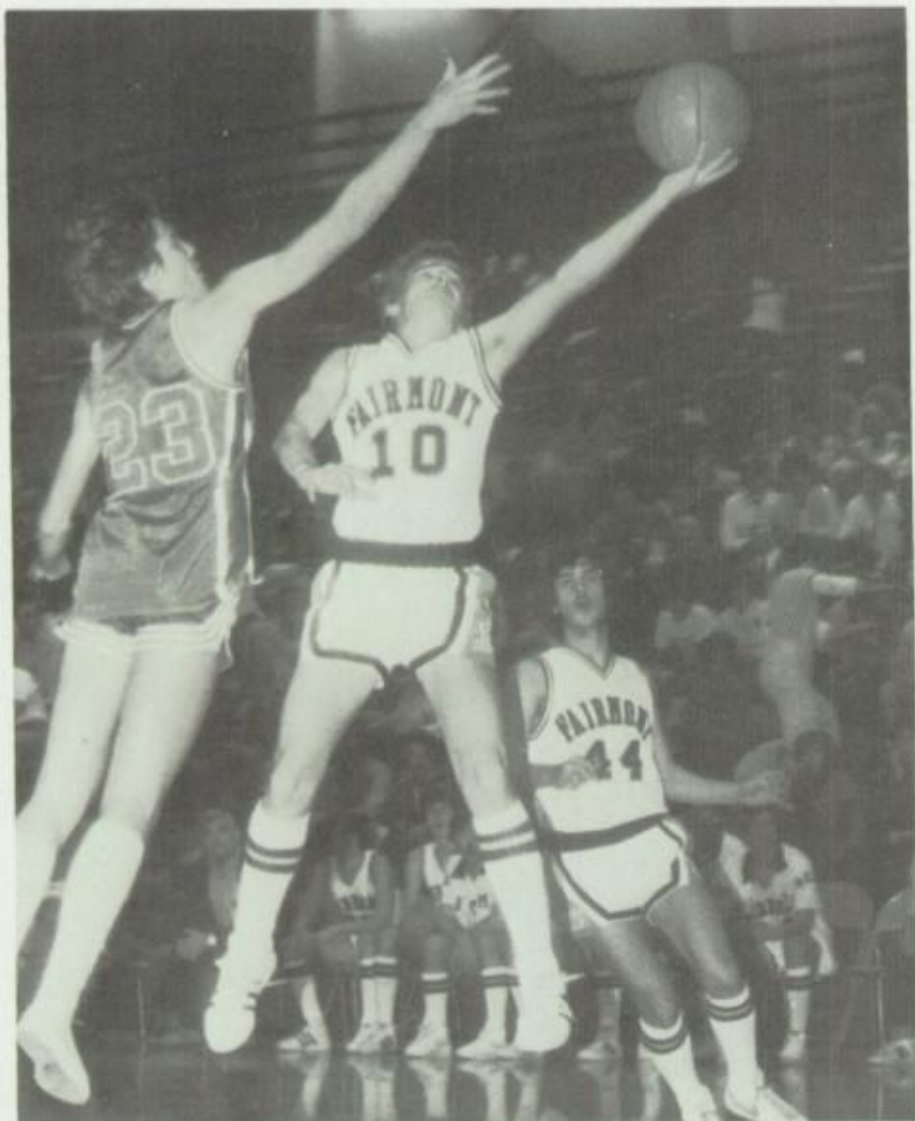

Opening their campaign with a 59-65 loss to Liberty, the Bees rebounded with a win over Grafton 74-67. However, in the city clash with the Polar Bears at the Armory the Bees fell to a 50-52 clip by Fairmont Senior.

In the Marion County JV Tournament, the Bees claimed first with two impressive wins over Rivesville in the first meeting 65-44 and Fairmont Senior in the finals 69-61.

Keeping their winning streak to three games by beating Lincoln 62-50, the JV's went to defeat at Morgantown 77-88. Playing Lewis County two times in a row, the Bees were defeated on the road 60-64 but won at home 82-59.

Losing their final three games to North Marion, Elkins, and Bridgeport, the Bees closed with a taste of defeat.

Leading the JV's in scoring were sophomores Jeff Cunningham and Glenn Boyles with over 10 points per game. Other starters were sophomores B. J. Nuzum, Tyrone Asterino, Turk Snider, Mark Giorcelli, and Aaron Downey.

Bee Frosh Close 8-5

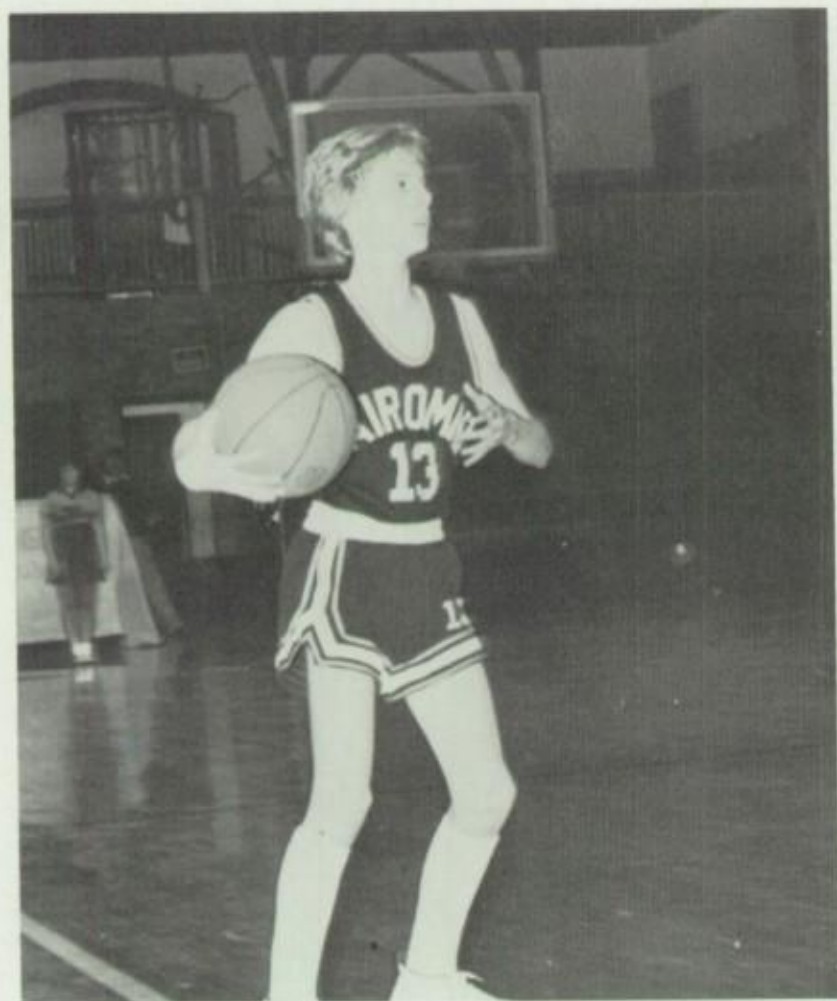

Freshman roundballers compiled an 8-5 winning season under the coaching of Leonard Bonfantino.

Starters Andy Sorine, Bryan Garlow, Tim Moore, Jim Clark, and Gary Kuroski led the way while key reserves were Shawn DeWitt and Barry Slusser. The frosh five were 5-2 at home and 3-3 on the road.

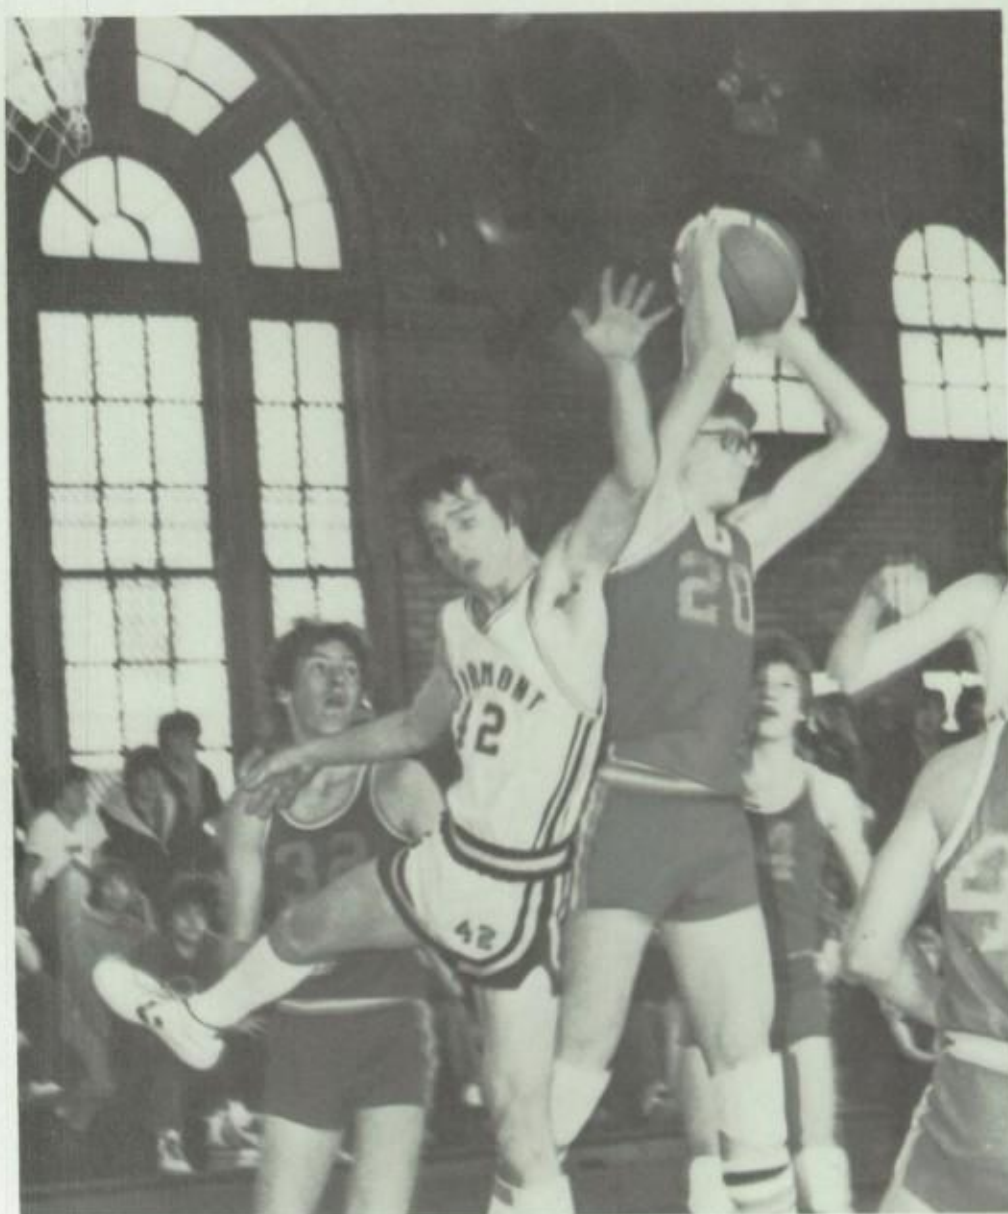

Bees first win of the season came in their opening clash with the new North Marion squad 49-48 after their opening loss to Notre Dame. Other victories came over Grafton, Philip Barbour, Buckhannon, and Weston. Bees took their second win over North Marion 41-28 later in the season's meeting.

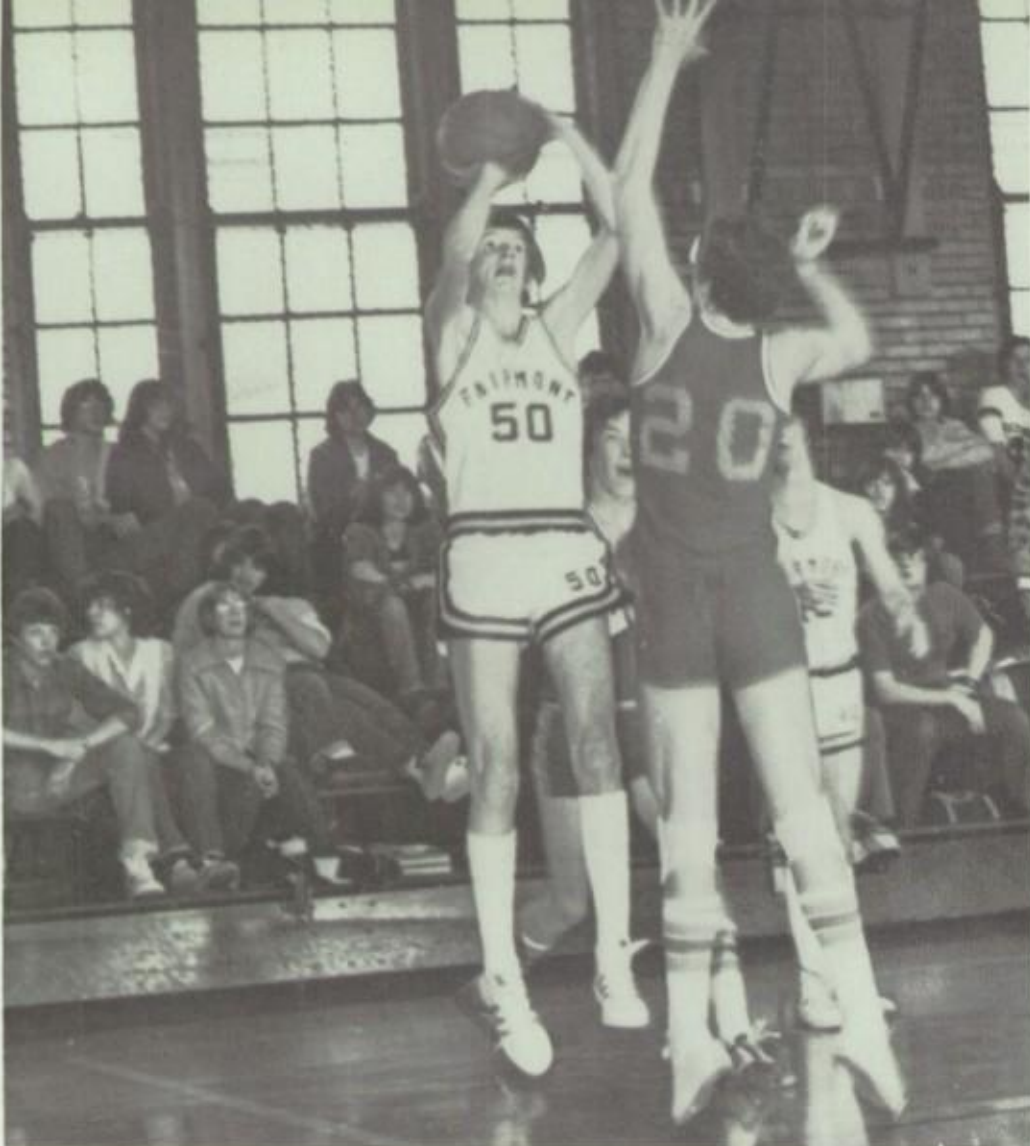

Hosting an Invitational Tournament at the close of the season, Bees saw Fairmont Senior take the championship honors over Weston. Teams participating were Grafton, North Marion, Elkins, Tucker County, Buckhannon, Philip Barbour, and East Fairmont.

Stand-out Andy Sorine was selected to the All-Tourney team for East.

Thinclads Reorganize After 3-Year Absence

Big Bee Cross Country team regained their spark after a three year absence under the coaching of Domenick Muto.

East thinclads opened at Liberty with an under-experienced team that grew stronger as the season progressed.

In their second meet against the North Marion Huskies, the Bees placed second and declared victory in their next two encounters with the Huskies.

Dave VanGilder and John Reese led the thinclads in individual first place victories.

VanGilder placed sixth in the Regionals at Morgantown which sent him on his way to the state meet where he placed 16.

Leaving the team are seniors John Reese, Bruce Securo, Dave Knapton, Val Drummond, and Brad Slusser.

Returning to the course with experience will be Dave VanGilder, Bobby Stoller, Greg Lee, Irene Gross, and Diane Keefover.

Five Wrestle At Huntington

Placing with two champions, a second, and two fourths, the Bees were represented in the State Tourney held in Huntington by five grapplers.

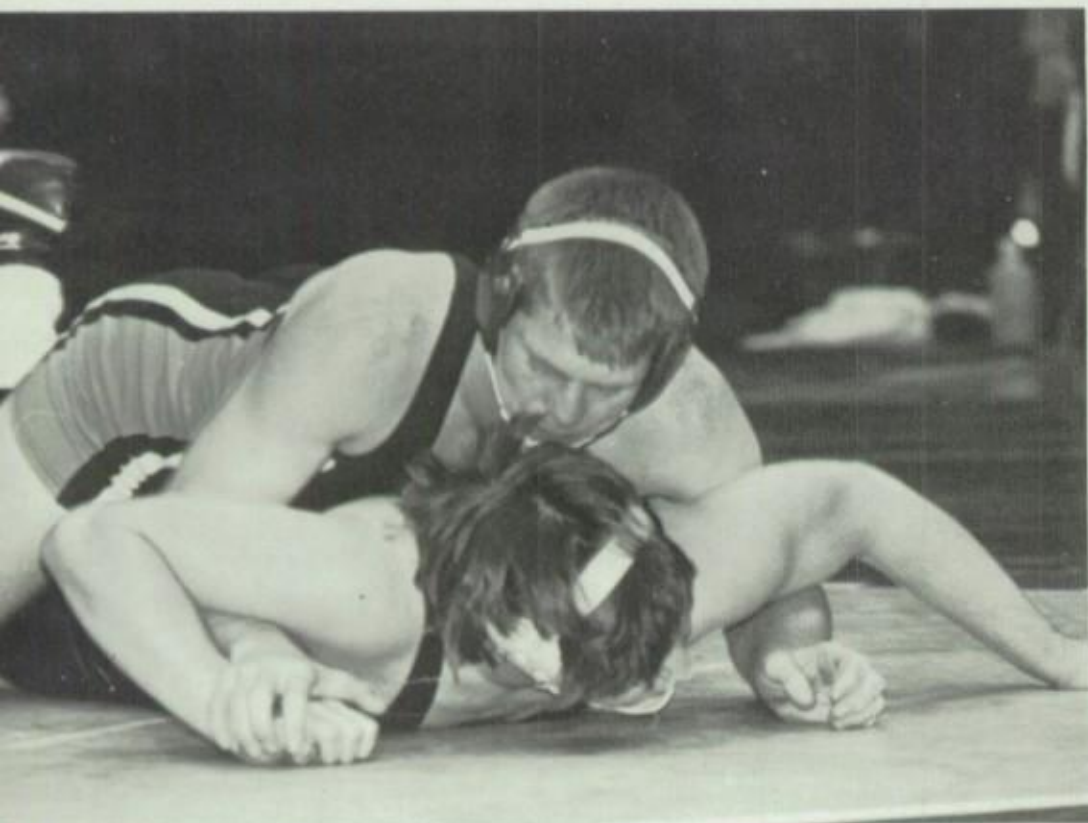

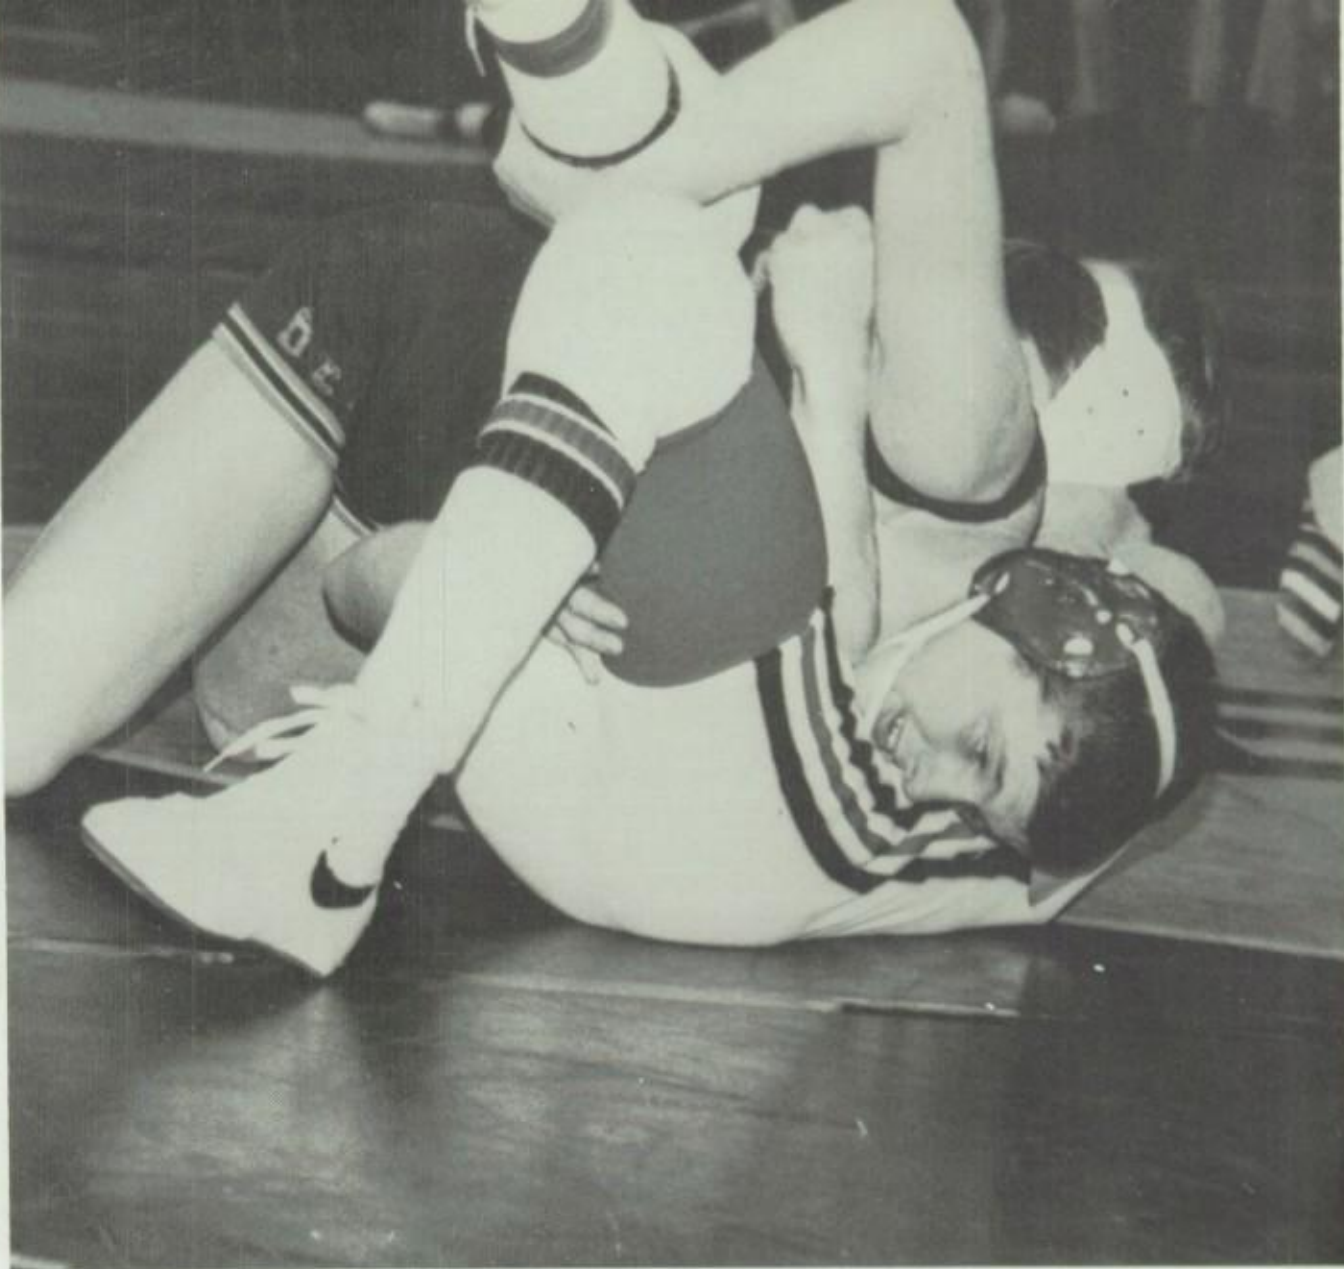

Junior Mark Hackett (98) and Tom Phillips (105) were champions in their class in the Regionals. Seniors John Reese (132) finished second, while Val Drummond (126) and Mark Shuck (185) placed fourth.

Events at State the first day saw the Bees lose their first round of matches. Mark Hackett came back to win four matches and claim a third place finish. Mark Shuck was the only other wrestler to score a victory.

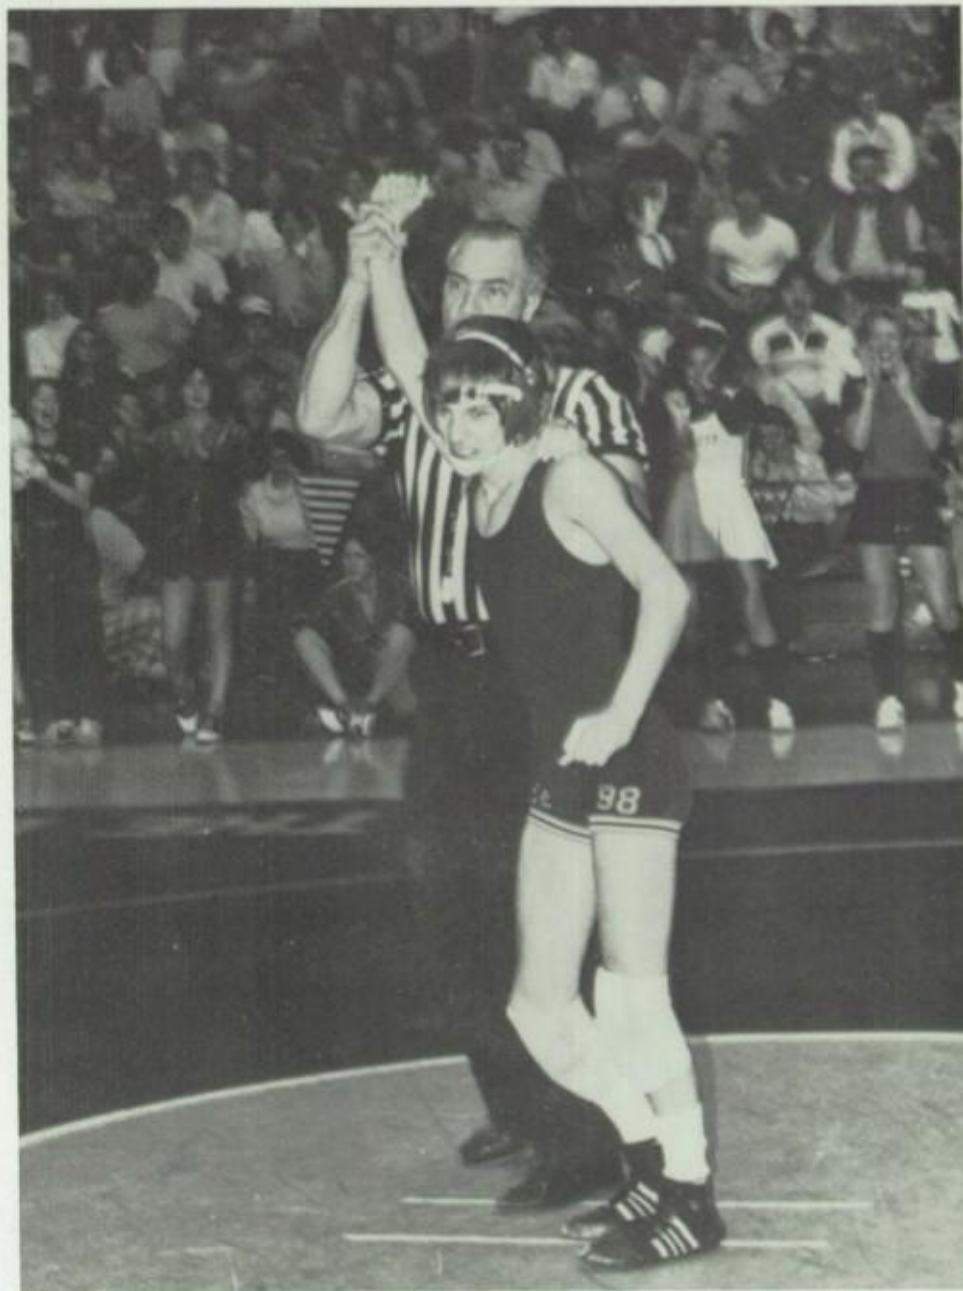

During the year, Hackett won four championships, reigning as East Invitational, Times, Big Ten and Regional champ. Phillips won the Times Invitational, East, and Regional championships. Reese took the Big Ten and finished second in the Parkersburg Invitational and Regional meets. Drummond won the most valuable wrestler trophy in a quadrangular match with three pins.

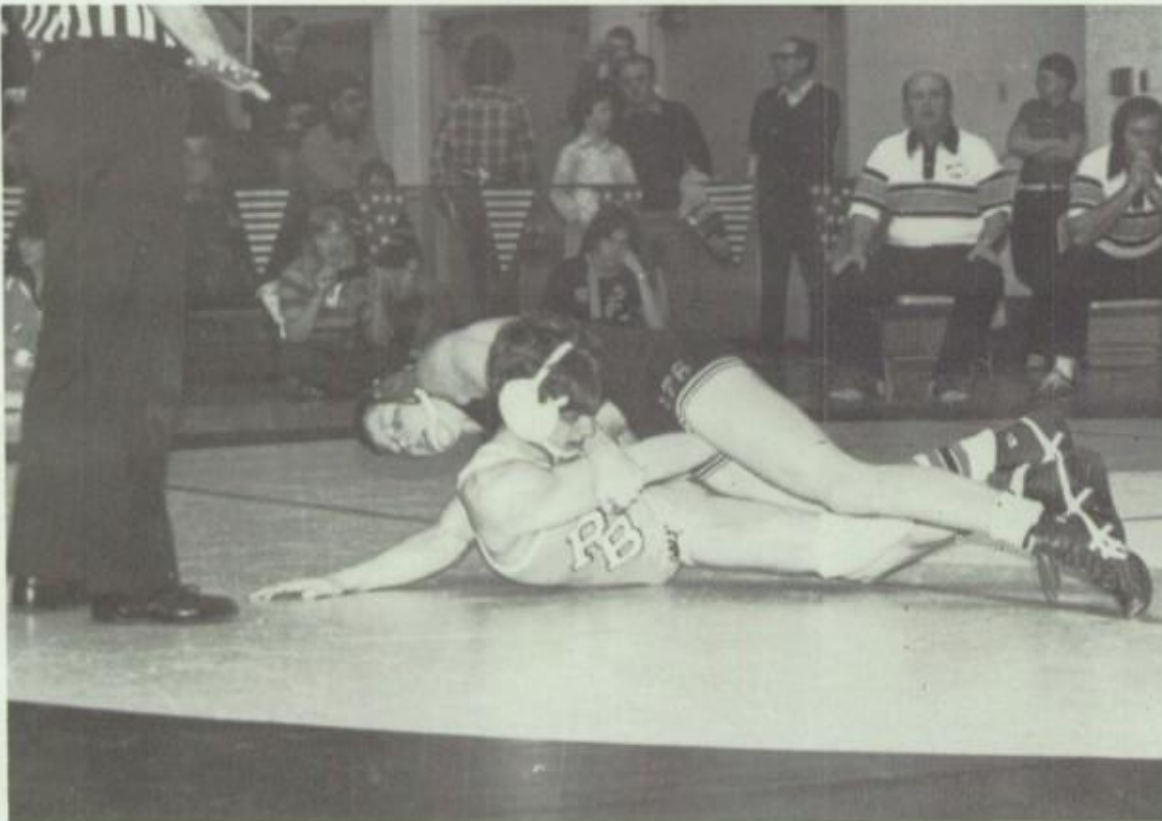

As a team, East finished second in the East Invitational, third in the Times, and Big Ten, and placed fourth in the Regionals.

Eight seniors closed their Bee careers. They are Vic Satterfield, Rick Shafer, Val Drummond, John Reese, Richard Reeves, Keith Pride, Doug Cook, and Victor Wilson.

Two Netters Enter States

Completing their season, the Bee netters compiled a 8-1 record while the girls finished 6-3.

In the Big Ten Sectionals, the boys took fourth and the Bee team placed fourth overall.

Winning their first four matches of the season the netters suffered their first and only loss to Morgantown 8-1.

With four of the first matches cancelled due to rain, the Bees won in matches against Liberty, Grafton, and Philip Barbour.

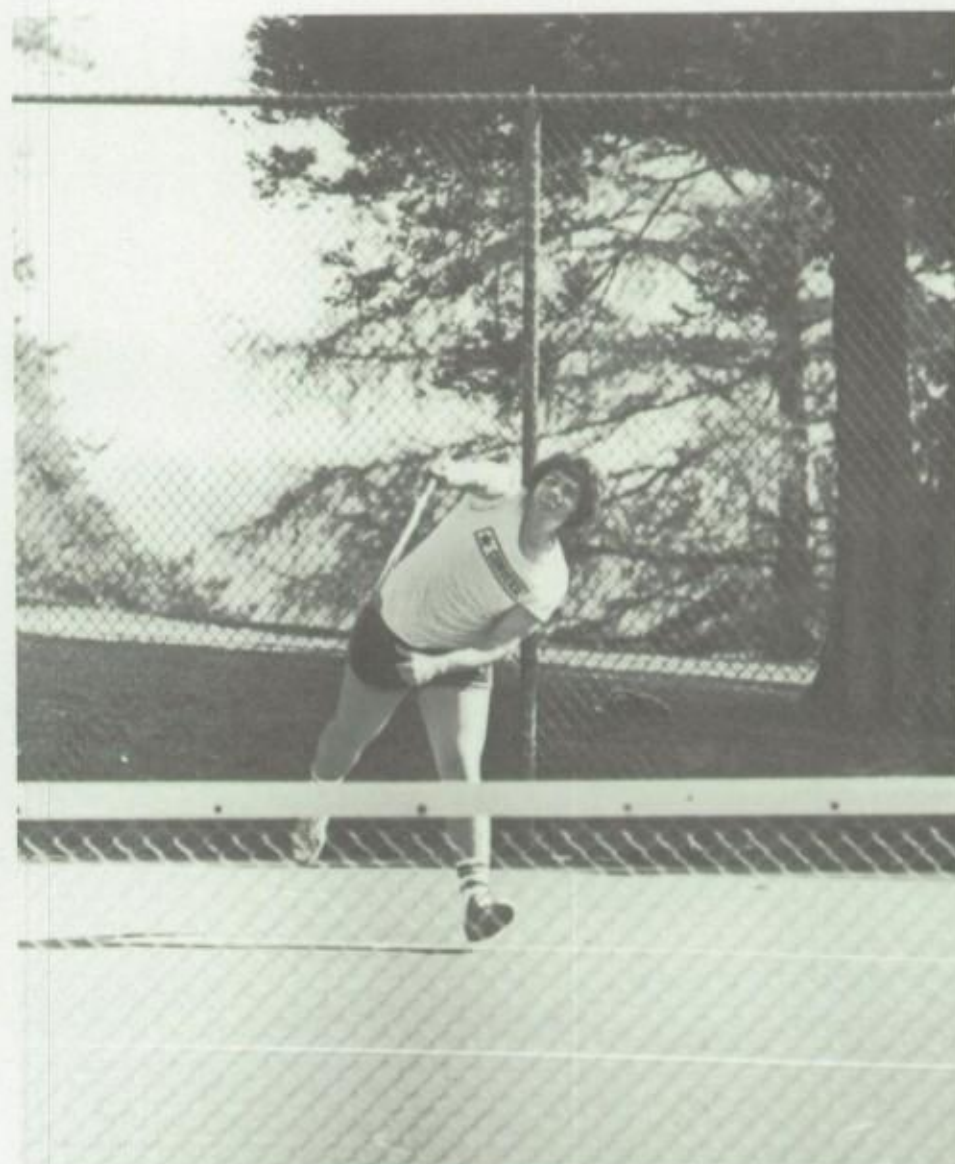

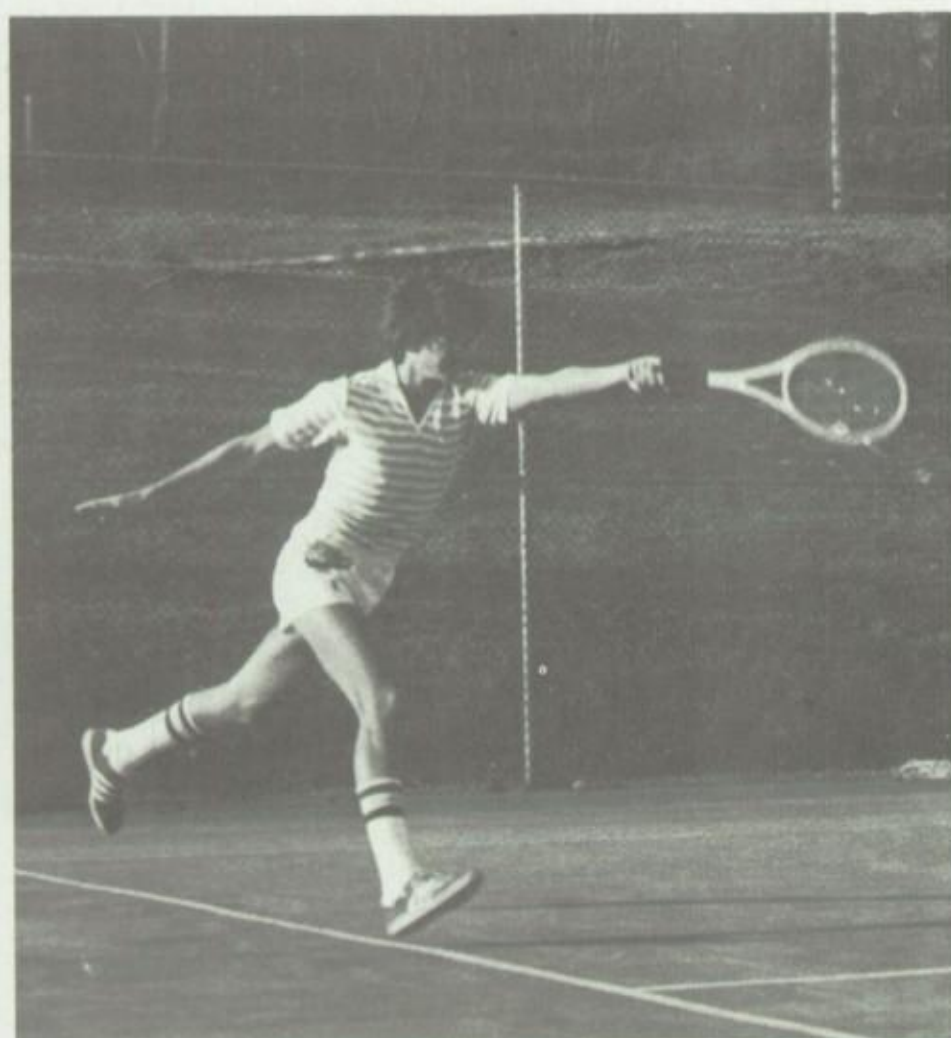

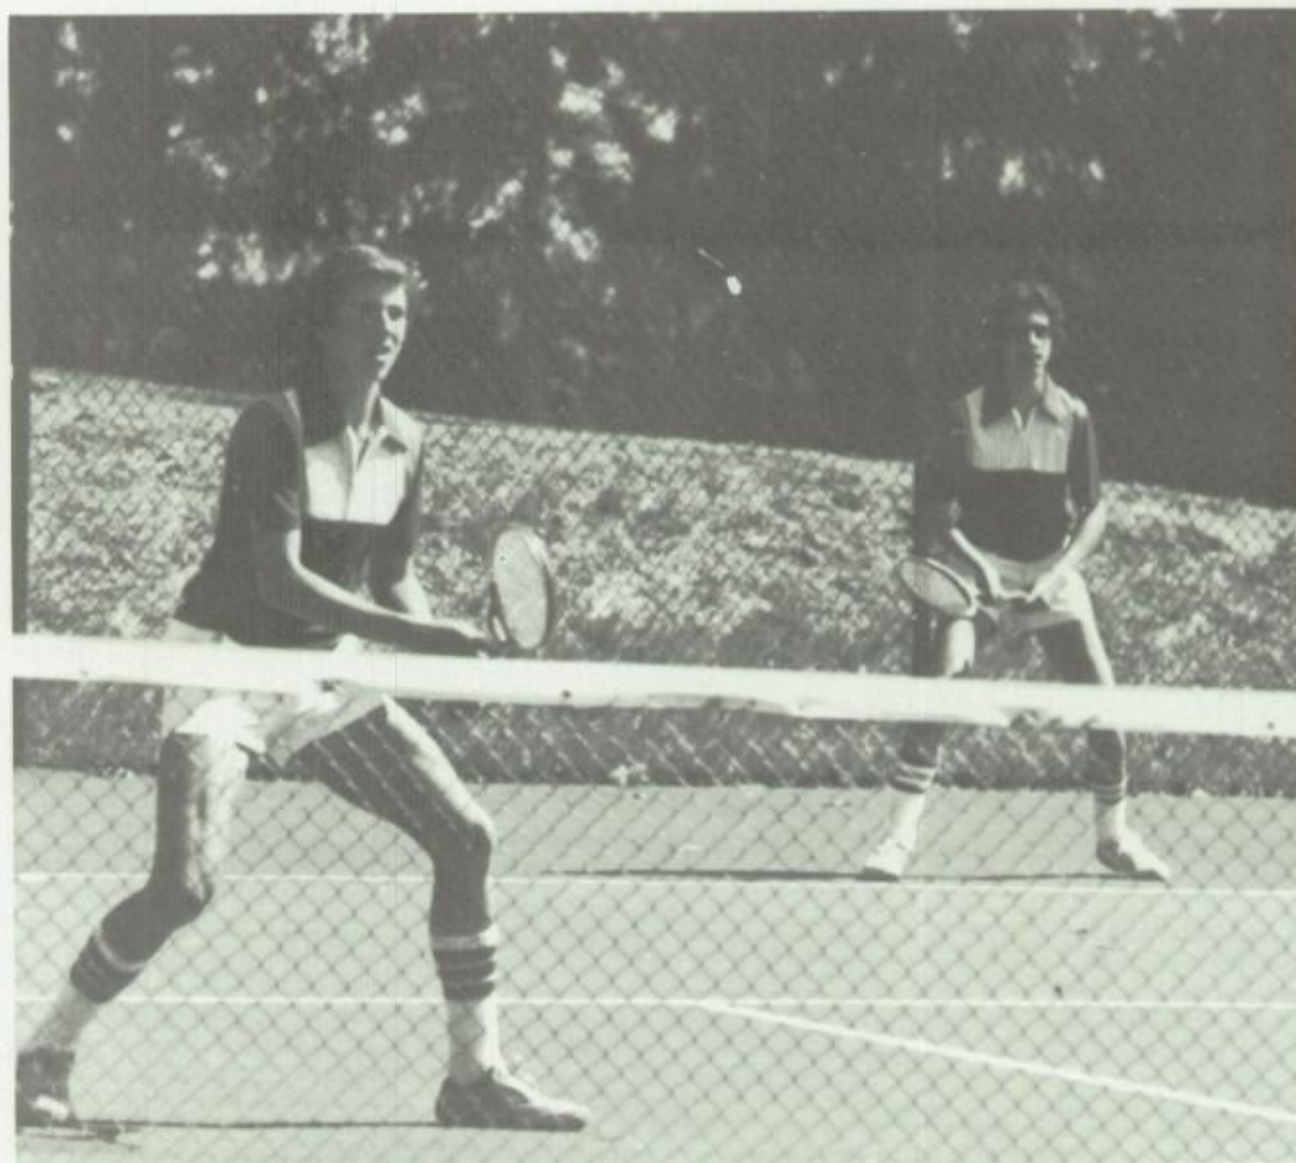

Only undefeated player from East was Jim McIntosh with a 4-0 record in boys singles.

East girls failed to qualify for state, however Coach Bill Malone was named the Boys coach-of-the-year for the Big Ten marking his first year with the netters.

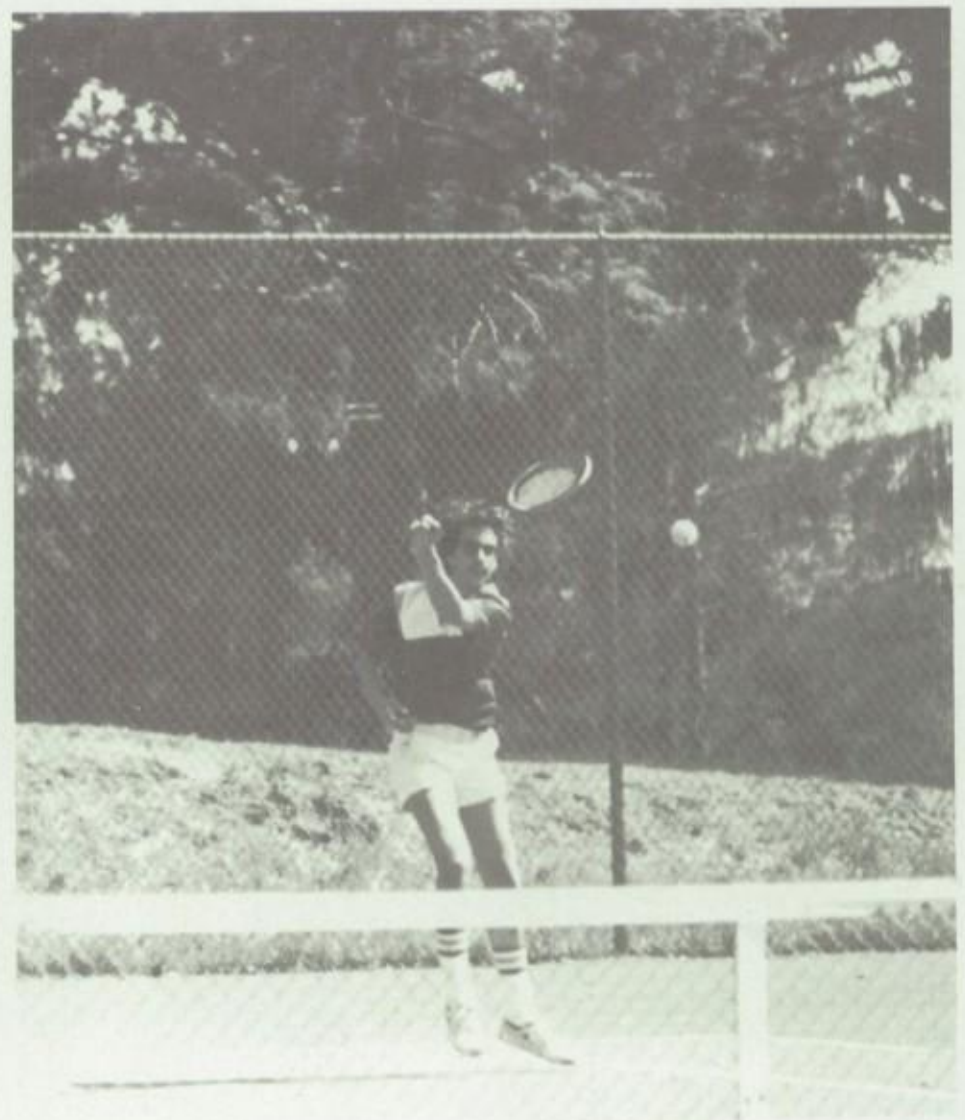

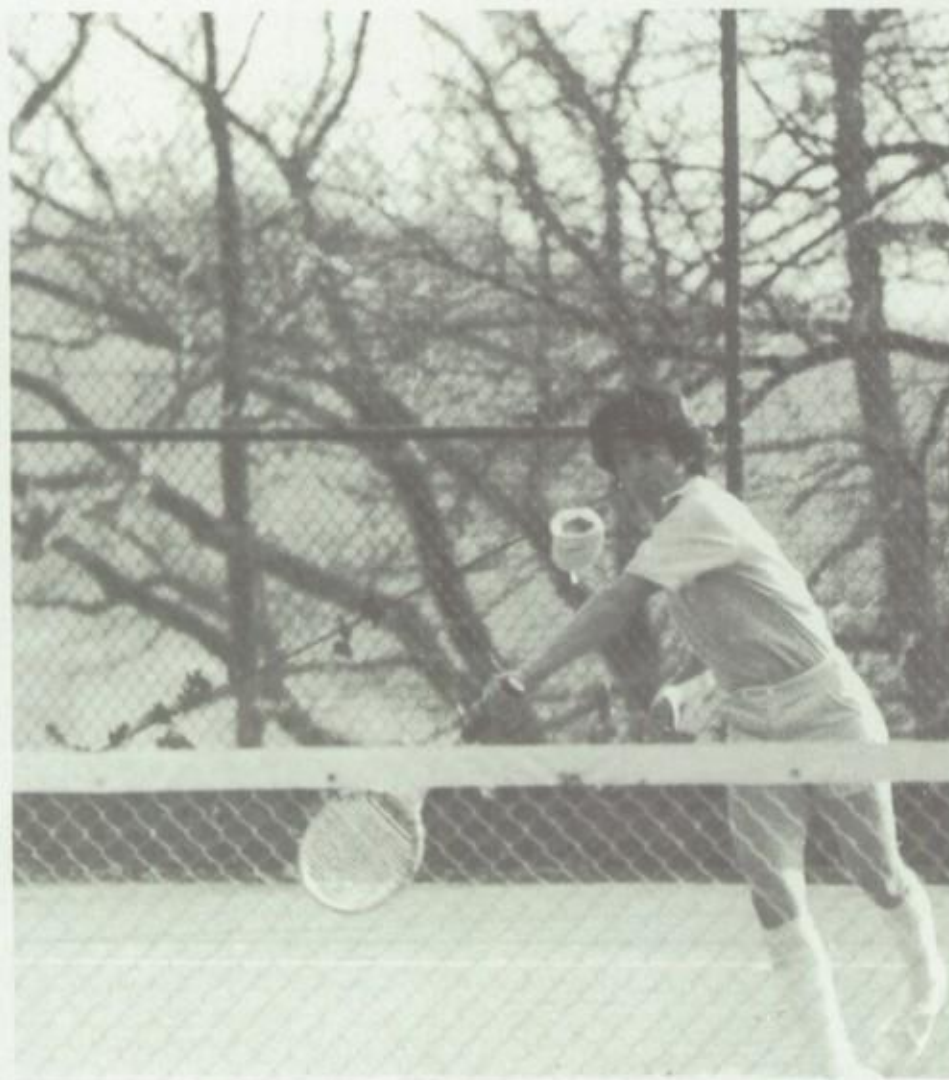

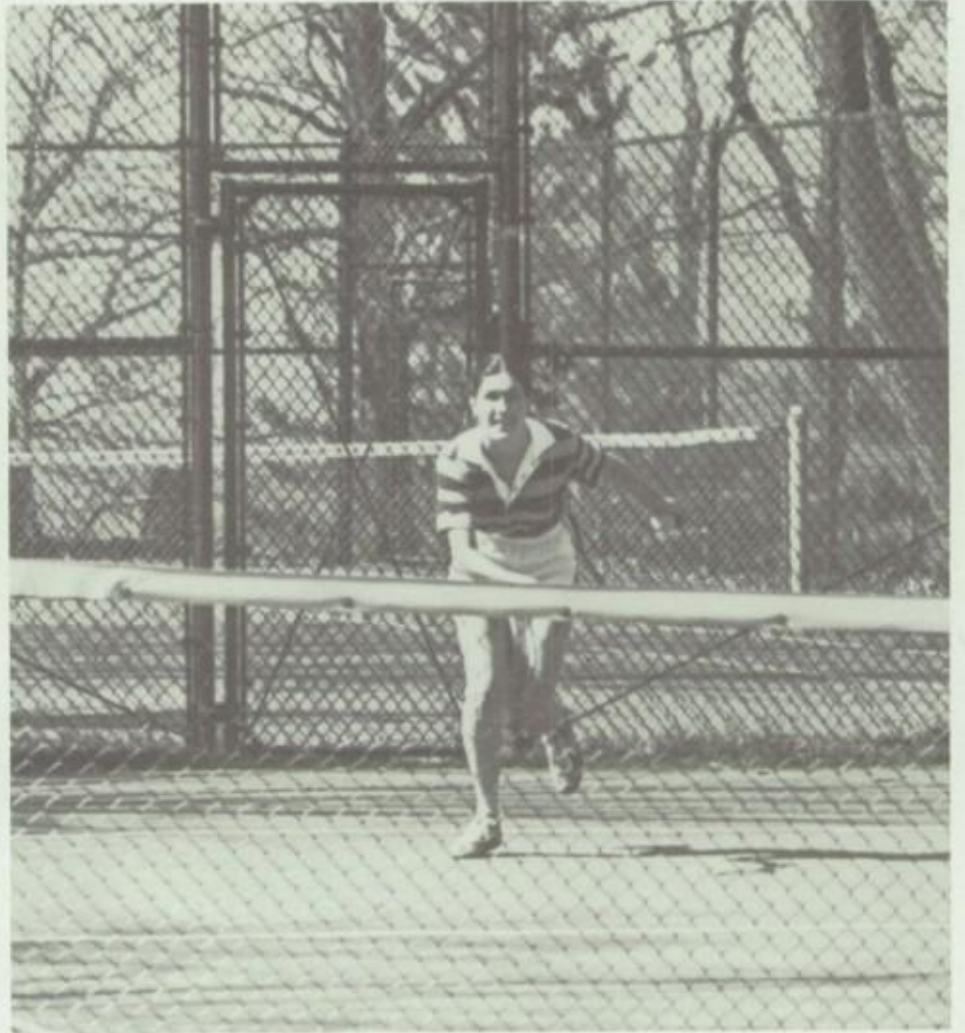

Mark Giorcelli took four matches to be winner of the fourth place in the singles at the State Tennis meet at Charleston as the Bees placed third in team standings.

Bob Summers placed to the second round and Rocko Zannino received a forfeit before dropping to Hodge of Princeton 8-5.

Rod Anselene lost in the first round to Reynolds of Wheeling Park 6-4.

Relay Goes to State

Recapping the boys track season, Coach Gerry White's young team managed to head the two-mile relay team into the state meet held at Huntington. Running on this relay were junior John Reese, sophomore Eugene LeDonne, junior Bruce Seccurro and freshman L. D. Skarzinski.

Opening the season with the Times Invitational and no experience, the Bees failed to score.

Making an impressive improvement in their second meet, Bees scored 31 points against West, Grafton, and Washington-Irving.

Traveling to the Inter-Mountain Relays in Elkins, junior standout John Reese and Lyn Matheney, and the shuttle hurdle relay team consisting of Don Morgan, Ritchie Reeves, L. D. Skarziniski, and Eugene LeDonne scored East's points.

Scoring at Grafton, Bee tracksters stunned the Bearcats and South Harrison for their first victory of the season.

Placing with a fourth at Morgantown, the Bees ran against Morgantown, Buckhannon, Lewis County, and University High.

Bees took another first place finish over Fairview and Doddridge County.

Going into the Big Ten, East tracksters placed seventh and placed in the regionals to qualify for the state meet with the two-mile relay team which took second.

With the exception of three seniors, Kevin Smith, Lyn Matheney, and Robert Ledsome, the entire team will be back for a state-bound season.

Bees Sports of All Sorts

Local Bees were into more sports than met the casual eye. Many students were out pursuing their individual challenges.

During hunting season, our students flocked to the woods to bag game — rabbit, squirrel, and deer. Some using bow and arrow while other relied on the trusty rifle.

Although the area had little snow, students rushed out to go skiing at Canaan, Snowshoe, and Chestnut Ridge.

Other students began body building at home, took Karate class, or attended gymnastic lessons.

Motocross and bike racing offered thrills to Kent Blackwood and Charles Hahn who competed.

Jogging, fishing, bowling, and weight lifting were also popular with many.

Skills learned by these activities would carry many to more active competition.

Batmen Slug 1-11 Season as Rain Cancels Nine

East Batmen ground through a 1-11 season that got off to a slow start as the Bees dropped their first seven games to Morgantown, Buckhannon, Lincoln, Fairmont Senior, Liberty, Roosevelt-Wilson, and Morgantown.

Facing their first win of the season, the batmen took Philip Barbour 3-1 at Kingmont as Scott Jarvis pitched the Bees lone win.

Remaining idle till May 1, the Bees fell to Liberty and Fairmont Senior to close the regular season of play since the last two games were cancelled due to rain.

In the duration of play, the Bees saw nine games cancelled due to weather conditions.

Moving into the sectionals, Bees traveled to Morgantown for the second round play against Fairmont Senior who won 14-4.

Returning for the batmen will be hurlers Elmo Boyles, Ron Shackelford, Joe Nagy, Glenn Boyles, and Marty Morgan. To back them in the field will be Vic Wilson, Nick Fantasia, Mark White, and Darrell Wolfe.

Moran, DeVito

Lead Duffers

Big Bee duffers closed their 1979 season on a semi-successful note as leaders Rob Moran and Eddie DeVito just failed by two and six strokes to qualify for state.

Moran shot an 80 while DeVito shot an 84 in their most successful campaign this year.

They were followed by Terri Harold with a 100, and Perry Morgan who shot a 104. The Bee team finished eighth in a field of 13 teams in the Regionals.

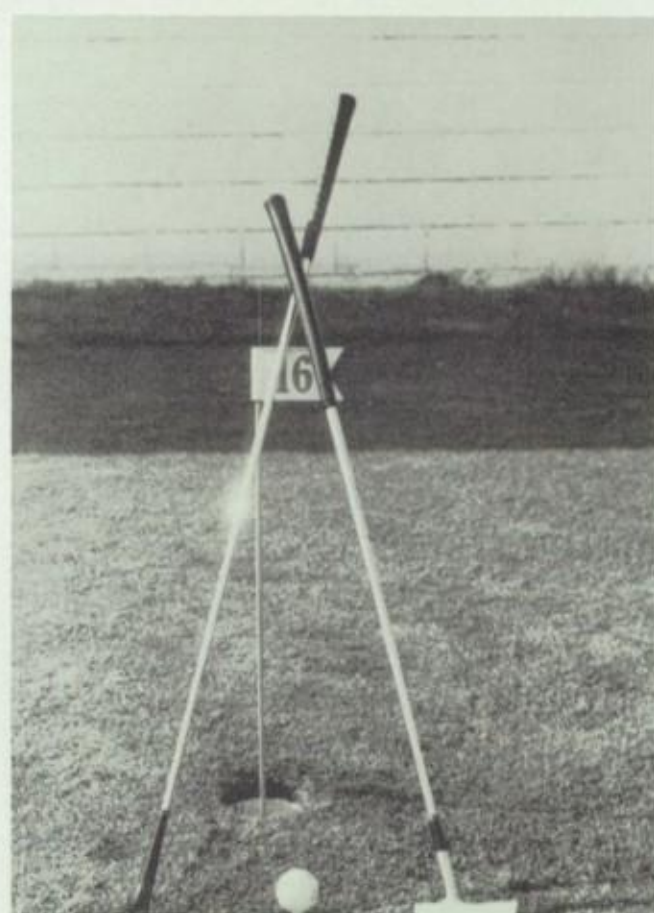

East placed eighth in the Big Ten Tournament at the Lakeview Country Club golf course. Rob Moran again led with a 92, followed by Rod Humphrey with a 94. Terri Harold and Perry Morgan followed with 99 and 102 respectively.

Seniors up for graduation from the team are DeVito, Humphrey, and Morgan while returning juniors are Harold and Moran with experience.

Returning lettermen are DeVito and Moran. Terri Harold is the lone returning non-letterman with match experience.

80's Outlook Back to Basics

Sweating out the class schedule, doing tons of homework, students began to see the light about April when the sun and warmer days had most talking about summer plans.

Educational outlook for the 80's seemed to be a trend 'Back to Basics' in math and English.

With the opening of the new Vocational Center at the North Marion campus, students were offered a broad selection which included nursing, construction, welding, mechanics, and agriculture among others.

Three new faces joined the staff in the fall, and Mrs. Virginia Seccuro retired at the end of first semester with 40 years of teaching at East Fairmont.

Using sheer determination and lots of hustle, students finally got their classes licked.

Revision Plan Under Study

What will happen to good old East? This was the question being carried into the '80's by all as the Marion County Board of Education toured the campus and evaluated the buildings in respect to future plans.

Making revision in the $24 million comprehensive Education Plan which it hopes to present to voters in a bond issue this year, the Board calls for a new complex to replace the 70 year old structure.

Asking for input from the community, the Board will study the community reaction and suggestions before the issue is put to community vote.

During National Education Week, East held open house for citizens to visit and evaluate the school facilities.

New items on campus were a snow blower, refrigerator for cafeteria, and new lockers on the bottom floor.

Principal Keith Holt served as president of the County Secondary Principal's Association and was representative on the W. Va. North Central Commission.

Vice-principal Kelly Michael served on the Auditing Committee for the Secondary School Principals Association and served as Regional representative for NASSP.

YES Program Active Service

Active on campus for the second year was the Youth Employment Service (YES), a branch of the Fairmont Job Service under the direction of Mrs. Kathy Tarley.

Counselors administered the testing program to students with results that ranked Marion County about fourth in the state according to mean percentile scores. State-County testing was given to ninth and eleventh grades on basic skills of subject areas. Eleventh graders were equal to or above the national norm in 10 areas.

Staff Twins Comment on Their Doubles

Many students live through the humor and pain of being a twin. Three members of the faculty have been through that and comment on their younger doubles.

Oldest of fraternal twins is Mrs. Diane Furman (by three minutes). Her sister, Darlene is a waitress at Stauds Restaurant.

Mrs. Karen Whinnie has an identical sister named Carolyn who operates a motel-restaurant in Greenbank, W. Va.

Mr. Kevin Wright has a twin brother Keith who is claims representative for the Social Security office in Morgantown.

Mrs. Furman and Mr. Wright agree they disliked being dressed alike while Mrs. Whinnie never appreciated being referred to as 'the twins' instead of their given names.

All agree that a definite advantage is the emotional closeness twins share.

These Faces Make Tomorrow Nicer

Working somewhat behind the scene, are members of the staff who keep the hive humming.

Often not seen by students, are the maintenance staff who arrive after school and begin their day.

Supervising maintenance during the day was Winfield Meredith and Lorraine Tetrick. Working on the evening shift are Doyle Garlow, Viola Horton, Genevieve Reese-man, and Janet Kerns.

Providing the daily lunches were dietician Rose Warash assisted by Mrs. Anne Retton.

Top Right: Dietician Rose Warash prepares a lunch tray. Above: Good-night — day is done as Doyle Garlow locks up the hive. Right: Putting a finishing touch to a desk is Mrs. Genevieve Reese-man.

English Study British Lit

Studying British Literature in all the phases, English students were introduced to the background history and writers who first recorded our language.

Phases for the underclassmen included short story, non-fiction, poetry, drama, novel, and speech. Additional classes were offered in Journalism I, II, creative writing, and advanced speech and drama.

Reading classes taught by Mrs. Karen Whinnie and make-up English for those who missed a phase were also available.

Students of creative writing assisted in the production of 'Bee Lines,' a literary magazine advised by Mrs. Carol Amos.

We'll Miss You . . .

Who had spent 40 years at East and had taught 15 members of the current faculty?

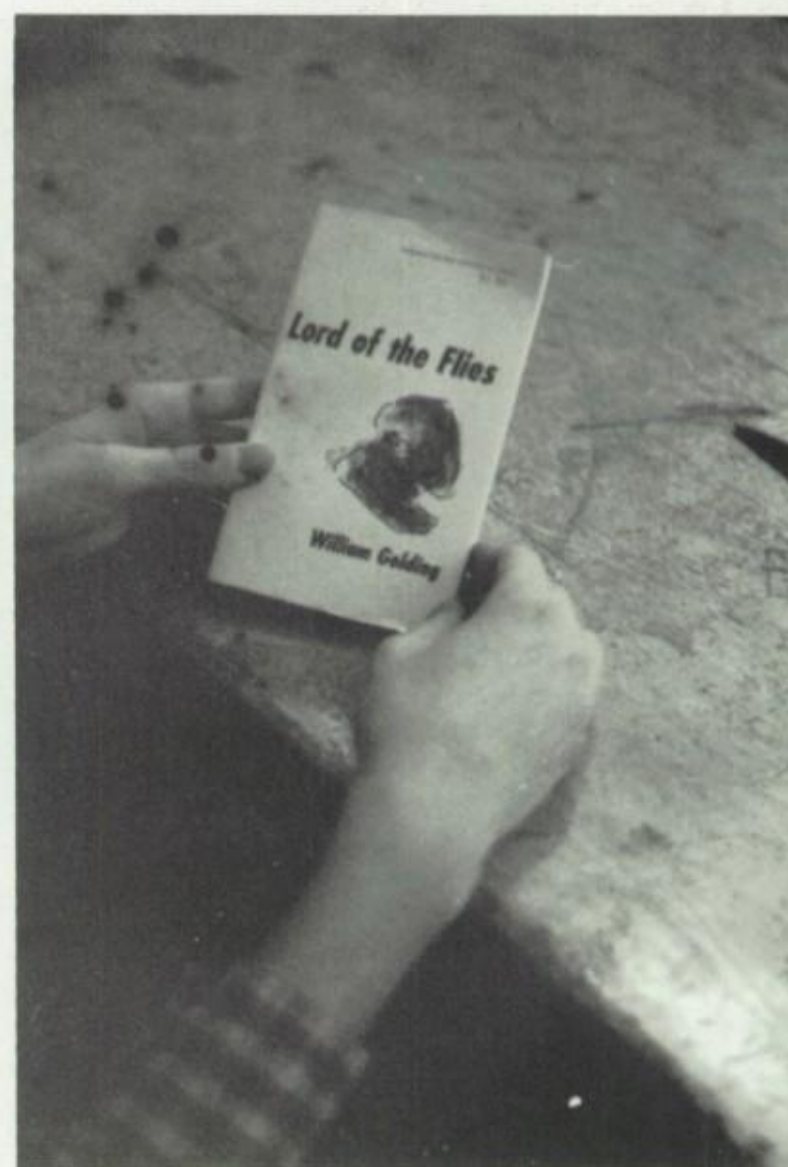

Leaving East at semester break was Mrs. Virginia Seccuro, chairman of the English department and good friend to many Bees.

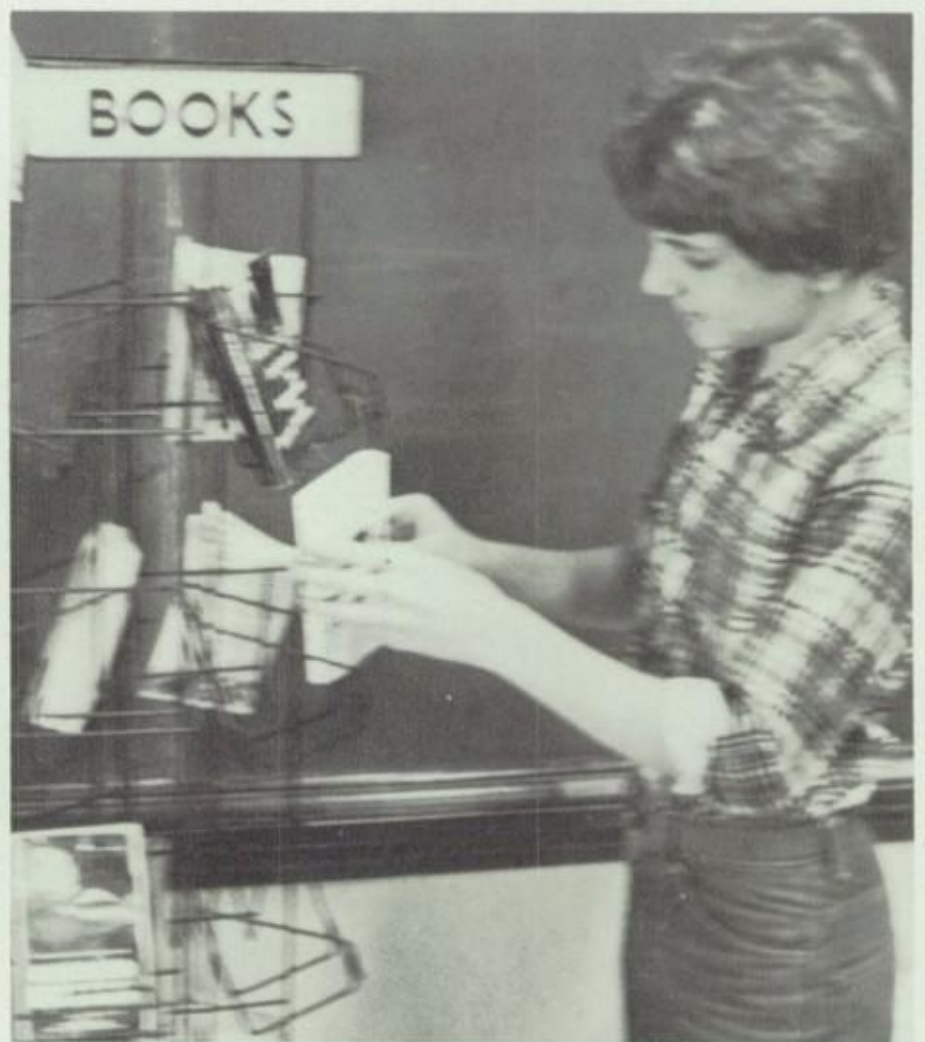

Beginning her career in 1939, she had remained at East under four principals. She saw many changes and helped to introduce the phased English in 1970.

'Teachers and students are better informed today,' commented Mrs. Seccuro reflecting back on her experiences.

Classes Study Iran Crisis

Keeping an eye on the economy as gas went over the dollar mark, social studies classes also viewed the problems of 50 American hostages in Iran and possible draft registration.

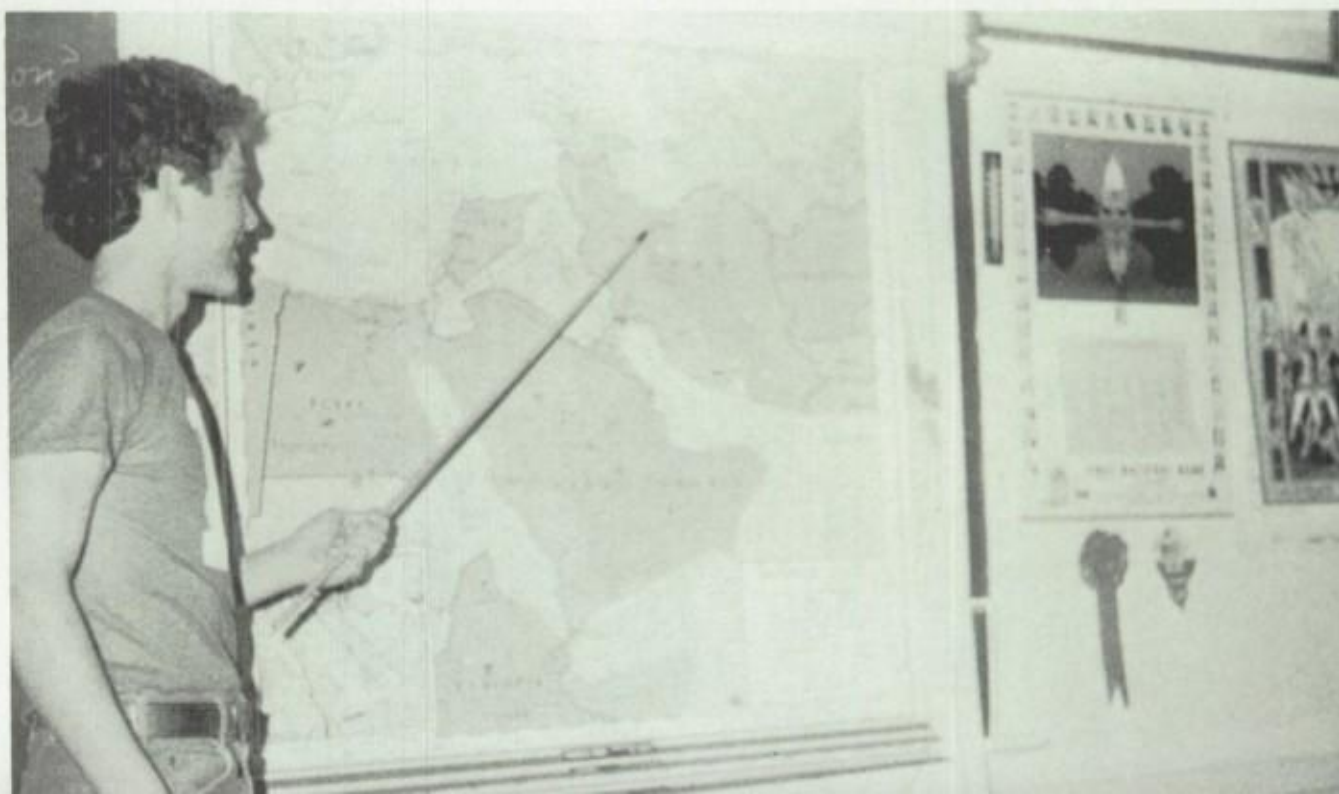

As 1980 brought the political scene to a head, students followed the election campaigns of candidates.

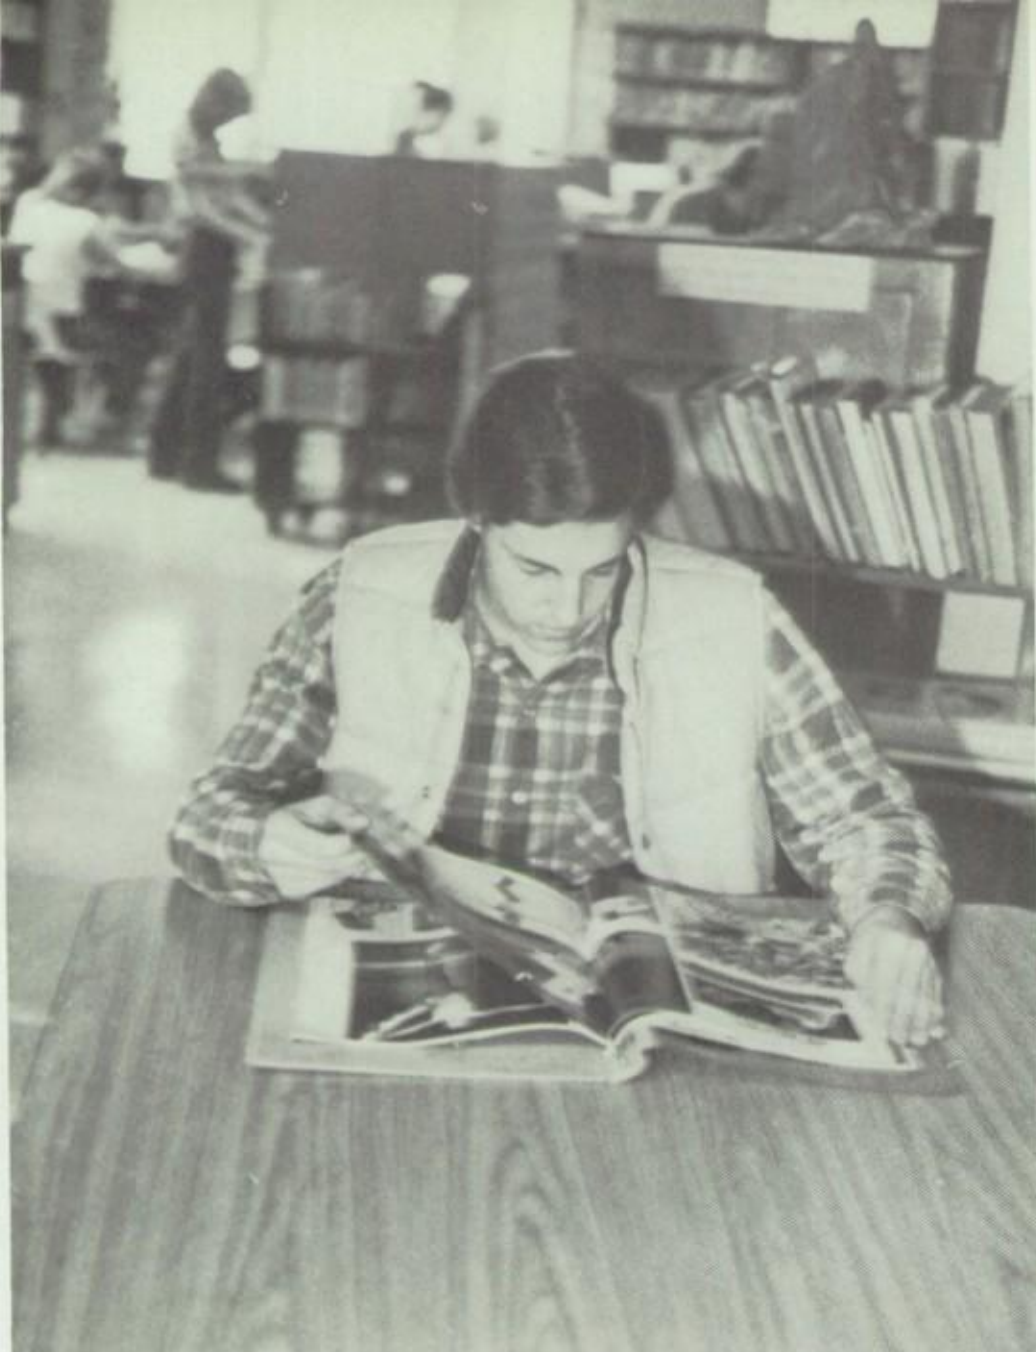

Electives offered were World Geography, and Problems of Democracy.

Would women be included in the draft registration? This topic caused much talk since America had never seriously considered this before.

Bees Defend Honors At Math Field Day

Defending their sweep of the local Field Day events last year, East math students participated in Math Day at North Marion March 1.

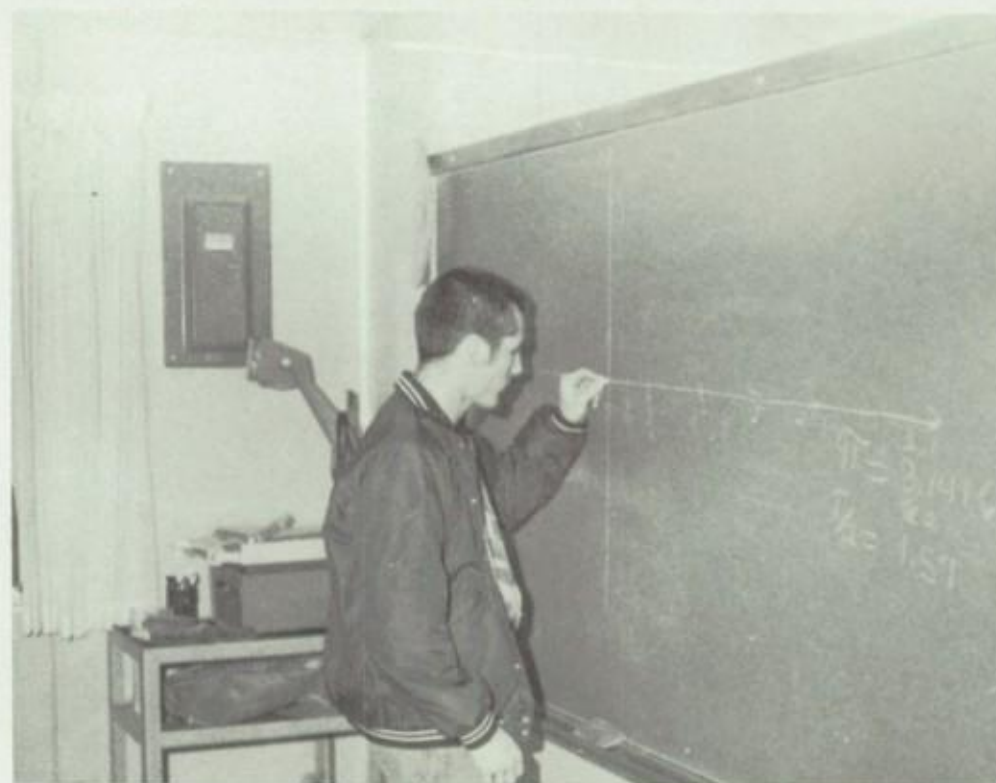

Mark Richardson was selected as a National Merit finalist from East.

Math Regionals were held at Davis Elkins College and State finals were at West Virginia University.

Required to have two years of math, students may choose from algebra, geometry, trigonometry, or math analysis.

Science Urges Energy Conservation

Students participated in the Science Fair with local industry sponsoring student awards for exhibits from northern West Virginia schools.

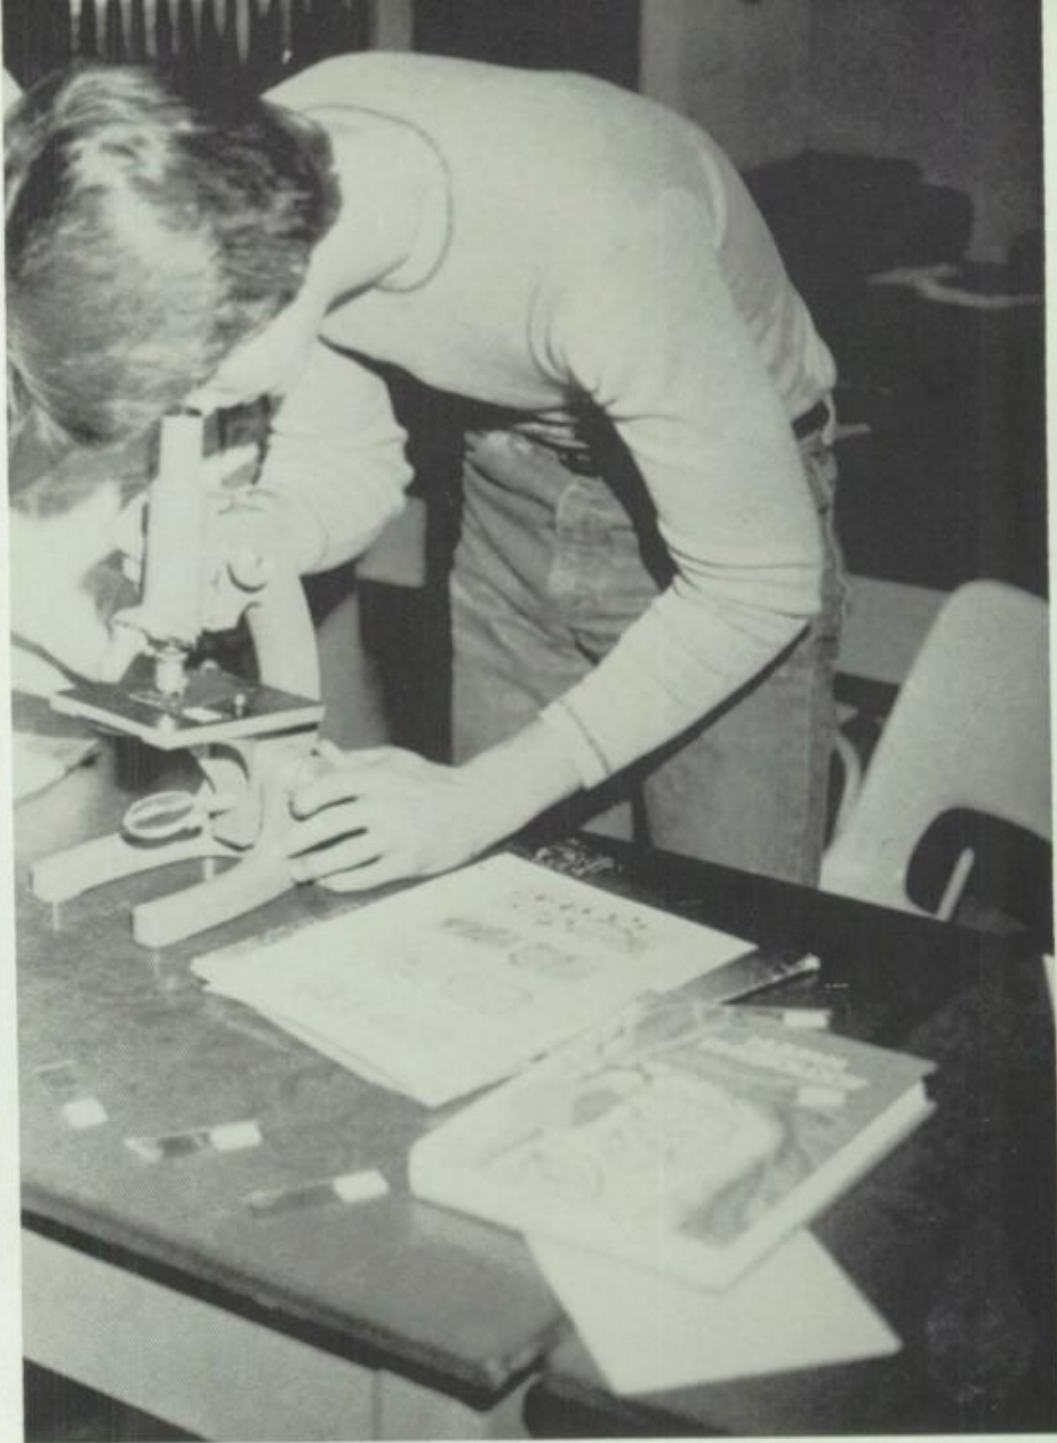

Required for graduation credit is biology along with one other science class. Selections are general science, human physiology, physics, and chemistry.

Biology covers origin, function, and structure of plant and animal life.

Human physiology details the study of human biology with students researching for traits via genetics.

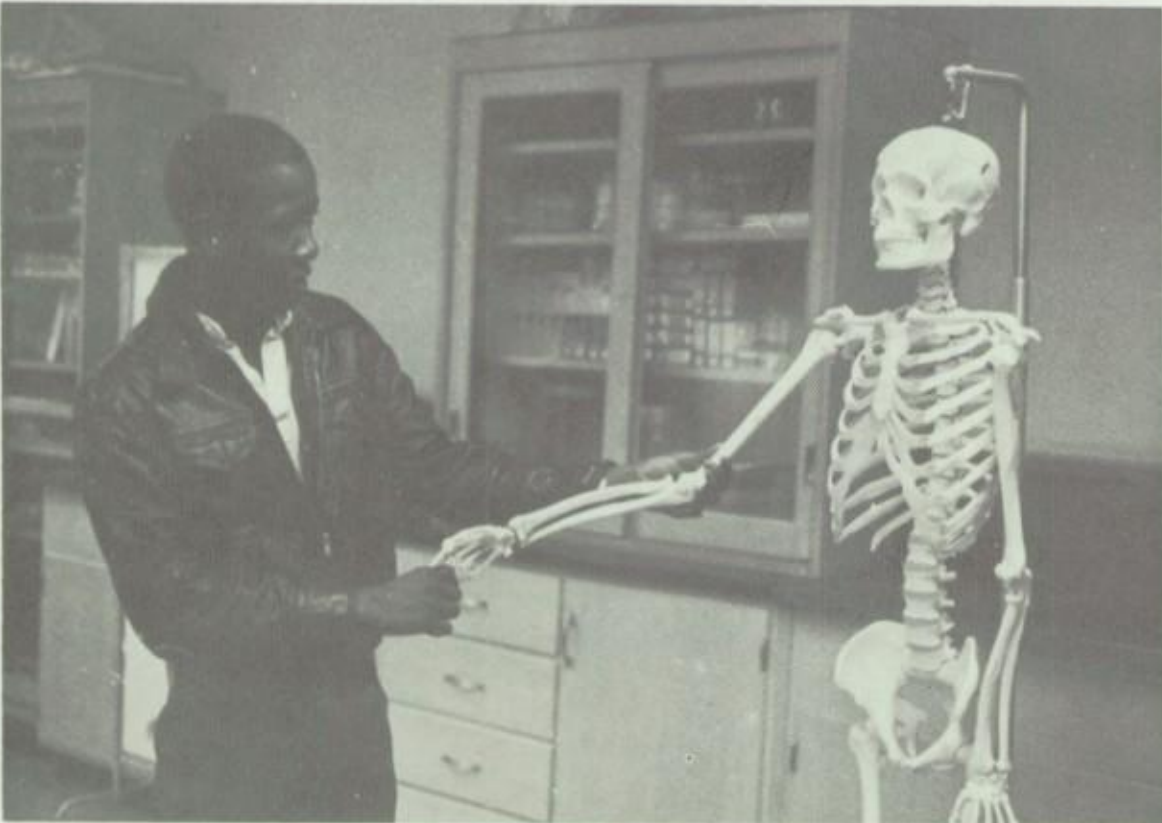

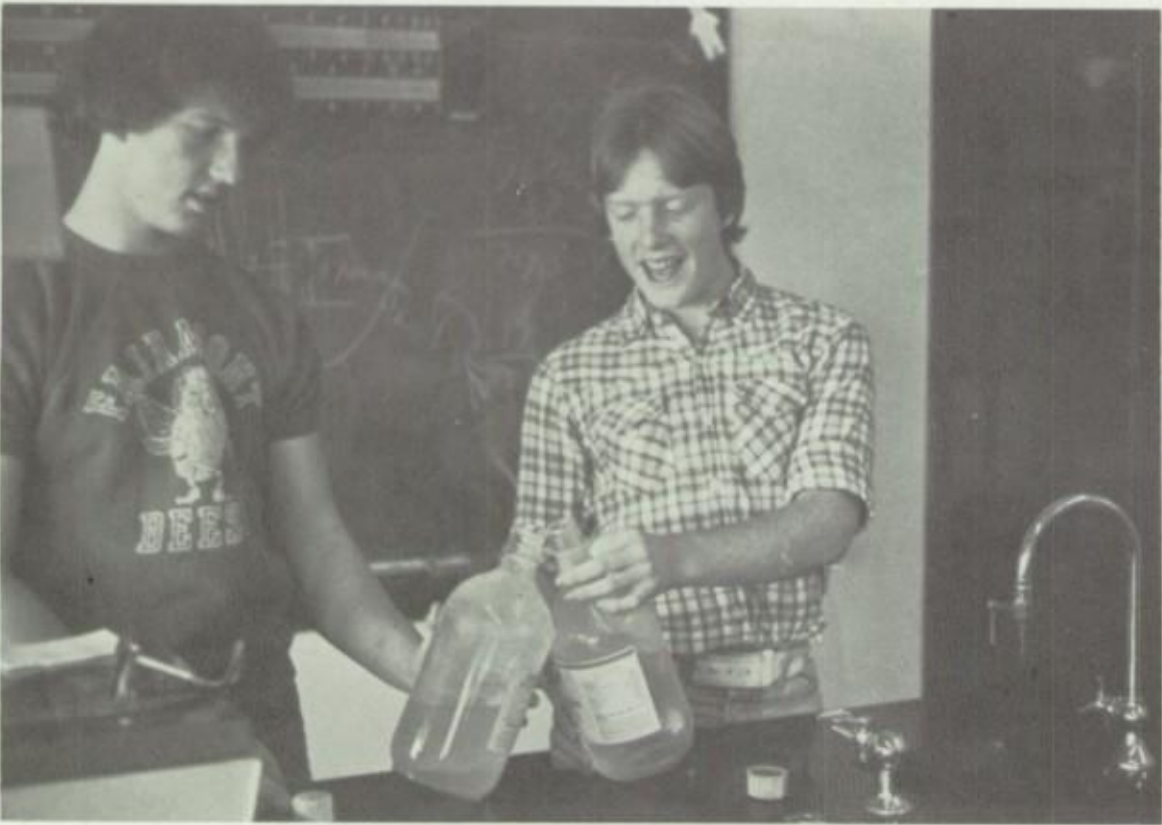

Chemistry and physics deal with the relevant effects of energy and matter to vocational and environmental needs.

Freshman and senior general science classes study astronomy, motor energy, life forms, and geology.

80's Theme Guides Staff

'What's New for the 80's?' was the theme used for the mosaic design employed by the staff on the Orion.

Using a logo graphic of a lollipop and a world 80's design the illustrations connected via dividers throughout the book.

Edited by senior Rodney Satterfield the book employed many hours of work.

Entered in competition at WVIC Workshop and at Marshall University, students competed in design and photography.

Senior Tom Huffman, John Cady, and Thomas Weingard took photography honors to preserve the students' history.

Sherre Pyles Edits Paper

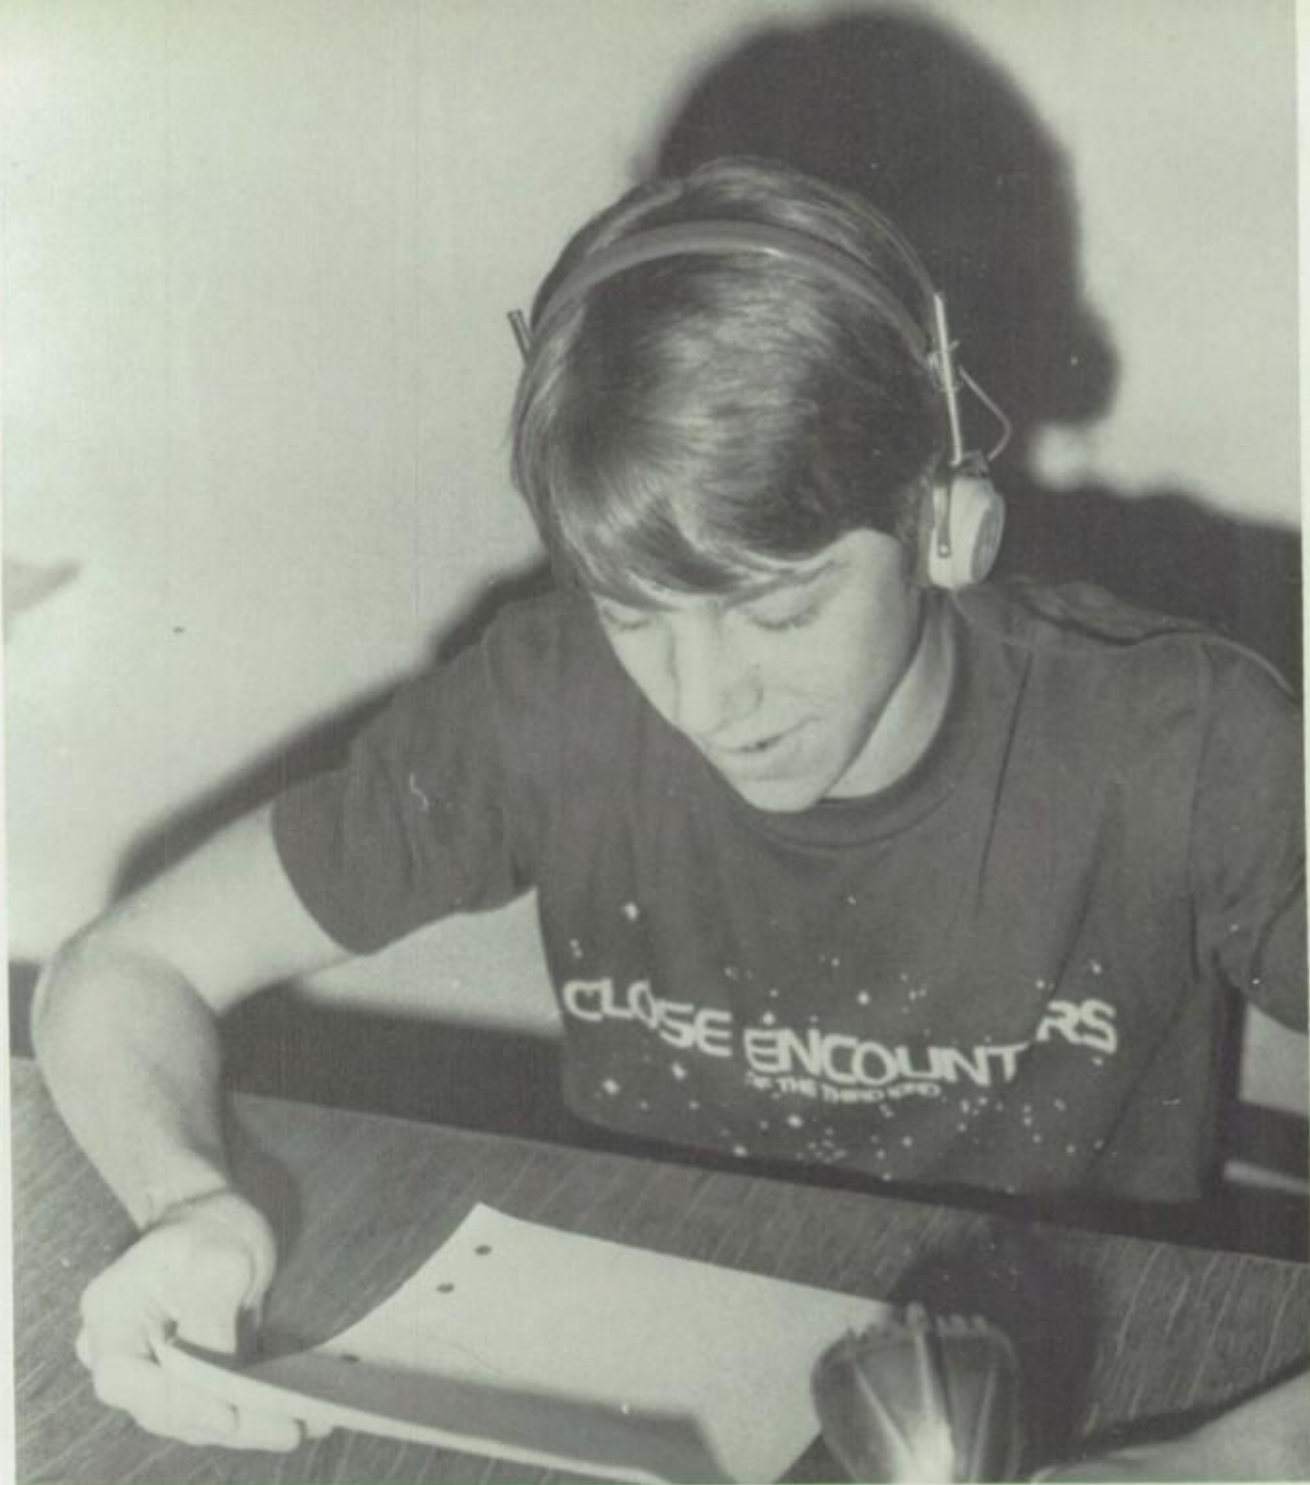

Editing the Yellow Jacket for the second year was senior Sherre Pyles assisted by Todd Gorman managing editor.

Journalism students attended the WVSPA Workshop held in September at Fairmont State College and entered materials at the UHSP Convention held at Marshall in March.

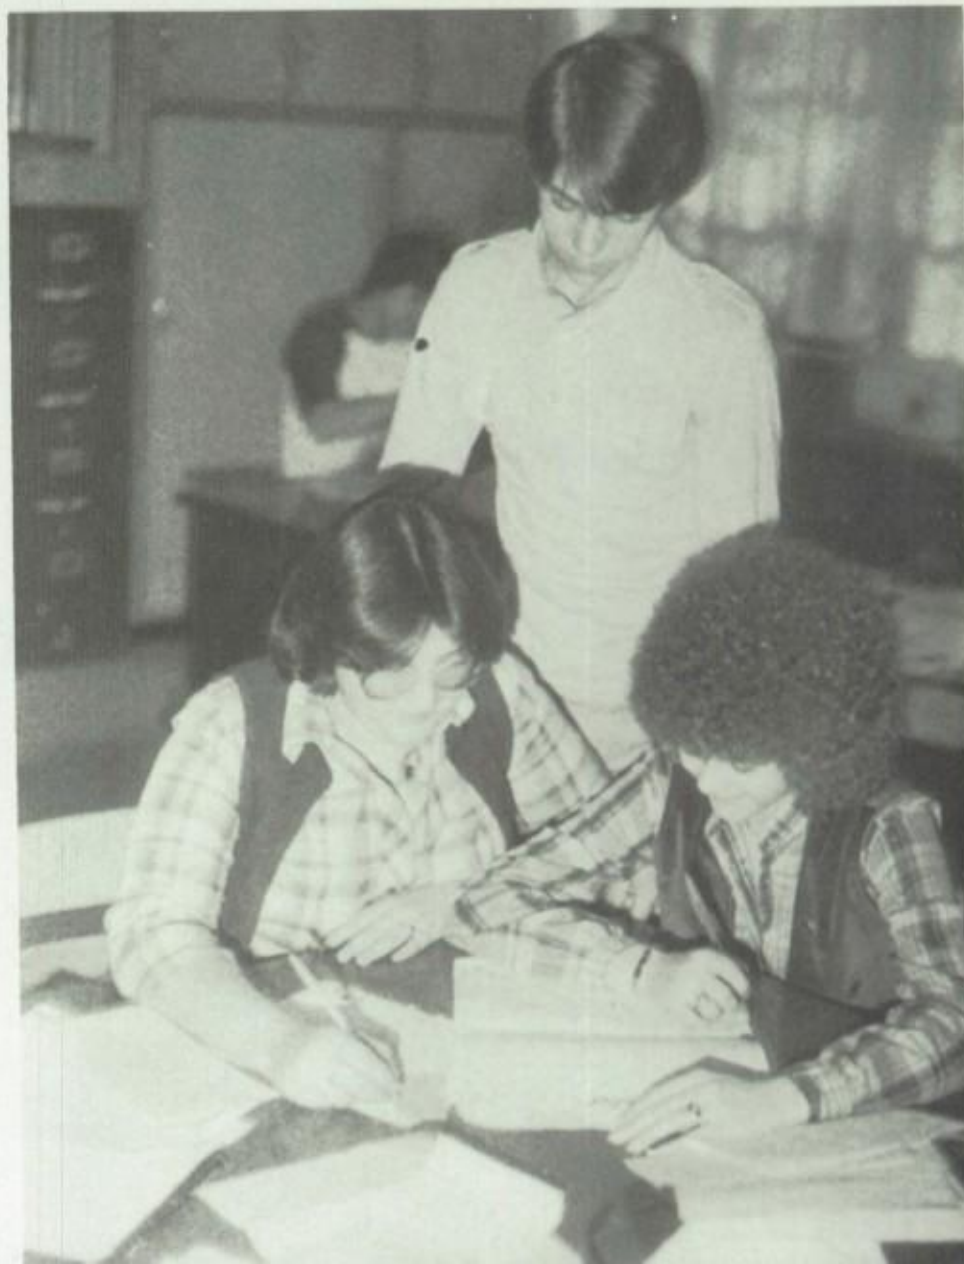

Bee Lines radio shows aired on WTCS on Monday with John Moran, and on Thursday with David King. Todd Gorman was anchor for WMMN radio show airing on Tuesday.

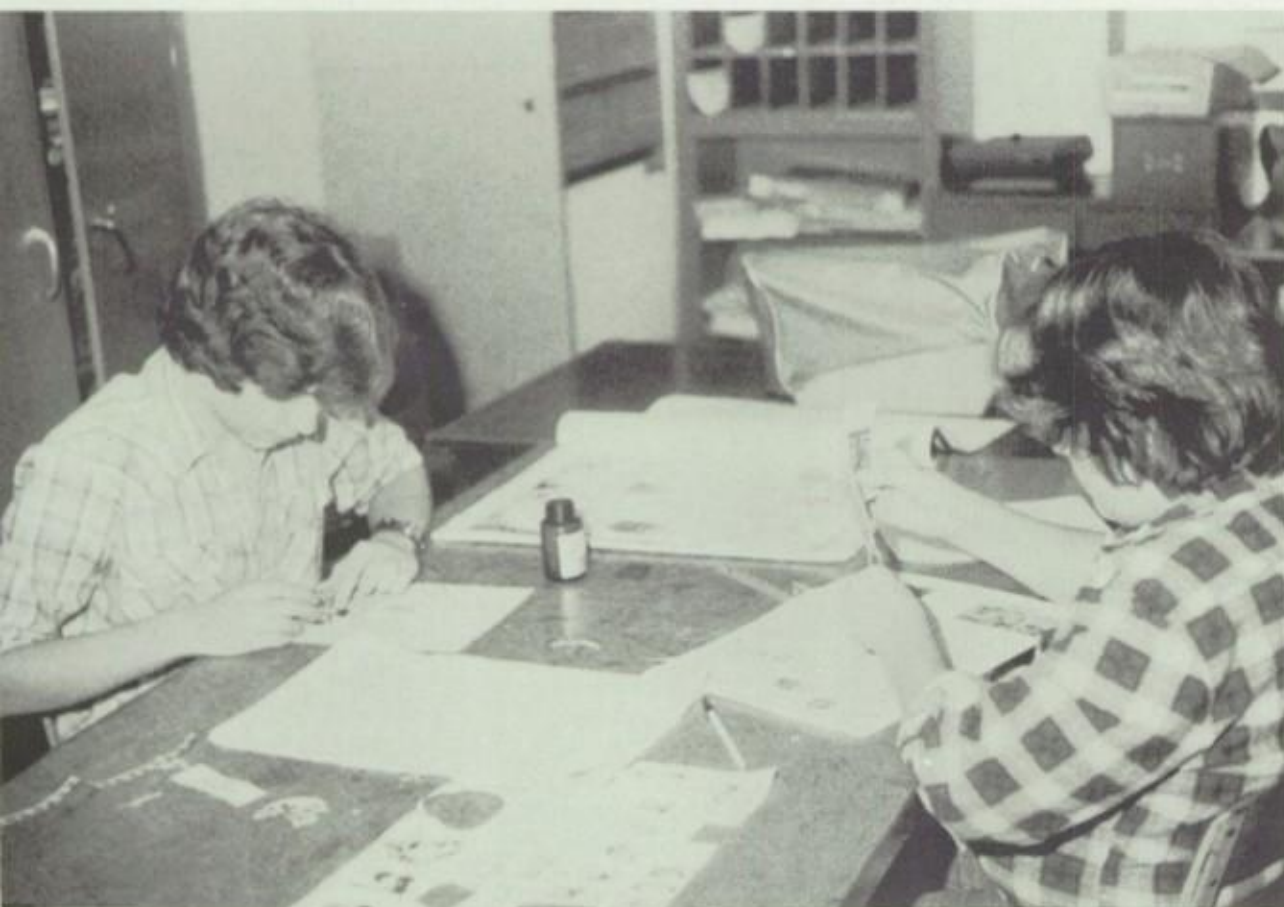

Kim Cole edited the 'Bee Lines' news column in the local paper and headed the news bureau.

Ball program editor for 1979 was John Moran.

Coed Gym Makes Gains

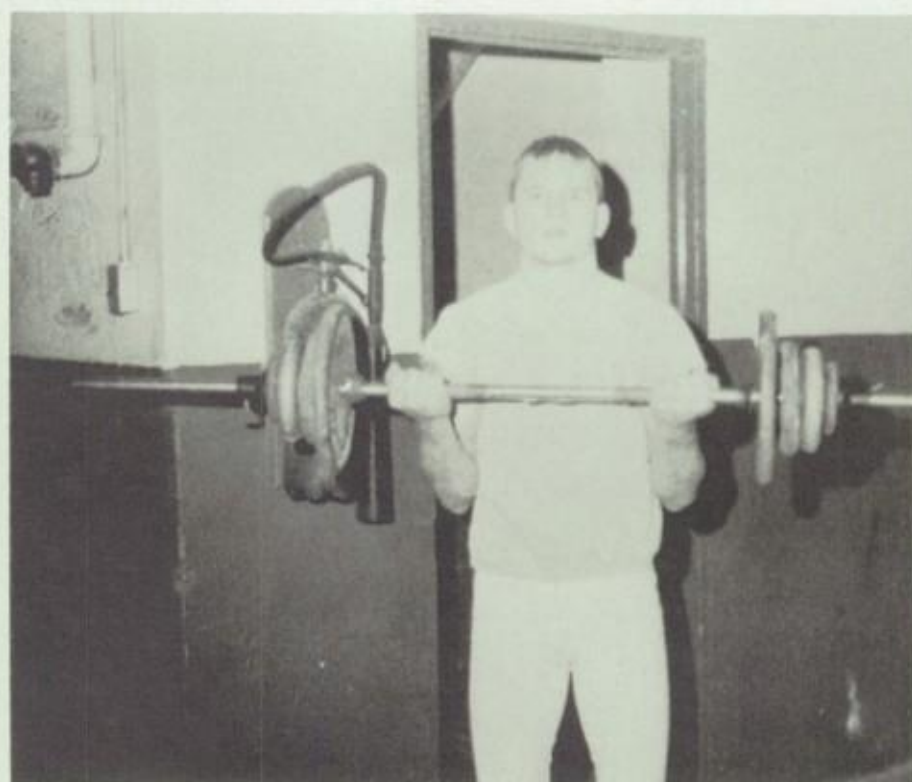

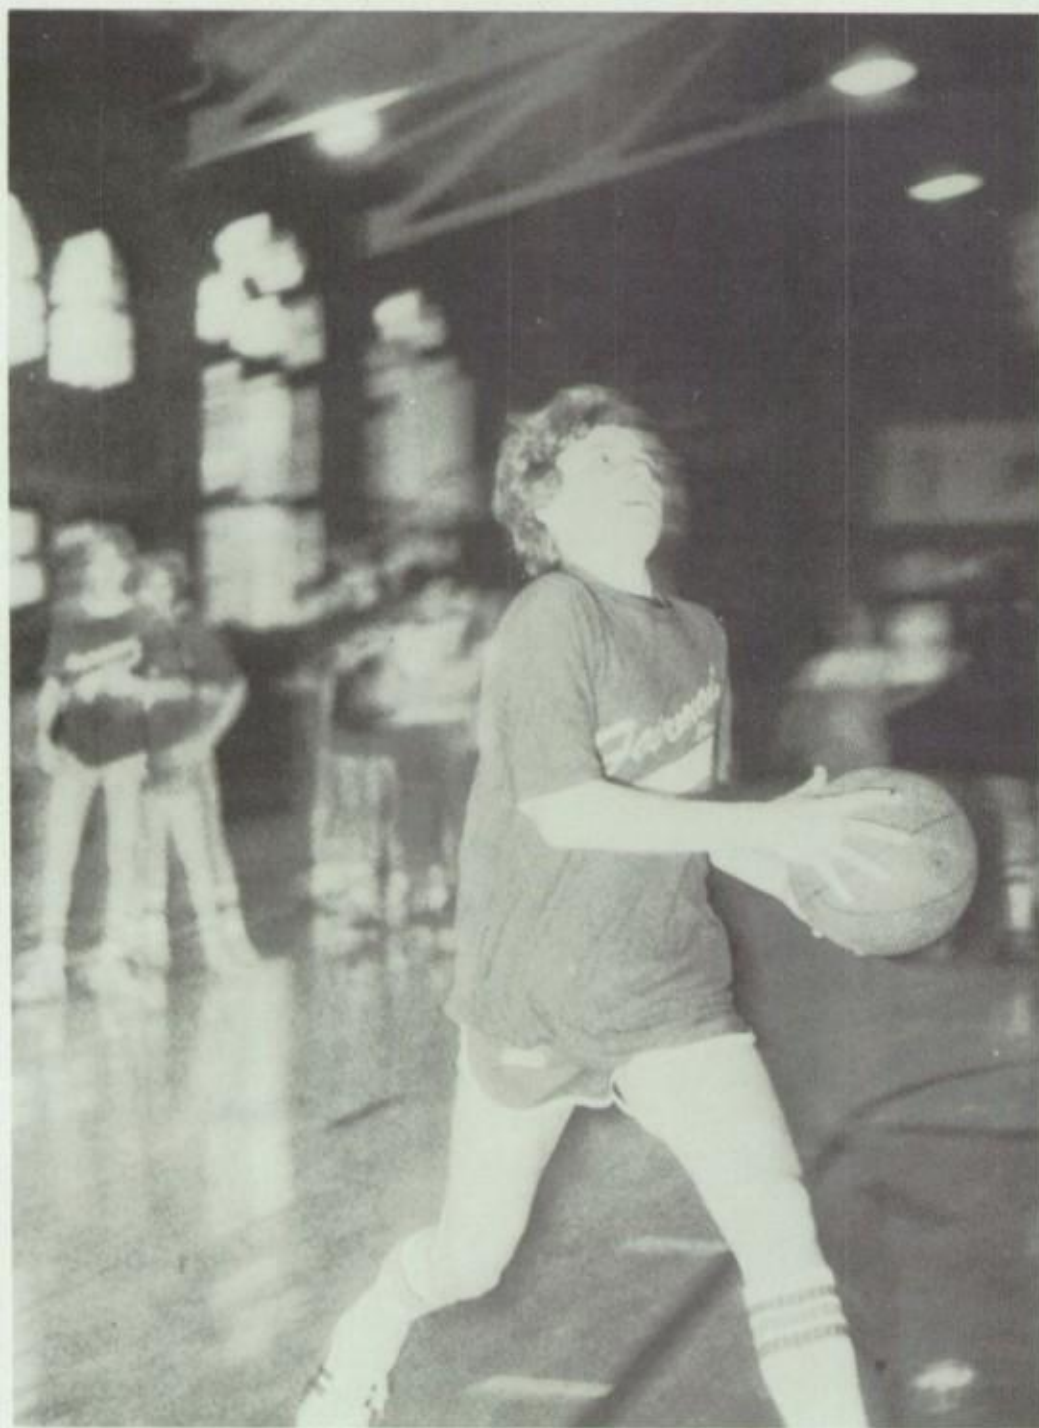

Marking their third year on campus, coed gym classes were becoming part of the usual day's experience.

Both sexes found competition in the daily events of class and the thrill of the winter Olympic games stirred hopes of some to try harder.

Students sometimes would separate for some events due to class size but most enjoyed the coed situation.

Foreign Study Aids Culture

French and Spanish classes offered students an opportunity to study language as well as social customs of other countries.

With four levels of French, students studied vocabulary, sentence structure; worked on verb tenses and wrote poetry; while French III and IV worked on literature, art, and history.

French students prepared bulletin boards of costume dolls, a farm, and a tapestry of the battle of Hastings.

Spanish students were active with class vocabulary, and learning cultural aspects of other Spanish speaking people. Students cooked, learned folk dances, made crafts, and held a festival at the Middletown Mall for the International Language Week in March.

Coming to East after the Christmas holiday were two Spanish exchange students. Casey Floyd was host to Jorge Oritz of San Bernardo, Chile while Kim Miller was host to Tatinana Rosas from Lima, Peru. Both students spent three months on campus learning our culture.

Classes Study Design Plans

Drawing plans and building models to prove their energy efficiency, industrial arts classes get experience in basic skills needed in industry.

Classes in drafting, woodworking, machine shop, and graphic arts offer a vocational outlook.

For the first year, the Machine Shop students traveled to the new vocational center located by the North Marion High School campus.

Woodshop classes cover a program of design, wood preparation and construction under the supervision of Dwight Conaway.

Reading blueprints, drawing, and model construction are part of the drafting program under Charles Peteshel.

Printing students learn basics of job printing and prepare much of the local campus items.

Class Views Adult Roles

Joining about 100 high schools across the state, East students enrolled in Adult Roles and Functions class being offered to give teens insights to their up-coming experiences of family life, money matters, and adult responsibilities.

Field trips, guest speakers and role playing were part of the new class.

Homemaking I and II students could earn vocational credit with home projects in both sewing and homemaking.

Working in lab, students learned basics to family cooking and meal preparation with Mrs. Mildred Hale.

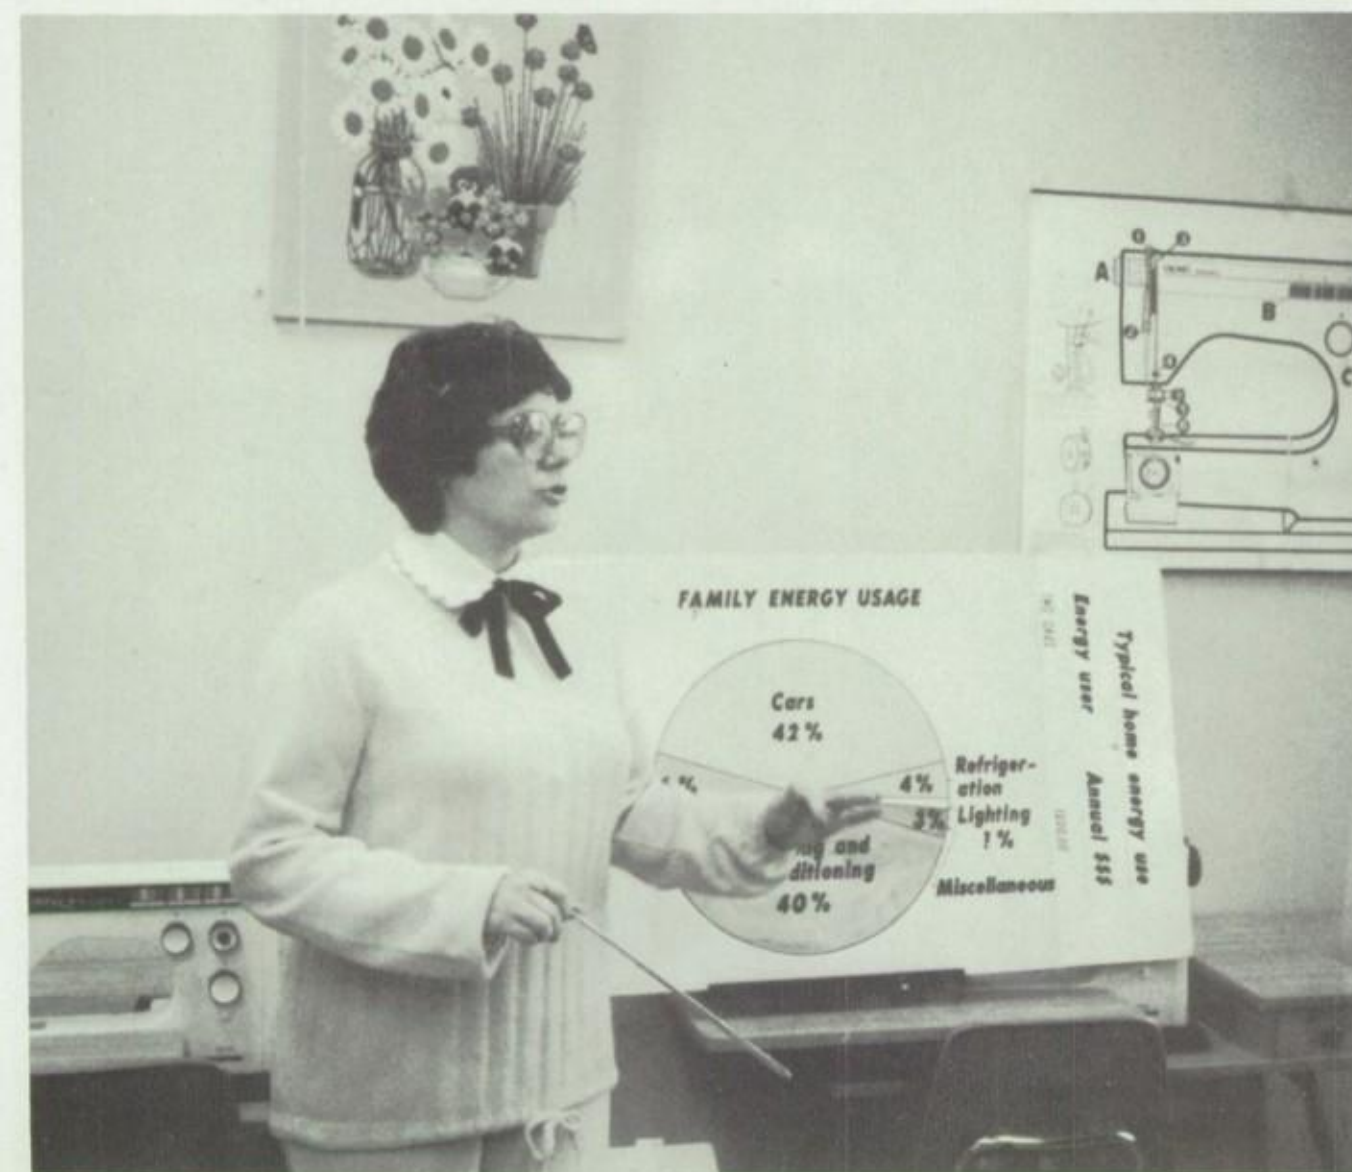

Learning the basics of sewing, materials, fitting and sewing steps under the direction of Mrs. Mary Stonestreet, many students made their own clothes.

New Center Offers Vo-ed

Have you been wondering what it would be like to attend the new Vocational Education Center located at the North Marion campus? For 750 students in Marion County it is no secret.

Offering about 20 programs, students have a wide selection of skills. New classes that are popular with the students are the medical assistant training, building construction, nurses aid, agriculture, farm mechanics, and masonry.

'Cost of the construction and equipping of the center was about three million dollars, but it is a great opportunity for the students, says director Virgil Dillon.

East students are bussed to the center and spend either a morning or afternoon on the campus.

Classes Study Office Skills

Working with business related skills, students learn office skills needed for the business world.

Classes cover a commercial curriculum of bookkeeping, typing, shorthand, general business, consumer economics and office machines.

Studying on office machines, students learn basic skills used in most office practice such as E.D.P. Key-punch very popular and in demand.

Banking, insurance tax, credit, and economics are other areas covered. Bookkeeping I offers basics in financial management with dictation and note taking objectives of the shorthand students.

Top Right: Senior Sherri Shinaberry prepares copy for the duplicator. Above: Frances Zick works on her typing assignment. Right: Senior Nancy Pigott sets the keypunch.

Campus Artists Study Sketch, Craft Design

Displaying their talent in posters, bulletin boards, and crafts, art students in Art I, II, III, and IV study the basics of design.

Advanced Art III students worked with linoleum block and printing while beginning students worked in crayon, water colors, and special effects under instructor Lundix Savereno.

Choir Hosts Ohio Group

Opening the fall season, East's Swing/Show Choir joined local vocal choirs to participate in the Fairmont State Invitational Choral Festival October 21-22.

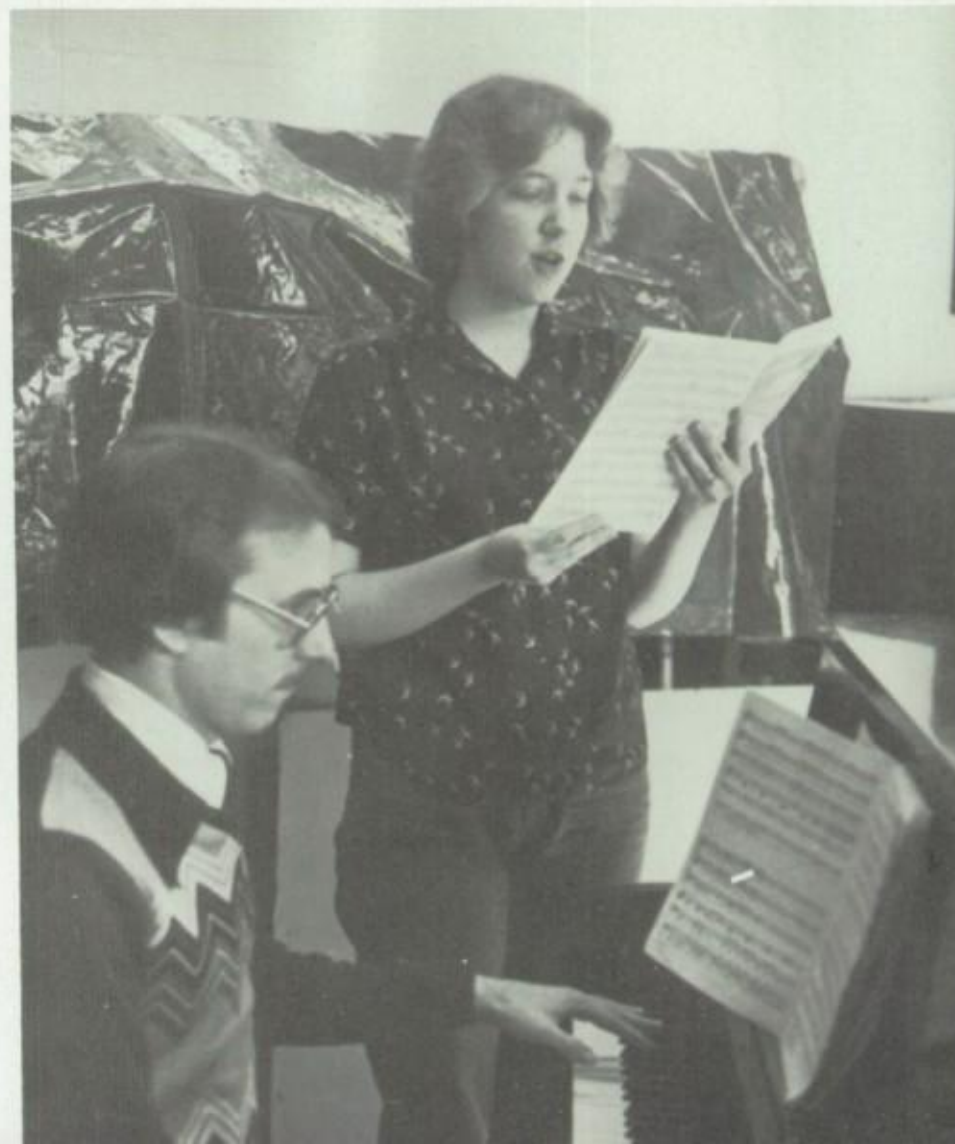

Visiting the campus and staying with East students were choir members from Lucasville, Ohio.

Other engagements included performances at the Field Club, local churches, and All-County Chorus held at North Marion in March.

Newly formed Chamber Singers included Connie Miller, Debbie Offutt, Susan Slider, Marilee Kittle, Colleen Bell, Sherri Kittle, Tammy Knisley, Eric Fleming, Keith Hill, Jeff Hoffman, and David Epler.

Vocal Music students presented the Spring Concert May 9 and 10 under the direction of director John Hoffman.

Band Attends Myrtle Fest

Featuring 117 bandsmen, the Busy Bee Band and Honey bees presented their field show for home football games, participated in local parades and traveled to Pittsburgh Steelers football game to celebrate West Virginia Day as guest band.

Members participated in the Fairmont Senior, and Morgantown Band Spectaculars, attended the Regional Band meet at Clarksburg, and traveled for the second year to Myrtle Beach.

During the year, students held a gas-o-rama, two fruit sales, and a tag day to raise trip money.

Highlights from the bands program were 'Riffin,' 'Let's Dance,' 'Dreamsville Rock,' 'Daybreak,' 'Oom Pah Pah' featuring gasses, and 'Disco Gold.'

Vo-Ed Offers Job Training

Distributive Education students worked on major class events which included 'The Main Event' theme of the fashion show, anti-shoplifting campaign, and competition for state convention.

Producing a fashion show November 20 for the student body, the classes narrated, wrote, and prepared the set. Nine local merchants assisted with fashions.

Forty-six students attended a field trip to Monroeville Mall to study window display and selling techniques.

Students operated the 'Bee Boutique,' student store on campus which features school related items.

Top Right: Lisa Thrash and Micki Toothman set up store display in the Bee Boutique. Above: Annette Perkins, Camelia Bunner, and Rose Rich prepare set for fashion show. Right: Mark Lane and Annette Perkins learn to operate the cash register.

Teens Learn Driver Safety

As the public faced soaring gas prices, up more than 30 cents in the Marion County area in the past nine months, students on campus studied driving defensively and with energy saving tips.

Students made study reports of local areas in the community which had dangerous driving potential.

With trends toward smaller cars, less horsepower, and other possible fuels, students were very much involved in safety and conservation.

Campus Life Gets Hectic

Big Bee spirit took many forms as the classes organized during the year around campus activities.

Screaming their numbers on opening day, the class of '83 made known their energy and support.

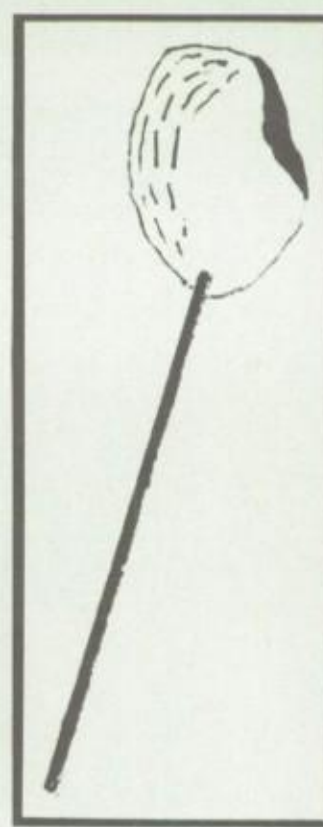

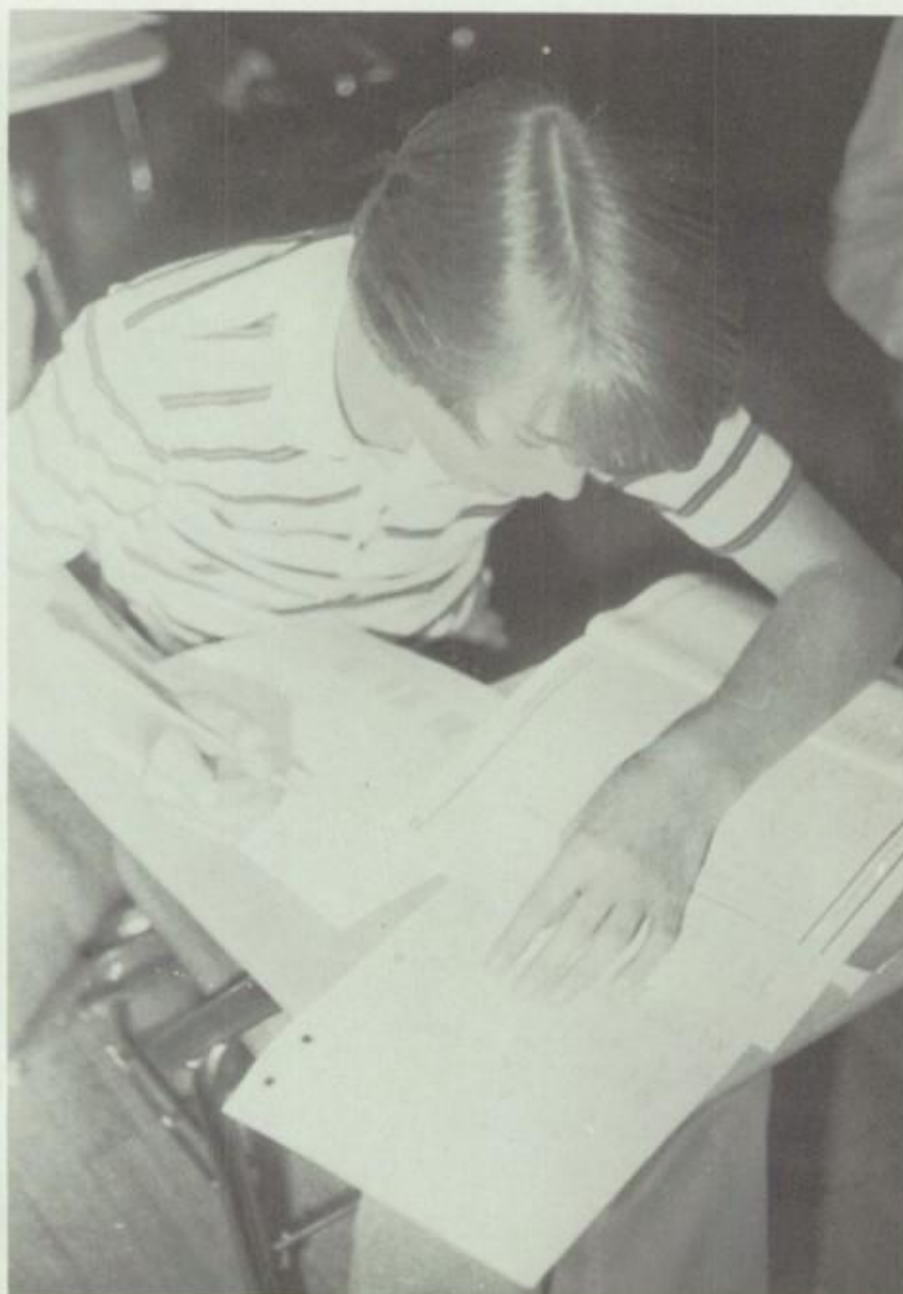

Sophomore and Junior classes really made their spirit felt during East-West Week as they swept away the awards.

The class of '80, representing a new decade, displayed their die-hard enthusiasm for school spirit by selling what seemed like tons of chocolate bars to compete and win prizes.

Student's life was not easy. It was up at 6:30 a.m., cram breakfast, and rush for the bus. School activities and organizations took up much time for those dedicated to a cause. Many lunch hours on the run and after school practices for team members, band, music, and drama.

Others left their school routine only to begin time on the job until closing at the Mall, or at the area groceries.

304 Frosh Invade Campus

Starting a new school year as Big Bees, the Class of '83, 304 freshmen found many activities to keep them jumping.

Lead by class president Heidi Everson and assisted by vice-president Jamie Seirs, secretary Jim Clark, and delegate-at-large Tom Meighan, the class planned an active beginning year.

Assisted by advisors Charles Peteshel and Kenneth Waddell, the class sold badges and held a skating party to boost school spirit.

Four frosh cheerleaders were elected to represent the class. They were head Yvette Smith, Angie Hacket, Stephanie Barnes, and Dawn Pendergast.

'Born to be a Bee' served as the freshman theme during East-West Week activities. Andy Sorine and Belinda Myers were the candidates for King and Queen spirit.

Sophomores Boost Spirit

Sophomores returned to campus 283 strong to boost Bee spirit and become a dominant group in most campus activities.

Selling 8,200 candy bars, the Sophomore Class total sales exceeded that of the Junior and Senior Classes with Tammy Doolittle and Connie Ingram leading the class sales.

Assisting president Kim Prendergast was vice-president Glen Boyles, secretary Lisa Byrnes, and delegate-at-large Tyrone Asterino.

'Boom, Boom; Out Go the Bears' was the class theme for East-West Week which won first place over-all theme and decorations.

Juniors Plan Prom 'Together in a Rainbow'

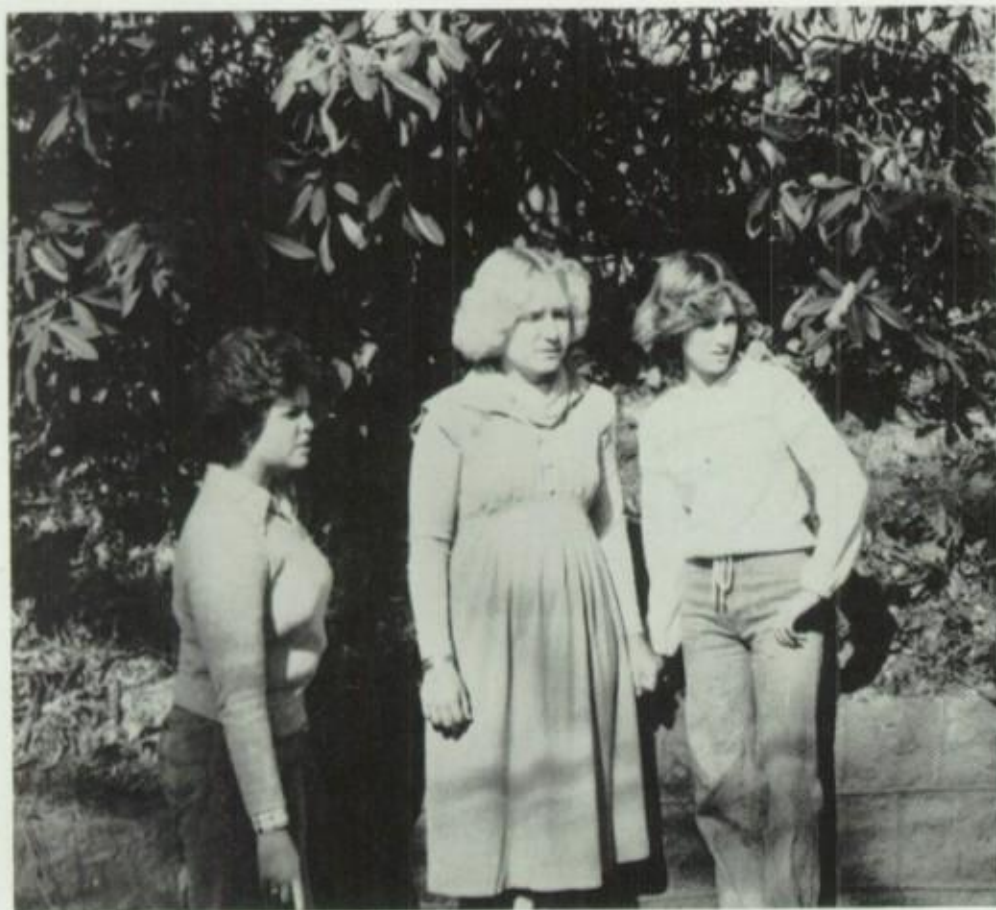

Starting an active year the class of '81 was lead by president Shelley Cunningham assisted by vice-president Mark Lane, secretary Susan Johnson, and delegate-at-large Julie Poling.

Activities for the year included the underclassmen candy sales lead by junior Mark Giorcelli who collected $294 for first place. Darla Cook ran second with $192.

During East-West Week, the class decorated to the theme of 'Saturday Night Hive' which took second place as the juniors won the Spirit Stick for the second year.

Rocko Zannino and Shelley Cunningham won King and Queen Spirit. Joe Nagy was chosen 'Mr. Irresistible.'

'Together in a Rainbow' was chosen the prom theme set for May 3 in the Marion County Armory.

Bob Ashcraft Leads Seniors

Opening the school year 196 seniors helped class president Bob Ashcraft assisted by advisor Mrs. Sue Petonick.

Class members participated in East-West Week, sponsored the Miss East Dance, and planned graduation activities for Recognition Day, Senior Banquet, and graduation ceremonies.

Officers assisting president Bob Ashcraft, were vice-president Sherre Pyles, secretary Kellie Hawkins, treasurers Lana Simmons and Tressa Zannino.

Working with the sophomores and juniors, the class held a candy sale to raise money. Ronda Efaw was top in sales with senior Homeroom 8 getting the most bars sold.

'A Dream Goes on Forever' served as the theme for the Miss East Dance held February 9 from 8-11 at the Fairmont Hotel Ballroom. Bad Ax provided the music, with Lana Simmons reigning as Miss East.

Summer Camps Offer Ideas

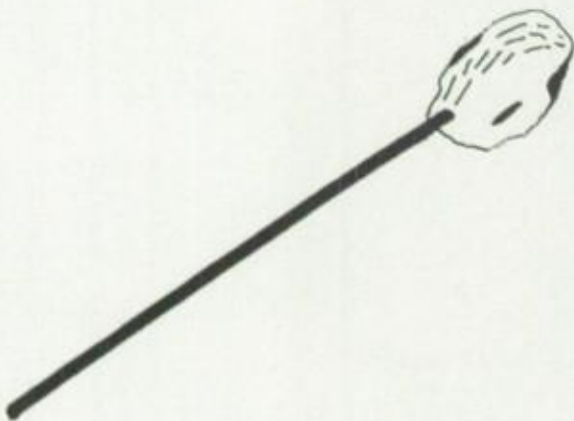

Returning from camps and workshops, students were bursting with ideas to try on the Big Bees.

Competition in the community provided opportunities for students to be active in many areas such as writing, science, and art.

Others were active in scouting, Explorers, Civil Air Patrol, and the local fair contests.

Many ideas for bringing downtown Fairmont to life were talked and a September fest was held. Several chain restaurants came to town to the delight of the students.

Bees Pack Off to Camps

'Egg battles — Luke warm water dips — shaving cream games — and camper rope tricks' all engaged Bees released from campus routine to the workshop and summer camp.

Even before school was out junior girls were off to Girls' State held at Jackson's Mill for a week. Sherre Pyles and Teresa Spine were Lieutenant governors. Following the girls, junior boys attended the Mill for Boys' State. Both camps were sponsored by the American Legion to develop citizenship.

Bees carried their enthusiasm in many directions as they competed at summer workshops in science, conservation, sports, and journalism.

Cheerleaders attended their camp at W. Va. Wesleyan bringing home ribbons and the Spirit Stick.

In August, the band and Honeybees attended camp to perfect their field show. At home on campus a wrestling camp was held.

Coming in First

What can one say about the efforts of the Bees in area contests? Tremendous sums up efforts as students entered many varieties of competition.

On campus in the fall, Sophomore Class members stomped the Juniors and Seniors in candy sales which were used to sponsor dances.

David Summers won first place and $25 in the Board of Realtors Essay contest using the theme 'What My Home Means to Me.'

Robyn Radcliff was chosen to represent East to the Hugh O'Brian contest.

Mark Richardson was selected as finalist in the National Merit competition.

City Eyes 1980 Changes

Life seemed to surge into the city of Fairmont as the construction finished and the David Morgan Memorial Bridge opened.

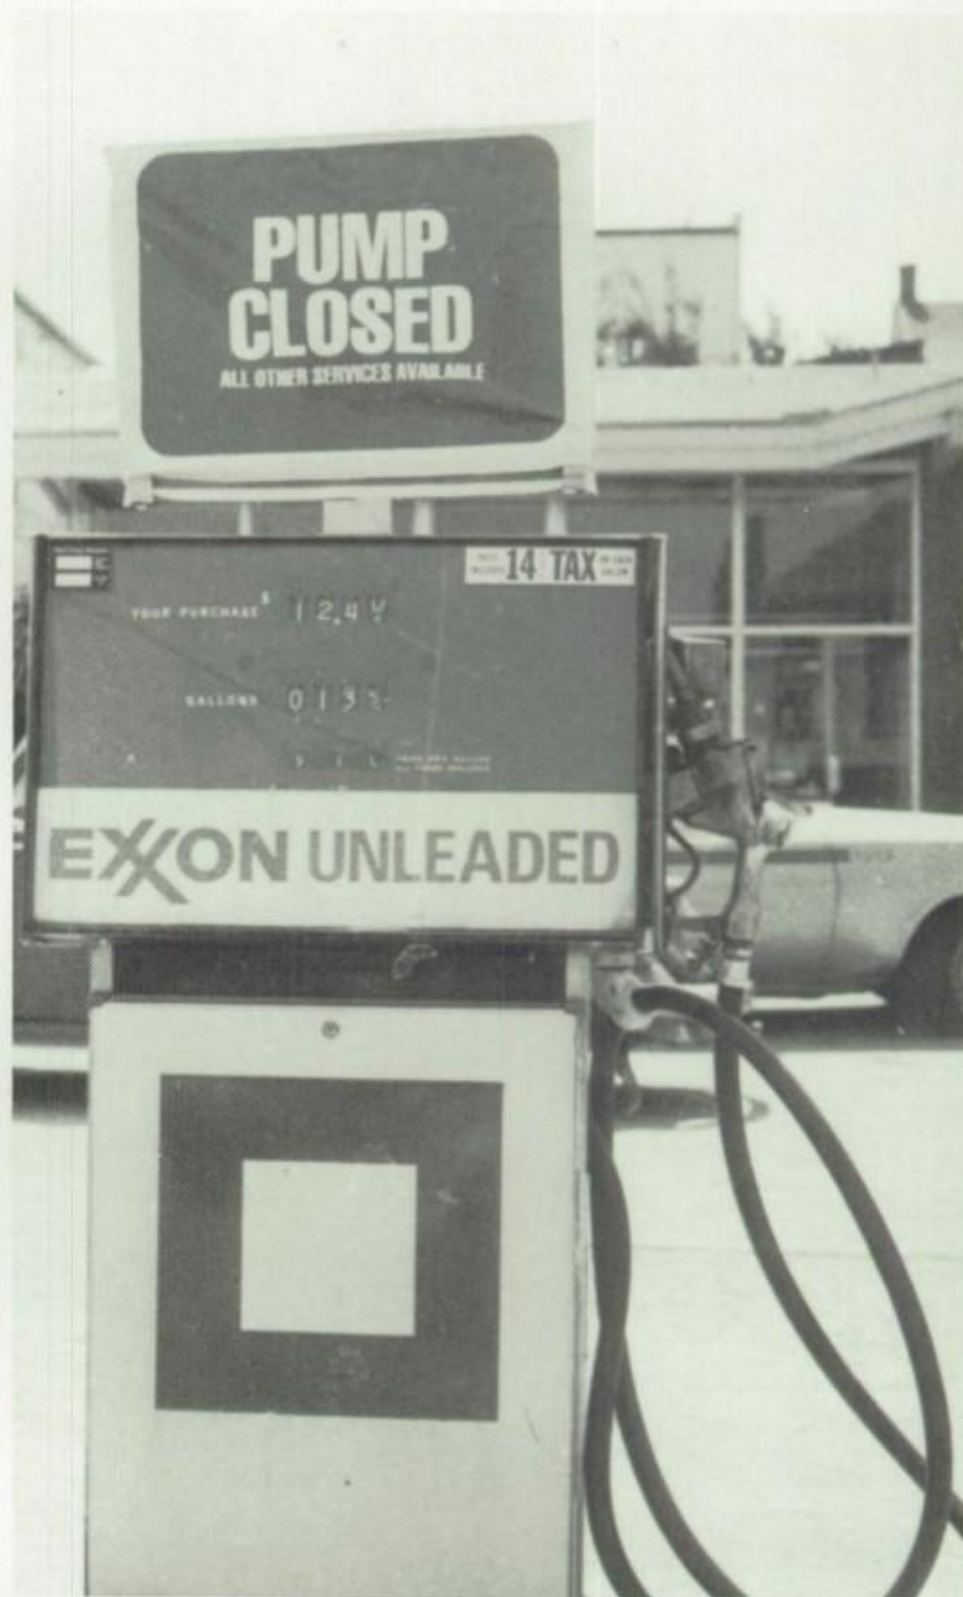

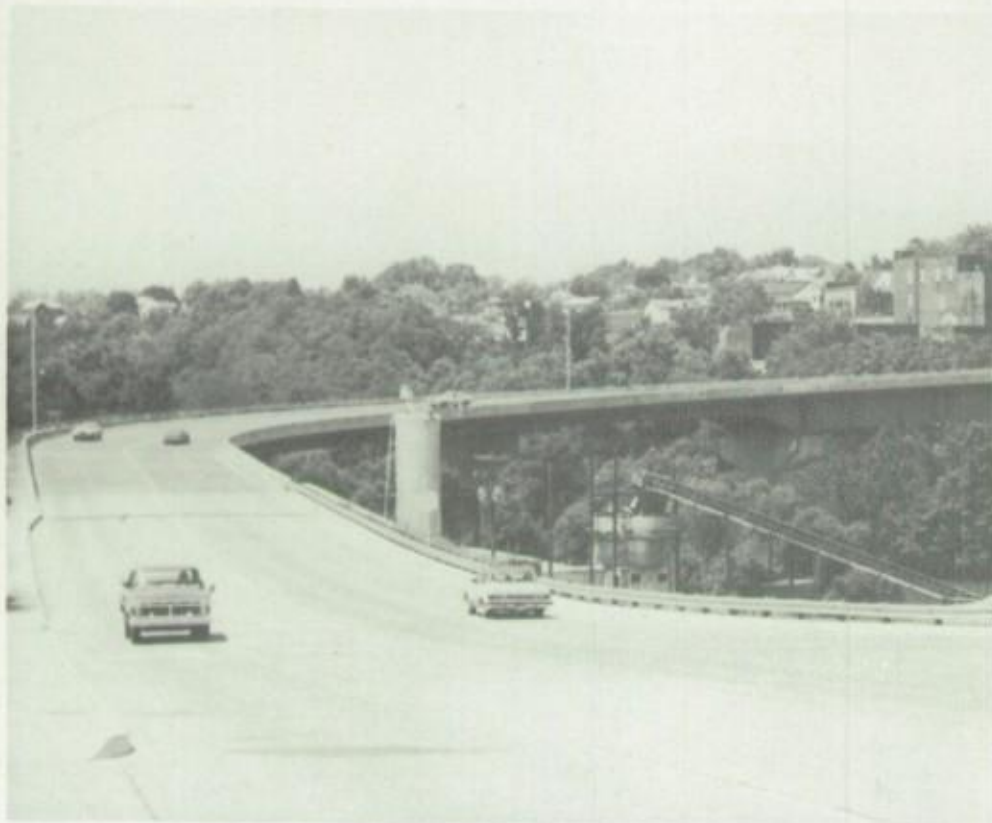

Dedicated to stand as a monument to the settler of this area, the new bridge made travel shorter for students to McDonalds and Fairmont Avenue.

The crushing blow came when the high level bridge was closed for the season thus adding to traffic problems and making it difficult to reach downtown.

Highlight of the students interest was the building of a second McDonalds to open on Speedway.

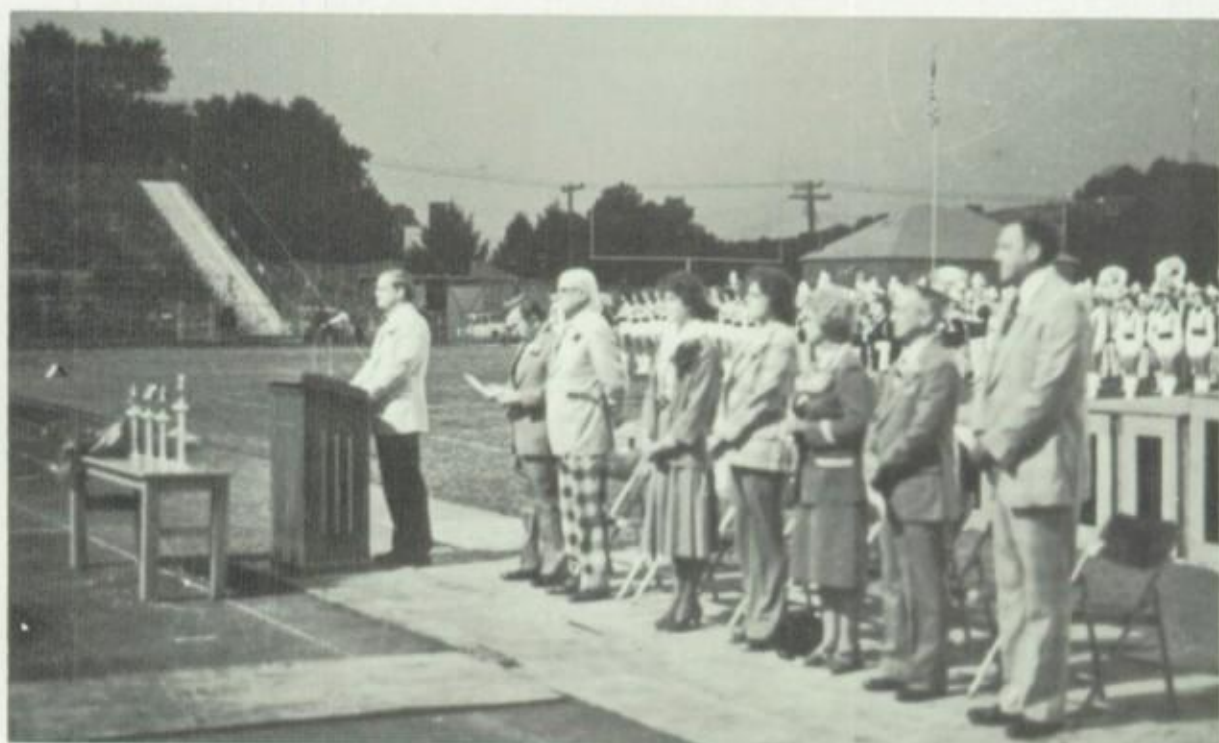

Near Middletown Mall, a new two cinema theatre called 'Tygart Valley Cinemas' opened as did a restaurant called 'Shoney's'.

Located out Country Club Road was a new smorgasbord restaurant as well as a new Chinese restaurant on Fairmont Avenue. Both brought a new concept in diners to Fairmont.

This Is It!

Leaving the seventies and moving into the eighties, East students will remember their Bee experience, many events, and occasions. These memories will be reminisced throughout years to come. This is it! The beginning of a new decade.

Colophon

Volume 48 of the Orion was printed by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas. Selling for $12, the 240 page book has a press run of 725 copies at a total cost of about $9,000.

Printed on 80 lb. enamel the book had one flat of 4-color and one flat of duotone. Using thermascreen art on the cover of maroon #360 with a silver rub, the book was using mosaic design in layouts.

Graphics include letter scrambling, tooling, and art done by editor Rodney Satterfield and Tom Huffman.

All 4-color photos were student work as was the photography with exception of class and faculty photos.

News Gothic type was used in the body with Helvetica Standard heads.

'The Great After Taste'

With the close of school, students experienced the 'Great After Taste!'

Unwrapping in early fall, Bees knew they could bite into the year of 1980.

Coming from everywhere, Bees were all shapes and sizes as they joined to form a student body involved with dances and events that were sweet. Schoolwork and projects proved to be hard and bitter sometimes.

Bees licked the year and all will have memories of the after taste of 1980.

Below: Jeff Newman and Tim Martin unpack their caps and gowns, looking ahead to the '80's.
